BEST SHOD WOMEN HERE.

Because Midday in the East Is Slush and Sleet to Deal with, Says Merchant.

"The women of Los Angeles, having no climatic difficulties to overcome, can wear next summer's fashions in shoes all this winter," said C. H. Baker, president of the C. H. Baker Shoe Company yesterday.

"In the East the most fastidious women must now lay in a supply of heavy-soled boots of sturdy leather warranted to keep out the rain and slush and sleet which will be a feature of the climate there for the coming few months. There is no demand there for the beautiful colored kids, the fancy open-work laces and the thin-soled, dressy boot which Los Angeles women will be wearing."

RETURNING FROM EAST.

Mrs. D. C. McCan, president of the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission, will return tomorrow afternoon from a two-month trip through the East. She paid a visit to President Wilson just before he made his formal announcement that he would vote for the women suffrage amendment in New Jersey. Since leaving Washington, Mrs. McCan has visited her sister, Mrs. Laura Grover Smith, at Ypsilanti, Mich., and also friends in Chicago.

TWO JAPANESE DEAD, AMERICAN BADLY HURT IN AUTO COLLISION.

TWO JAPANESE are dead, two more are probably fatally injured, and an American is badly hurt as the result of the collision of an automobile with a big moving van on the El Monte road near Ramona Park late last night.

The dead:

R. Minnaikia, killed instantly, neck being broken.

Mrs. R. Minnaikia, died shortly after being removed to the County Hospital.

The injured:

E. Shimotuska and wife, both badly cut about the body and believed to be internally injured. The woman was unconscious at early hour this morning.

J. A. Olfhausen, of San Gabriel, driver of the automobile, left leg broken and severely cut about the face and body.

Upon investigating the tragedy Deputy Sheriff Moody arrested Olfhausen, charging him with driving the automobile while intoxicated. He was not removed from the County Hospital, but is under guard. Announcement was made by the Sheriff's office that the more serious charge of manslaughter may be preferred against the man later.

P. Leitch, of No. 457 Isabel street, this city, who was driving the horses attached to the moving van, escaped without injury.

The Japanese hired Olfhausen to bring them from San Gabriel to this city and he is said to have been driving at high speed when he crashed into the van.

The occupants of the automobile were crushed under the overturned machine and three of them were unconscious when people came to their aid.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shimotuska was hurled to the roadside, but was uninjured.

The injured and dead were removed to the County Hospital in the passing automobile.

SERVIANS ISSUE DENIAL OF CAPTURE OF PIROT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] (30)

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The Servian legation here tonight issued the following statement concerning the situation in Servia:

"On the 26th on the northeastern front the Servian troops on the right bank of the Morava River were obliged to fall back to the line after heavy fighting and have occupied the line of Svilaenatz-Kovatz-Chetonga. On the left bank of the Morava and the left bank of the Lepinetza there has been a violent artillery duel all along the front. Fighting is also going on along the line Vissak-Kladour.

"On the southern Morava front the Servian troops have repulsed the enemy on the left bank of the Korbiovatcha Reka. There is nothing to report on the Nichava front.

"On the Kniajevats-Sinee, Servian troops have retired on the region of Tressibaba under strong pressure from the enemy. In the direction of Kojel Boutchie the enemy attacked with strong forces and the fighting continued all day.

"The enemy attacked in the Zajecar region today. The fighting continues there. In the Koutchoul region, the Russians, by counter-attacks have recaptured the mouth of the Koutchoul defile.

"It will be seen that neither this statement nor the preceding one confirms the capture of Pirot which was reported in dispatches from Austrian sources."

GERMANS EXECUTE A COUNT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] (30)

AMSTERDAM (via London) Oct. 29 (4:20 a.m.)—The Echo Belge says that Count Joseph de Hemptinne was executed at Ghent October 26. He was a member of a prominent Catholic family.

A Rome dispatch of October 19, said that Pope Benedict, at the request of the British and Belgian legations, had interceded with Emperor William on behalf of Count de Hemptinne, condemned to death by the German authorities.

SITUATION IS IMPROVING ON SERVIAN FRONT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] (30)

PARIS, Oct. 29.—The correspondent of the Havas News Agency at Athens telegraphs under today's date that the aspect of affairs on the Servian front is improving since the French successes at Veles and Strumitsa. The Bulgarians, he says, are on the defensive all around along the Nish railroad.

"No big battle is expected in the neighborhood of Istip toward which the Franco-Servian army is marching. The Bulgarians are intrenched on the heights around the town.

"According to dispatches received here, the Bulgarians operating in the Valley of the Lower Timok and in Grabove and Strumitsa have been cut off and annihilated.

"Dispatches from Sofia say that a number of military parties called to the colors against the bombardment of Dedeagatch and Porto Lagos ended in disturbances during which subjects of the Entente powers were severely handled.

At Burgas and Siara Zagora there was a demonstration by Bulgarian women against the war, the women crying "Give us back our men. We want bread." Police who interefered were received with showers of stones, and the troops had been summoned before order was restored.

A dispatch from Saloniki says that a Bulgarian column moving toward Katsinik and Mitrovitza is seeking to join hands with the Austrians who have crossed the Drina.

News from Constantinople, said to be authoritative, says that the anti-German movement is growing daily and that Ahmed Riza, leader of the Young Turk party who wished to interpellate the government regarding Turkey's reasons for entering the war, was not permitted to do so. The government has forbidden Senators and Deputies to discuss Turkish foreign policy.

MUNDURUCUSSES ON THE AMAZON.

IF YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT THEY ARE HERE'S THE NEWS.

Dr. William C. Farabee of University of Pennsylvania Discovers Habitat of Little-known Tribe of Savages of South America and Writes Home to Tell About It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—An account of the discovery of the original habitat of the Mundurucus Indians, a little-known tribe of savages, was received here today from Dr. William C. Farabee, leader of the University of Pennsylvania museum's Amazon expedition. Dr. Farabee wrote that he had spent several months in the Brazilian wilds never before visited by white men, and that he made important geographical, zoological and ethnological discoveries.

After going up the Cururu River for some distance the expedition branched off to the east on foot into what is called on the maps "Campo Geral," but of which section little or nothing was known. Dr. Farabee pierced this country for 200 kilometers, and it was here that he located the Mundurucus. He spent a long time among these Indians, studying their language, their manners and customs, and making a vocabulary, as a result of which he expects to settle absolutely the question of the relations of this tribe to the Tupi. As for the country itself, Dr. Farabee reported that it was nothing but "a worthless, semi-desert area, hilly and rough and unfit for grazing purposes."

The expedition, which has been in the Amazon country for nearly three years, left almost immediately for further work of exploration.

Turkish Artillery Enters the Fray Against the French and the British.

LONDON, Oct. 28, 9:45 p.m.—Outside of the German official statement which records the advance of the Austro-German forces and the capture by the Bulgarians of Zajecar and Kniajevatz, both on the Timok River, northeast of Nish and the heights of Pirot, almost directly east of Nish, there is little or no authentic news of the invasion of Servia.

There are reports, however, that the Servians have recaptured Uskup, which is not improbable if, as Saloniki dispatches report, the French now hold the line of Krivolak, Radovista and Strumitsa, for, with an army there and the Servians at Veles, Uskup would form a dangerous salient.

Turkish artillery has entered the fray in Southeast Servia in the neighborhood of Strumitsa, and, according to Berlin, in co-operation with the Bulgarian mountain artillery, "has done great execution" against the Anglo-French troops.

The capture of Zajecar and Kniajevatz, near the Bulgarian frontier, northeast of Nish, gives the Bulgarians control, not alone of the Danube region and the northern reaches of the Timok River, but of the railway running south to Nish.

On the Bulgarian Black Sea coast Russian warships have been bombarding Bulgarian positions. Varna, the chief port, was considerably damaged by the shells of the Russians, according to the report reaching Rome from Bucharest.

Although it is denied in Paris that a ministerial crisis has arisen there, M. Viviani, leader of the coalition Cabinet, has withdrawn from the Premiership, and ex-Premier Aristide Briand, known as a forceful statesman, is now engaged in the task of forming a new ministry.

David Lloyd George, the British Minister of Munitions, speaking for Premier Asquith in the House of Commons, has restated Great Britain's position with respect to peace. The Minister denied that Great Britain was engaged directly or indirectly in peace negotiations.

DANGER SPOT.

For the moment the danger spot for the Servians is the northeast corner, where they are being attacked from three sides, and eventually must fall back toward the southwest. Thus far they have been retiring in good order and, despite the seriousness of the situation, optimism prevails in Servian quarters in London, which probably are best able to judge of the assistance being sent by France, Great Britain and Russia.

The French, according to German dispatches, already have landed 150,000 men, with 100 guns, at Saloniki.

While the whereabouts of the British reinforcements remains a secret, that they are of considerable size may be judged from the fact that, although Sir Charles C. Monroe, recently appointed to command the Gallipoli operations, already is on the spot, the government has decided to send Maj.-Gen. Sir Bryant Mahon, who commanded the columns which relieved Mafeking in the South African war, to co-operate with the French.

Greater anxiety exists as to the attitude of Greece. It is known that Austria, Germany and Bulgaria have complained of the continued hospitality shown the allies at Saloniki, and one account goes so far as to say that the Greek government has asked the allies to leave Greek territory. Against this is the quoted assurance given by the Greek Minister at Paris to the French government that Greece has no intention of committing any hostile act toward the allied troops.

IN RUSSIA.

Except around Riga and Dvinsk, where the Germans are renewing their efforts to reach the Dvina River, and near Czartorysk, on the Styr, there has been no heavy fighting in the Russian arena. Engagements on a small scale have taken place west of Riga, showing that the Germans are attacking in a new direction. Hitherto, the main attacks have been from the south and southwest of that city, where they were checked. On the Styr and in Galicia the German offensive, according to the Russian report, has been stopped.

CLASH IS INDICATED OVER ANTI-DUMPING LAW.

Statement by Tumulty Indicates Secretary of Commerce is not in Accord with President on Legislation Which is to be Enacted to Protect Industry After War.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 28.—A statement issued at the White House this afternoon by Secretary Tumulty makes it appear that there is a sharp clash between Secretary of Commerce Redfield and the President, on the matter of enacting anti-dumping legislation at the coming session of Congress, for the protection of American industries against ruinous foreign competition at the close of the European war.

The White House statement made it certain that whatever opinions were expressed by Mr. Redfield after his conference at the White House yesterday, were purely personal, and in no way committed the administration to the views of the Secretary of Commerce.

Reports published this morning declared that "the President favorably received" suggestions made by Secretary Redfield concerning the protection of American industries at the close of the war. When these statements were submitted to Secretary Tumulty he issued a statement as to the attitude of the President, which virtually amounts to a repudiation of the versions given out following the conference yesterday.

Mr. Tumulty's statement was as follows:

"Whatever opinions have been expressed in this matter are purely personal. The President has not reached any conclusion. He has asked the heads of various departments to make a survey of the general economic and industrial situation and to report to him.

"On all plans that had been suggested to meet the economic situation that will arise out of the war, the President's mind is open, and will remain open, until the information he receives is full and complete in every way."

The administration view of meeting the situation which may exist at the close of the war, it is understood, leans strongly toward the reviving of the anti-dumping clause of the Underwood tariff act, which failed in the Senate in the last Congress.

The Secretary of Commerce believes that the problem can best be met by an amendment of the Clayton anti-trust act.

Court Orders New Jersey Central to Dispose of Its Coal Company Holdings.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28. — The United States District Court today decreed that the ownership of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey is a combination in restraint of trade and that the Central company must dispose of its interest in that concern.

The decree filed today is on the decision of the court last June in the government's anti-trust suit against the Reading company, Jersey Central and others. The court at that time suggested that the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company be divorced from the Jersey Central.

Prof. Nelson Declares Immediate Action Must be Taken if the Ruins are to be Saved.

SANTA FE (N. M.) Oct. 28.—Immediate organized action must be taken to preserve the cliff dwellings and other ancient ruins of the Southwest, according to Prof. Nels C. Nelson, a widely-known archaeologist, who reached here last night after an 1800-mile journey, during which he visited ruins lying between Mesa Erde, Colo., and Zuni, N. M. The famous Chaco Canyon ruins of New Mexico are in a lamentable state of deterioration, and steps should be taken at once to prevent further decay, Prof. Nelson declared. He has conducted extensive excavations in various parts of New Mexico.

GREAT VICTORY IS DUE TO REPUBLICAN LOYALTY.

Thanks to "The Times" for the Part it Played in Curing the "Progressive" Paralysis—Jubilation and Exultation in Every County—Joint Party Committee Congratulated.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 28.—Belated returns from distant parts of the State reveal that seventeen of the eighteen members of the Assembly who repudiated their platform pledges to vote for the anti-party bills last spring have been repudiated in their turn by the electorate of their districts. But four of the eighty Assembly districts in the State gave a majority for the anti-party amendments.

Congratulations are pouring in on the joint party committee in the form of hundreds of letters and telegrams thanking the leaders for the heroic manner in which they discharged an onerous duty. There is a buoyancy and spontaneity about these that reveal how galling the administration yoke had become. Tuesday's victory is regarded as both a moral and a financial triumph. The rebuke administered to those who sought to destroy the stairway by which they had risen to power is no more severe than the repudiation of the extravagant and unbusiness methods of the administration by the electorate in voting down all the financial amendments proposed.

THE AGE OF REASON.

In financial circles here the opinion is expressed that the defeat of all the administration measures is an evidence of a return to sanity on the part of the people of California that is certain to have its effect in all lines of industry. Chairman Ralston of the joint party committee is a prominent mining and investment broker. He asserted this morning that the election would have all the effect of a bumper crop.

"While it signals no change of personnel in the executive departments of the State," said Mr. Ralston, "it is a notice to the world that the electorate of California is through with experimental and inflammatory government. It means that the next Assembly will reduce in place of multiply the numbers of State departments and commissions and that the people of the State are on guard themselves to see that no more ultra-freak legislation gets into our Constitution or statutes.

"This is a great thing for the business and commercial interests of California. But it was not won without a struggle. The alignment of politicians against us here in San Francisco looked formidable enough on paper, but it failed to produce votes for the Governor's pet measures.

"Southern California's fight will become notable. It was to the southern counties that the Governor always looked for his fighting strength. And the Los Angeles Times divides the credit with the southern members of the joint party committee for the splendid victory won there. The Times started the fight just as soon as the bills appeared last spring in the legislature and it never stopped until the polls were opened. The Governor went south to aid his lieutenants who were already calling for help; but his campaign of abuse failed when opposed to the logic and figures of The Times. It was a splendid example of militant Republican journalism."

ONE LONE AMENDMENT JOHNSON'S SOLE COMFORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Virtually complete returns received tonight from Tuesday's general election showed that proposition No. 4, stipulating that judges of the higher coourts retain office until their successors qualify, was the only measure to carry. The rural credits and the initiative and referendum measures, which had been in doubt, were defeated.

Returns from 4408 of 5672 precincts in the State give on the various questions submitted:

No. 1, direct primary, yes, 109,882; no, 152,119.

No. 2, form of ballot, yes, 102,663; no, 142,450.

No. 5, rural credits, yes, 121,124; no, 129,015.

No. 6, deposit of public moneys, yes, 92,526; no, 147,650.

No. 7, initiative and referendum, yes, 118,584; no, 122,535.

No. 8, condemnation for public purposes, yes, 91,082; no, 149,547.

No. 10, exemption of property from taxation, yes, 99,966; no, 163,267.

No. 11, county charters, yes, 81,679; no, 147,588.

With only 264 remote and lightly populated precincts of the State's 4672 missing, No. 4 was leading by a majority of nearly 3000, and it was regarded as certain that additional returns would not affect the result on this measure.

No. 5 (rural credits) was not favored by the additional returns, and the majority against it of 7800 spelled its certain defeat. The majority against No. 7 (initiative and referendum) was 4951.

No marked changes were shown in the vote on the nonpartisal bills and other constitutional amendments, all of which were overwhelmingly defeated.

INCENDIARIES BLAMED FOR BLAZE IN SEATTLE.

SEATTLE, Oct. 28.—The extensive dock terminals on the Central water front between Broad and Clay streets, of the Blue Funnel line, operating the largest British carriers from here in the service of the allied powers of the Quadruple Entente in transporting munitions and supplies of war materials from the United States and Canada to British and Russian possessions in the Far East, were destroyed tonight with an estimated loss of approximately $1,000,000.

The fire was a third of a series of what are denominated by Fire Marshal Bringhurst incendiary blazes. British agents are tonight working on a dozen clews on the theory that the fire was caused by persons desirous of interfering with the transportation of food and supplies to the allied powers.

Although both of the fire boats and practically all the downtown apparatus worked on the blaze, the terminal, consisting of pier No. 14, recently lengthened and enlarged at a cost of $150,000, a two-story warehouse and shipping tracks were destroyed in tonight's blaze.

No vessels of the line were moored at the pier at the time, the steamer Ixion, which brought a $4,000,000 cargo from the Orient, having discharged her local shipments and gone to Vancouver to load steel, chemicals and munitions. The two previous attempts at incendiarism were made, however, while the vessel was at the dock.

MYSTERY.

The mysterious manner in which the first two fires were started was manifested by the fact that neither of the two night watchmen heard a sound until the flames burst forth. Both fires were started in piled rattan, highly inflammable stuff, stacked on top of rolls of white paper, which occupied a floor space of fifty square feet.

In an effort to trace down some of the clews, British agents, in addition to United States immigration inspectors and agents of the Department of Justice, are scouring Everett in search of a German lieutenant, who they say recently broke parole and left the interned German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich at Newport News.

The hunt in Everett follows clews furnished the Seattle police by M. A. Farrell of this city. Farrell reported that while in Everett he saw a man exactly fitting the description of the German officer contained in a dispatch published in a local paper.

KICKS OF BELLIGERENTS; WHAT WE HANDED 'EM.

Light Cast on Diplomatic Deals in the United States White Book.

Public Record of Protests Made Concerning Our Neutrality Contained in Book Just Issued by the State Department—Many Precedents Have been Set for Guidance in the Future.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A second installment of what has come to be popularly known as the United States Government's White Book was issued tonight by the State Department. It gives the text of important diplomatic correspondence with the belligerent governments of Europe since the publication of the first installment last May.

Besides constituting a public record of the position of the United States as a precedent for the future, the volume reveals a series of charges and counter-charges by the belligerents that reflect the difficulties constantly encountered in the delicate task of observing neutrality. Most of the correspondence never before has been made public in text, although press dispatches have covered much of it in substance.

GERMAN MEMORANDUM.

One of the most interesting features of the new edition is the publication for the first time of a memorandum of the German Foreign Office, referred to in a colloquy between Chairman Flood of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, at the hearing on the bills proposing an embargo on arms. Mr. Flood quoted the memorandum as a justification of his argument that the German government did not hold shipments of munitions to the allies as illegal. It appears that the correspondence with the German government conducted by Ambassador von Bernstorff developed as a consequence of a ruling by the United States that it was a violation of neutrality for merchant ships to leave American ports for the express purpose of supplying belligerent warships at sea. The Ambassador's note said:

"The position taken by the government of the United States as to the delivery of coal and other necessaries to warships of the belligerent states constituting a violation of neutrality, is in the opinion of the imperial government untenable in international law. The imperial government has set forth its position on this point in a memorandum which, in compliance with instructions, I have the honor to forward your excellency."

TEXT OF MEMORANDUM.

The memorandum follows:

"Under the general principles of international law no exception can be taken to neutral states letting war material go to Germany's enemies from or through their territory. This is accordant with Article 7 of The Hague Convention of October 18, 1907, concerning the rights and duties of neutrals in naval and land warfare. If, however, a state avails itself of that liberty for her enemies, then it must, in accordance with a rule generally accepted in international law and confirmed in Article 9 of the two conventions above cited, place no obstacle to the German military force ordering contraband from or through its territory. In spite thereof various American port authorities have denied clearance from American ports to vessels of the merchant marine which would carry needed supplies or fuel to German warships either on the high seas or in other neutral ports. According to the principles of international law above cited, a neutral state need not prevent furnishings of supplies of this character; neither can it, after allowing the adversaries to be furnished with contraband, either detain or in any way disable a merchant ship carrying such a cargo. Only when contraband trade would turn the ports into bases of German military operations would the unilateral stoppage of the trade of those vessels become a duty.

"Such, perhaps, would be the case if the Germans kept coal depots in the ports, or if the vessels called at the port in regular voyages on the way to German naval forces. But it stands to reason that one merchant vessel occasionally sailing with coal or supplies for German warships does not turn a neutral port into a German point of support contrary to neutrality.

"Our enemies draw from the United States contraband of war, especially arms, worth several billions of marks. This in itself, they are authorized to do. But if the United States would prevent our warships occasionally drawing supplies from its ports a great injustice grows out of the authorization, for it would amount to an unneutral treatment of the belligerents and constitute a breach of the generally accepted rules of neutrality to Germany's detriment."

UNITED STATES REPLY.

The Secretary of State in his reply held that:

"The essential idea of neutral territory becoming the base for naval operations by a belligerent is, in the opinion of this government, repeated departure from such territory of merchant vessels laden with fuel or other supplies for belligerent warships at sea; in order to ascertain the vessels which thus are operating the government has been obliged to investigate certain cases in order that it might determine whether there have been, or are about to be, repetition of such acts, but in all respects equality of treatment has been observed toward all vessels suspected of carrying supplies to belligerent vessels."

The correspondence shows that the State Department received also a complaint from the British Ambassador stating that the "systematic way in which neutral ships have left American ports in order to supply German cruisers and have been allowed to operate freely in the ports of the United States, in spite of the warnings which have been given in the matter, causes great anxiety to His Majesty's government."

LANSING'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Lansing replied that so far as he was advised: "Every suspicious case of vessels leaving American ports to supply German cruisers which has been brought to the attention of the United States with any basis of fact to support some such statement, has been fairly investigated. The government of the United States therefore feels obliged to decline to accept any suggestions intimating that its vigilance in the maintenance of its neutral duties under international law has been relaxed."

On another occasion the German Ambassador, in complaining to the State Department that the tug F. B. Dalzell put to sea from New York to carry provisions to the British cruiser Essex, declared that the tug came out "under the searchlights of the United States ship Florida." Mr. Lansing answered this with the statement that the government of the United States had investigated the matter thoroughly and was not able to find sufficient evidence to show that the tug did supply British warships. He asked for further evidence on which to renew the investigation, but this, it appears, was not supplied.

FROM SPRING-RICE.

In this connection, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, gave the State Department an extract from a letter written by the admiral in command of the British ships along the American coast, saying: "Except on one occasion in September last, which formed the basis of the complaint referred to in your telegram, I am satisfied that no attempt has been made to order anything from the United States territory."

A series of communications passed between the British embassy and the State Department on defensive armament of merchantmen and the right of belligerent merchant ships to leave neutral ports prepared to arm at sea. The British embassy stated with reference to the fitting out on American territory of vessels intended for warlike purposes, Great Britain would "hold the United States government responsible for any damages to British trade or shipping, or injury to British interests generally, which may be caused by such vessels having been equipped at or departing from United States ports."

The ruling of the State Department that it was permissible for merchant ships to arm for defensive purposes drew forth a note from the British embassy on instructions from the Foreign Office giving "the fullest assurances that British merchant vessels will never be used for purposes of attack, that they are merely carriers armed only for defense, that they will never fire unless first fired upon, and that they will never under any circumstances attack any vessel."

The German government in a memorandum transmitted by Ambassador Gerard, took exception to the view that merchant vessels were permitted to defend themselves against a war vessel, and argued that it was a question whether or not armed merchant ships "should be admitted into neutral ports at all," the extent of armament being held as affording "no guaranty that ships armed for defensive purposes only, will not be used for offensive purposes under certain circumstances. Mr. Lansing's answer was that the United States held that to permit vessels of small armament to enjoy the hospitality of American ports as merchant vessels, was not a violation of neutrality.

THE AMERICAN REPLY.

"Nevertheless," the American reply added, "the government of the United States is not unmindful of the fact that the circumstances of a particular case may be such as to cause embarrassment and possible controversy as to the character of an armed private vessel visiting its ports. Recognizing, therefore, the desirability of avoiding a ground of complaint this government, as soon as a case arose, while frankly admitting the right of a merchant vessel to carry a defensive armament, expressed its disapprobation of a practice which compelled it to pass upon a vessel's intended use which opinion, if proven subsequently to be erroneous, might constitute a ground for a charge of unneutral conduct.

"As a result of these representations no merchant vessels with armament have visited the ports of the United States since the tenth of September. In fact, from the beginning of the European war, but two armed private vessels have entered or cleared from ports of this country, and as to these vessels, their character as merchant vessels was conclusively established."

THE CENSORSHIP.

The efforts of the State Department to obtain improvements in the censorship of commercial cablegrams constitutes a lengthy correspondence over a period of more than a year. The history of the formation of the Belgian Relief Commission, and the part the United States government played in it, is shown in a series of the notes passing between Ambassador Gerard, Ambassador Page and Minister Whitlock.

The correspondence relating to the attempt of the German ship Odenwald to sail from San Juan, Porto Rico, without clearance papers, furnishes another interesting chapter of the volume. The State Department's note in answer to the German government's complaint that the port authorities opened fire on the steamer without warning, concludes after a long review of the evidence, that "the United States authorities at San Juan, in the performance of their duties, avoided any act endangering the safety of the vessel and the lives of the persons on board and exercised no greater force than was necessary to prevent the illegal departure of the Odenwald from the port of San Juan."

CASE OF PIEPENBRINK.

The case of August Piepenbrink, an American citizen, of German birth, taken from an American vessel on the high seas by the French cruiser Conde was the subject of long exchanges. The Trent case in the Civil War was cited as a basis for the American demand for the release of Piepenbrink. The text of the note from Foreign Minister Delcasse to American Ambassador Sharp at Paris, shows that Great Britain and France never admitted the American contention although the prisoner was surrendered "as a special favor." The allies argued that Piepenbrink was not really an American citizen, having only declared his intention to become naturalized. The State Department set forth the view that "there is no justification in international law for the removal of even an enemy's subject from a neutral vessel on the high seas bound to a neutral port even if he could properly be considered as a military person.

BRITAIN REFUSES IMMUNITY TO GOODS.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Minister, replying today to a question in the House of Commons, repudiated the suggestion that the government had decided to give immunity to goods of an enemy country origin contracted for before June 16 last.

The government said Sir Edward had declared their intention not to interfere with the shipment from neutral ports of goods of an enemy country origin actually ordered before March 1, 1915, and either paid for before that date or contracted for upon such terms that the neutral purchasers were liable for payment and such payment in an enemy country could be legally enforced whether the goods were delivered in his own country or not.

"The government," Sir Edward said, "stipulated that all such intended shipments must be referred to them for consideration before November 1."

NO INTERFERENCE BY GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The foreign trade advisers today received unofficial assurances from the British Embassy that the release of cargoes now in neutral countries would not be affected by a German export embargo.

The British government has rejected the request of the foreign trade advisers that goods purchased in Germany or Austria between March 1 and March 15 be released from the provisions of the British order in council.

HOW ITALIANS FOOL AUSTRIANS.

FILL TRENCHES WITH DEAD IN ALPINE CAMPAIGN.

Systematically Capture All Observation Points in the Mountains, then Start Advance Through Isonzo Which has Gorizia for Goal. Struggle Gets Fiercer Daily.

UDINE (Italy) (via Paris) Oct. 28.—News of the great Italian offensive all along the Isonzo front is being brought down by the wounded and the men of the convoys who are escorting Austrian prisoners to the rear. In three days over 1000 prisoners have passed through Udine, which gives some idea of the magnitude of the operations.

All the soldiers agree that the artillery preparation preceding the offensive, lasting three days, was appalling.

"If it was an inferno for us," said a wounded gunner, "how much worse was it for those yonder where the shells burst?"

The Italian soldiers assert with pride that they are now reaping the benefit of a systematic destruction of the Austrian observatory points on the mountain peaks, mastered after fierce struggles during the past months and the lack of which, they say, has greatly decreased the accuracy of the aim of the Austrians. The men say that six months of warfare has enabled them to understand the tricks of their opponents.

RUSE OF ITALIANS.

When the Italian artillery prepared the way for an infantry attack on the intrenchments the soldiers declare, the Austrians would retire. When the artillery ceased firing with the purpose of allowing infantry to cover the ground between the opposing positions, the Austrians would reoccupy their intrenchments with double forces. When finally the Italians discovered these tactics they adopted a ruse to catch the Austrians.

After the artillery had ceased firing the Italians, according to the soldiers, permitted an interval of time to elapse sufficient for the Austrians to return to their trenches. Then they reopened fire with their artillery and later charged and when the infantry reached the trenches they were literally filled with the bodies of dead Austrians.

HOLD MANY TRENCHES.

"We are now solidly in possession of trenches and positions like Cima Predda, the hinge of the formidable triangular defense of Tolmino, which the enemy seemed determined to hold at any cost," said an officer today.

"In the fierce struggle in the neighborhood of Gorizia, where the Austrians had concentrated large reinforcements, the Austrians were finally repulsed. As they retreated the Austrians set fire to a long tract of country, making a wall of fire to protect them from the pursuing Italians."

NEW CABINET FOR FRANCE.

Latter Declares no Ministerial Crisis Exists.

Personnel of New Body Soon to be Announced.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The French Cabinet, of which Rene Viviani was head, resigned today, but up to a late hour tonight Aristide Briand, who was called upon to form a new Cabinet, had not succeeded in completing his task.

The subject of M. Viviani's retirement from the Premiership and the reorganization of the Cabinet was discussed at length by the political leaders, but as no definite arrangement could be reached, the Chamber of Deputies, which was awaiting the appearance of the Ministry in the House, adjourned in the afternoon, without any formal announcement having been made.

There had been rumors since the resignation of Theophile Delcasse, the Foreign Minister, of important changes in the Cabinet, but the withdrawal of M. Viviani was in the nature of a surprise as his Ministry received a vote of confidence in the chamber recently by a very large majority. One explanation offered is that Premier Viviani has overtaxed his strength in his official position by his strenuous services in connection with the war.

Aristide Briand, who held the office of Minister of Justice in the late Cabinet and who was Premier in 1913, in a statement respecting the changes in the Cabinet, said that he had received no official mandate as there was no ministerial crisis. Throughout the day he conferred with the political leaders of all shades of opinion, with the purpose of reorganizing the Ministry so as to include the best available men in the country. It is believed that M. Briand will be officially invested with the mission of forming a new Cabinet as soon as his selection for the various portfolios are made.

THE PROBABLE CABINET.

Information now available indicates that M. Briand will become Foreign Minister as well as Premier, with Jules Cambon, who was Ambassador to Germany at the outbreak of the war, as his principal secretary. In addition to M. Viviani probable designations are:

Minister of War, Gen. J. S. Galliени, Military Governor of Paris.

Minister of Marine, Rear-Admiral Lacaze.

Minister of Instruction, Emile Combes, former Premier.

The other members of the present Cabinet, according to this programme, will continue in their present positions.

The Journal states that there will be six ministers of state without portfolios, of whom four will be Senators and two Deputies.

According to a list issued by the Havas News Agency, giving the names of the members of the Cabinet, as it says it learns that body will be provisionally constituted, Charles D. Freycinet is to be Vice-President of the Cabinet and Minister of State; Prof. Paul Painleve will be Minister of Public Instruction and Inventions Concerning National Defense; Jules Meline, a form Premier, will be Minister of Agriculture, while either Rene Renoult or Gabriel Guist'hau will be Minister of Labor.

As ministers without portfolios the list carries the names of former Premiers Emil Combes and Leon Bourgeois, together with Denys Cochin and Jules Guesde, who are now in the Cabinet as ministers without portfolio.

RUSSIA WANTS HUNDRED MILLION.

CZAR OFFERS TO PAY NINE PER CENT. INTEREST FOR A SHORT-TIME LOAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Agents of the Russian government, is was reliably reported here today, are seeking to establish a credit loan in this country, somewhat similar to the recent $500,000,000 Anglo-French credit loan—although no bond issue is contemplated—of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 and more, if it can be obtained.

Details of the proposed loan were lacking, but in one quarter it was reported that the Russian government was willing to pay as high as 9 per cent. interest for a loan of this size. This report added that the loan probably would be for eighteen months and would be in the neighborhood of $50,000,000.

SIX ESCAPED GERMANS CAPTURED BY BRITISH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The six officers of the interned German raider Kronprinz Wilhelm, who escaped from Norfolk, Va., October 10, on the yacht Eclipse, were captured at sea by a British warship, according to information in a letter received here today. The letter was sent to William Wolff, a New York manufacturer, by his mother-in-law, who was a passenger on the steamer Bermudian, which left New York for Hamilton last Wednesday.

According to the letter, the Bermudian was stopped a short distance from its destination by a British cruiser which engaged the passenger vessel in wireless conversation. The substance of the talk as told by the wireless operator of the Bermudian, was that the cruiser, the identity of which is not given, had overtaken the missing Eclipse at sea, made prisoners of the German officers and sank the yacht. The letter gives no other details.

Reports have been current in shipping circles here for several days that the yacht had been captured by a British cruiser believed to have been H.M.S. Melbourne.

NO CHRISTIANS AT CORONATION.

Japan will Adhere to this Rule, but will Later Invite Them to the Banquets.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

TOKIO, Oct. 2.—Japan has decided to adhere to her original intention not to invite a representative of the Christian religion to the coronation ceremonies of Emperor Yoshihito, to be held in Kioto early next month. Japanese Christians tried to induce the court and government to change the original plans on the ground that Christianity is now one of the prominent religions of the empire, but the authorities have decided that only a representative of the Buddhist and Shinto religions will attend the Kioto ceremonies. The explanation given is that Buddhist and Shinto priests have a court rank in Japan which entitles them to an invitation.

On the other hand the coronation board will recognize the religions of the west by inviting their representatives to the banquets to be held November 16 in various cities of the empire simultaneously with the first great coronation feast proper, which will be given at Kioto by the Emperor on that date. More than 100,000 people will be present at these various commemorative feasts.

The coronation board says it is very desirous of having it understood that the coming coronation will be distinctly a national affair. It points out that the expenses will be borne by the nation and that officials of the government and every class of people in the empire will be represented.

The members of the diplomatic corps will attend two of the principal coronation ceremonies and the three coronation feasts to be held at Kioto, but they will not be invited to the third great ceremony at Kioto known as the Daijosai or Grand Harvest Thanksgiving festival.

No anti-foreign consideration enters into the question, the officials explain, but this being an archaic ritual service which is purely Japanese it has been deemed best to invite no foreigners.

This is the ceremony at which the Emperor offers the sacred rice to the ancestral gods and himself partakes of the sacred food.

In no case, however, will Messrs. Blackett and Homberg make out drafts payable to the exporters of supplies. The funds will be placed, in these two representatives of the governments concerned, at the disposal of British and French fiscal agents in America wherever needed. The money, therefore, is the first step in the distribution of the $480,000,000 recently by Great Britain and France for the bonds, among the varied interests in the United States sending supplies to these two nations.

About $300,000,000 of the $500,000,000 bond issue, it was authoritatively stated today, has been withdrawn from public subscription by the banks and financial houses who are members of the underwriting syndicate. These will be retained by the banks as investments, according to present plans, leaving available for public purchase about $200,000,000 of the issue. It was said today that this was fast being taken.

Mr. Blackett expects to return to this country several weeks hence, to be succeeded in his duties with the loan by Sir Paul Harvey, K.C.M.G., who was sent here by the British government to relieve him. Sir Paul reached New York today on the steamer Adriatic.

FIERCE FIGHTING NORTH OF ARRAS

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If peevish, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't natural when cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated: this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a good liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. Millions of children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

BRYAN CHARGE CALLED A LIE.

Steel Interests not Behind Defense Programme.

No Envoy Sent to Wilson, Declares White House.

Insuendo will be Brought up in Congress Fight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 28.—Reports that an "emissary" of the steel interests had promised President Wilson support in the election of 1916 as a result of his advocacy of adequate military defense were sharply characterized as false at the White House today.

Obviously the rumors were inspired by recent publications over William J. Bryan's signature in the Commoner. Bryan charged that his friends, "the interests," were back of the movement throughout the country for national safety in time of war.

The "steel interests" have not sent an emissary to the President. No person engaged in the manufacture of steel has seen the President in months. Most of the steel industries are so busy with orders from Europe that they are not anxious for business from the United States government.

It is candidly admitted that if the preparedness programme is put through and the government proceeds to make preparations without delay, steel and ammunition concerns will benefit, unless provision is made for the establishment of Federal plants to supply the needs. It is contended that this would be practically impossible for a number of years to come.

TO HASTEN PROGRAMME.

The government programme provides for putting the country on a good defensive basis within five or six years. If the preparations went longer than that time there would be little sense of preparedness at all, in the viewpoint of the administration.

The establishment of great munition and gun plants is a matter of many years, German efficiency in that direction having taken twenty-five years, not to speak of the famous Krupp works, the largest in the world, taken over by Germany at the beginning of the war.

It is regarded as probable that the President will favor provision in the appropriation bills that are expected to pass this winter for initial steps in government-owned works—certainly some provision that will enable the government to prevent the steel and other corporations from "profiting up" the government for unfair profits.

Secretary Daniels has long been urging plans for an armor-plate plant to be operated by the government, and Secretary Garrison is giving careful thought to the best methods of insuring the government a supply of its needs in case of war without having to depend wholly upon private concerns.

BRYAN LEADS ATTACKS.

W. J. Bryan is leading those who are attacking the steel concerns over the good times ahead of them if the government has to go to them for munitions, armor, etc. The various charges of this story will be rung throughout the debates in Congress over administration programme.

Supporters of the President fully understand that the government can take steps in the direction of defense without giving American manufacturers more work. It is true with munitions and all other government construction and supplies, it is declared, and so will it be in the future.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Conferences between counsel for the American meat packers and State Department officials on the seizure and confiscation by Great Britain of shipments from the United States to European neutral countries ended temporarily today. Alfred R. Urion, general counsel for the packers, said they would be resumed probably early next week when Consul-General Skinner is expected to arrive from London to report on the foreign trade situation. The department so far has reached no decision on the packers' request for official representations on their behalf with the British government.

Scientific organizations and educational institutions of the United States are expected to send some 600 representatives.

Navy Bureaus Study Report of Disaster with the Intent to Fix Responsibility if Possible.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Officials of navy bureaus are studying the final report of the naval board of inquiry which investigated the loss of the submarine F-4, with a view to determining whether proceedings to fix personal responsibility for the act which cost twenty-one lives shall be started. The board found that corroded lead lining and rivets in the submarine's battery tanks caused the accident, and absolved the crew of the boat from all blame. A previous board of inquiry held that every precaution had been taken by officials of the navy yard at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and by the F-4's personnel before her fatal trip.

Secretary Daniels said tonight that he could make no statement as to what further steps might be taken until the bureau officials completed their study of the reports and presented their findings. His attention was called to a published statement issued by the Electric Boat Company, designers of the F-4, disagreeing with the findings of the second naval board and attributing the loss of the vessel to the fact that certain air valves had been left open. Mr. Daniels said that statement also would be referred to the bureau chiefs.

COMPTROLLER WILLIAMS SAYS INTEREST IS TOO HIGH.

He Instructs the Directors to Carefully Read the Law Governing this Phase of Business and Send Him a Statement Acknowledging They Have Done So.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Comptroller of the Currency Williams has sent a circular letter to all national banks calling attention to the oath which each director signs when he assumes office not to permit the bank to violate the national bank act, and pointing out particularly that part of the act which provides that a national bank may receive interest on its loans "at the rate allowed by the laws of the State, Territory or district where the bank is located, and no more."

"This office," says the letter, "regrets to report that the sworn statements of condition of a great many national banks show that section 5197, United States Revised Statutes, against usury, has been grossly violated by these banks.

"You are respectfully advised and admonished that this provision of the national bank act shall be faithfully observed by all national banks, their officers and directors, in accordance with the solemn oaths taken by directors.

"You are requested to read this letter at the next meeting of your board of directors, and to have it inscribed upon the minutes and to send a copy of this letter to every member of your board who may not be present at such meeting, with the request that he promptly acknowledge its receipt to you.

"Within thirty days after your next board meeting, and not later than December 20, 1915, you are requested to send to this office letters from all members of your board who may not have been present at the meeting at which this letter is read, acknowledging the receipt by each absent director of a copy thereof, together with a certified extract from your minutes, showing that this letter has been read to your board and giving the names of the directors present at the meeting at which it is read."

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 28.—"I've just learned that I am sole heir to my uncle's diamond mines in South Africa, worth $10,000,000, and I want $500 worth of the best dresses you have in the store."

This was the proposition made by Stephanie Fuchs, 24 years of age, an Austrian servant girl, to the credit man of a local department store. She got the dresses.

Then she leased a modern apartment house and gave a check for a year's rental. She bought furniture for it on the same terms. About the time the checks began to come back from the bank Miss Fuche's sister caused a warrant to be issued for her assest on a charge of insanity. The furniture was hauled away and the apartment house lease cancelled, but the gowns had been altered to fit and were a loss.

STEEL TRADE AT HIGH TIDE.

Plants Running at Capacity Cannot Fill Orders.

Business will Keep up, Belief of Judge E. H. Gary.

Nearly Two Hundred Thousand Added to Pay Rolls.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—So great has been the general revival in the iron and steel trade of the United States, it was said by authorities today that with virtually every blast furnace and steel mill in the country working day and night to capacity, the demand for iron, steel and steel products cannot be satisfied and it is today almost impossible to buy, for immediate delivery, pigiron, scrap or ingots in sizeable quantities at any industrial plant in the country.

The revival began about the first of last July, has been coming on rapidly with a deluge of orders since the middle of August, and may not yet have reached its high mark.

Within these three months, the price of pigiron, long regarded as the barometer of trade, has increased approximately 35 per cent. and that of steel and steel products—except steel rails, has gone up about 15 per cent.

At the present time the demand for pigiron and for the various lines of steel is in excess of the producing capacity of the furnaces and mills of the United States, reads a statement issued today by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation.

FROM THE STATEMENT.

"The manufacturers are unable to make deliveries entirely satisfactory to the purchasers with respect to a large majority of the different kinds of finished steel," says the statement.

"There is nothing to indicate that there will be a decrease in the demand for any of these products for some time. While prices received are still low, they have been and are increasing and apparently will go higher so that fair and reasonable profits may be expected.

"Of course, these very satisfactory conditions are more or less affected by the war business, so-called, yet it is undoubtedly true that there is a better feeling throughout the general iron and steel trade than has been experienced for some years past."

Experts who have followed the rising fortunes of iron and steel within the past twelve months asserted today that the volume of business, both domestic and foreign, at present is more than double what it was a year ago, and that there are today 175,000 men employed at iron and steel plants throughout the United States who were not on the pay rolls a year ago. This is about 50 per cent increase.

LAST FURNACE LIGHTED.

The fires have been lighted in nearly every blast furnace in the United States. In the case of the steel corporation the last remaining idle furnace at Columbus, O., is now being put into operation. To find a parallel for the greater activity in the iron and steel trade, it was said today, it was necessary to go back eight years to the middle of 1907.

Steel and steel products are rolling out of the mills today at the rate of 50,000,000 tons a year, it is conservatively estimated, and iron is being manufactured at the rate of 40,000,000 tons.

Prices have increased somewhat slowly, it is said, but there seems to be every indication that further rises are on the way. At the present time, it is estimated, there are employed on the producing end of the industry approximately 525,000 men.

STEEL RAIL ORDERS.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Orders for 175,000 tons of steel rails were placed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company today. These rails cover the 1916 requirements of the road.

In addition an order was placed with the Baldwin Locomotive Works for the construction of seventy-five heavy freight locomotives for immediate delivery.

EIGHT MILLIONS IN ENO ESTATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The will of Amos F. Eno, pioneer merchant and owner of much New York real estate, who died on October 21, was filed for probate today, and showed he left an estate of an estimated value of more than $8,000,000. Of this amount nearly $3,000,000 was bequeathed to public institutions.

After all other legacies are paid and trusts established under the will, the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of New York is to receive $1,800,000. New York University, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History and the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor are to receive $250,000 each.

Mr. Eno left legacies and trusts totaling $4,600,000 to his surviving brother, William B. Eno of Washington, D. C., and his surviving sister, Mrs. Antoinette E. Wood of Simsbury, Ct., and to the descendants of his deceased brothers and sisters.

Mr. Eno left $1,500,000 to be divided among the descendants of his deceased sister, Mrs. Anna E. Pinchot, as follows:

To her sons, Gifford Pinchot, Amos R. F. Pinchot, and her daughter, Lady Johnstone, $250,000 each; a trust of $250,000 to each of the two children of Amos Pinchot, and the same amount to Lady Johnstone's son. The sum of $1,000,000 was also left, to be divided among several relatives of Mr. Eno's deceased brother, John C. Eno.

ABANDON HOPE FOR BALKAN AID.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MILAN, Oct. 28.—A semi-official statement of the proceedings of the Cabinet council is published here, indicating that Italy and the other allies have all abandoned hope of enlisting Rumania and Greece on their side to keep their covenants to help Servia. A vigorous offensive against the Germans in the Balkans is favored.

Incendiaries Blamed.

Angeles, did not disclose the officer's name, but he was described as a man 32 years old, who could be identified by a scar extending from the lobe of his left ear to the corner of his mouth received in a student duel at Heidelberg.

The fire was at its greatest fifteen minutes after the start and threw up a glow in the sky visible for thirty or forty miles, persons in Tacoma, thirty-two miles away, calling up local newspaper offices about the fire in Seattle. The blaze attracted a crowd estimated at 40,000 people, who observed the work of the fire-fighters from the bluffs, streets and viaducts above the blaze.

INCIDENTS.

The list of mysterious accidents, of which this Blue Funnel dock fire is supposed to be one, includes the explosion of the scowload of fifteen tons of dynamite in Elliott Bay May 30; the theft of documents from the Seattle Construction and Drydock Company, supposed to have been taken in the effort to show that the company was building submarines for the allies during the court investigation of which the imperial German Consul, Dr. Muller, was arrested, but later cleared, and the attempts to cause labor troubles on the water front to tie up shipping to the allies.

Huge shipments of war supplies for the Japanese and Russian armies have been assembled on Pier 14. The British steamer Ixion on her last outward voyage took big consignments of steel rods which were for use in the building of fortifications by the Russians. There were also shipments of wire for use in entanglements in front of the Russian trenches.

As they fly the British flag and ply direct to ports of the allies, the vessels of the Blue Funnel line while at this port have been guarded closely by employees. No explosives have been loaded in Seattle, munitions of war being usually taken by the vessels of the fleet in British Columbia.

The first alarm was rung in by Night Watchman Joseph Hepp, who in making his rounds, was attracted to the street end of the pier by the odor of burning rattan. At the arrival of the first fire apparatus a general alarm was sent in, calling for every piece of the downtown apparatus.

Within fifteen minutes the flames, fanned by a twenty-mile wind, had swept from the street the entire length of the 700-foot dock on the upper story, where were stored thousands of cases of tea, hemp, bamboo, rattan, rice and paper. The blaze started in that portion of the dock where there was stored the greatest amount of highly-inflammable matter.

The department made such a vigorous attack that within forty-five minutes after the first alarm danger of spreading to other structures was avoided.

In the north end of the pier the fire did not burn through the floor, though the entire upper part of the structure was practically gutted. All of that cargo on the ground floor of the dock, consisting of tea, rice, paper and hemp, was drenched in water and practically rendered worthless.

Sixty thousand cases of salmon awaiting shipment to Liverpool were lost. Fig tin valued at $500,000, part of the Ixion's cargo, was undamaged.

Pier 14 is owned by Ainsworth and Dunn and is leased by Dodwell & Co., agents on the Pacific Coast for the Blue Funnel line.

Street car service was tied up for nearly an hour on First and Western avenues, making it particularly difficult for residents of Queen Anne Hill. Jitney busses did a thriving business transporting the immense crowd that gathered to view the fire.

A longshoreman named Wilman was arrested tonight for praising the work of the incendiaries. He is charged with saying: "Let 'er burn. Pier five will go next."

FIRE AT LOCUST POINT.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28.—Between $500,000 and $750,000 loss was entailed tonight when fire destroyed the United States bonded piers Nos. 34 and 35 at Locust Point. For hours the fire raged and at one time threatened to leap across the slip and communicate with the freight piers, Nos. 33 and 33, adjoining the burning structure.

The two piers are owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. On the piers were imports of all kinds. It was said by one official that over $400,000 worth of mineral ores were washed overboard.

FAY CONFESSION UNSATISFACTORY

Has not Yet Connected the German Foreign Office.

Government not Yet Convinced Truth is Told.

Police Sprung Their Trap too Quickly, is Belief.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK Oct. 28.—All the alleged evidence obtained by the government against the five men charged with conspiracy in plotting to disable steamships laden with war munitions for the allies, by placing clock-worked bombs on the rudders or propellers of the vessels, is contained in the confession of Robert Fay who says he was a lieutenant in the German army and in the explosive materials found in his possession.

This was announced today by William J. Flynn, chief of the secret service and H. Snowden Marshall, U. S. District Attorney. Both asserted that none of the papers and letters taken from Fay's room in Weehawken, N. J. threw any light as to who were Fay's financial backers, if he had any, or tended to show any connection between Fay's acts in the United States and officials in Europe.

FAY'S CONFESSION.

Fay himself said in his confession that his plan to come to America and obstruct war munition ships was approved by German secret service officials, but, according to Mr. Marshall, no evidence other than Fay's word has been obtained.

"The government is far from convinced that the real story of the plot has been unearthed," said Mr. Marshall. "We have not finished investigating. Yet we have no basis for further arrests."

That Fay had completed three steel shells with springs and clockwork mechanism ready for attachment to a vessel and had the explosives prepared to place into the shells was explained by police officials today in answer to questions whether the arrests of Fay and Walter L. Scholz, his brother-in-law, last Sunday, had not been made before sufficient evidence had been obtained against other persons. The police assert that had the arrests been delayed it would have given Fay an opportunity to carry out his threat of placing a bomb on a ship.

BOAT HOUSE IS EXAMINED.

John C. Knox, assistant United States District Attorney, was sent to Weehawken to examine the scene where Fay carried on his experiments. He visited Fay's rooms and the boat-house on the Hudson River where explosives were stored.

The cases of the five men are to be presented to the Federal grand jury next week. Dr. Herbert Kienzle, charged with complicity in the conspiracy, obtained his release on $25,000 bond today.

PILES

Fistula and all Rectal Diseases

WITHOUT an OPERATION

By MY PAINLESS DISSOLVENT METHOD

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and railroad surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to others.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic conditions in my office.

I solicit old, severe and obstinate cases of fistula, prolapsus, fissure and ulceration that have heretofore resisted all treatments employed. If you are a sufferer from rectal trouble I invite you to investigate my method thoroughly by talking or writing to any of my cured patients. If you will call at my office I will be pleased to give you the names and addresses of many well-known Los Angeles people I have cured, whom you may interview in regard to my treatment.

I keep a trained lady nurse constantly on duty in my office for the convenience and comfort of lady patients.

Symptoms of Debility

People who are tired all of the time and never feel rested even after a long night in bed, who cannot regain weight and strength, whose step lacks elasticity and who feel no joy in living, are debilitated.

A medical examination might easily show that every organ of the body is acting normally but the pallor of the face will usually show that the blood is thin. This is the root of the trouble.

Debility is a loss of vitality, not affecting any one part of the body but the system generally. The blood goes to every part of the body and the use of a blood tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly tones up the system. The first sign of returning health is a better appetite, improved digestion, a quicker step, brighter eyes, better color in the cheeks. The rich, red blood, reaching every organ and muscle, carries renewed health and vigor. The nerves are quieted, sleep becomes more refreshing and with persistent treatment and proper living the debilitated patient is once more enabled to enjoy life.

Two useful books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

One Need in Tuberculosis

is careful attention to hygienic living and proper diet. Science is agreed that fresh air, rest and avoidance of food excesses constitute the most effective non-medical treatment in this widespread disease.

Often, however, these measures need supplementing by proper medication. The system lacks sufficient resistance to overcome the attack, and something must be done to assist in upbuilding the patient's strength.

In many cases of this sort Eckman's Alterative has been used with marked success. Its efficacy in this disease has borne fruit in a record of numerous apparent recoveries, and where a tonic is indicated, it has produced most beneficial results.

Since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

TWENTY-ONE DIE IN FLAMES.

Parochial School Destroyed at Peabody, Mass.

Fire Drill Saves Lives of Several Hundred Others.

PEABODY (Mass.) Oct. 28.—Twenty-one children, most of them girls ranging in age from 7 to 17 years, lost their lives today in a fire which destroyed St. John's parochial school. Another girl has injuries which are regarded as probably fatal, while others were less severely hurt.

The 600 children had entered their classrooms for the morning session when the fire was discovered and although a majority of them were guided to safety by sisters of the Order of Notre Dame, who were their teachers, panic seized a large number as they neared the front door, and in their rush to escape they lost their footing and their bodies blocked the exit. It was in the front vestibule that nearly all the bodies were found.

Of the nineteen bodies at an undertaking parlor tonight, twelve had been identified as follows:

MABEL BEAUCHAMP, 11 years.
FLORENCE BOURKE, 12.
ELIZABETH COMEAU, 10.
HELEN BRESNAHAN, 17.
ANNIE BOLESKY, 14.
IDA ESSIAMBRE, 6.
MILDRED FAY, 13.
HELEN H. KEEFE, 11.
ANNIE M. O'BRIEN, 11.
PATRONI CHEBATOR, 6.
FLORENCE DOHERTY, 11.
MARY MEAD, 16.

All of the sisters escaped but Mother Superior Marie Carmelita was seriously burned. At the convent house tonight it was said that her injuries probably were not fatal, although she is prostrated by the disaster and the suffering of her charges.

ORIGIN A MYSTERY.

How the fire started may never be known. An early theory that a boiler explosion caused it having been dismissed, the State police officials tonight were of the opinion that a storeroom in the basement where a gas meter was located was its source, but investigation of the theory was difficult as the place where the storeroom had been was destroyed.

The first word of the fire is believed to have come from a tardy pupil who smelled smoke and reported it to the Mother Superior. The children had just finished morning prayer, when the gong sounded for fire drill. Mother Marie hurried to tell the sisters of the actual danger and the movements of the fire drill were quickly started.

A few days ago in a practice drill the building was emptied in two minutes. It would have been cleared in almost the same time today in the opinion of the Rev. Nicholas J. Murphy, pastor of St. John's Roman Catholic Church, but for the falling of a child believed to be a cripple in the front vestibule. Over her body child after child, fearful of the flames, and pressed on by the crowd behind, stumbled and fell. The opening was choked and further escape was in this way stopped.

Trouble at the rear door, which became jammed for a time, also impeded the movement of the children through the building. This exit was reopened, however, and many children escaped through it.

BLOCKADE AT DOORS.

The classes of pupils, marshaled by the sisters in the rooms and halls, had filed through the corridors and started down the stairs in orderly procession, notwithstanding curling plumes of smoke, until the blockade occurred at the doors. Then with cries from those below ringing in their ears, the children in the rear of the lines scattered to the rooms on all three floors of the building.

Those on the lower floor dropped safely to the ground. From the second floor most of the children, supervised by the sisters, jumped into the coats of firemen and bystanders which were held out to catch them. Many of those who went to the windows of the upper stories were warned against risking the long jump and escaped from windows below. Some of the braver and more resourceful slid down water spouts, among them Morris Harris, a boy of 14 years, who assisted his friend, Tom Shea, with one leg over a shaking spout. Two girls who were dropped to the ground sustained serious injuries, one, Marion Hayes, died at a hospital tonight.

The sister teachers controlled the situation until the mishap at the front door which proved so fatal. Mother Superior Marie Carmelita said during the fire that she had made certain that all the children had left the upper floor before she did. No bodies were found above the first floor.

DOORS SWUNG OUT.

Examination of the remnants of the front doors of the school today showed that they swung outward. There had been a report that the doors swung into the hallway and that the crush against them when they were partly opened made it impossible for the children to get out quickly.

Criticism by citizens of the lack of fire escapes on the school building were met by statements from State and town officials that every requirement of law had been met. Deputy Chief George C. Neal of the State police said that the loss of life "apparently was not due to any lack of fire precautions, but simply to the unfortunate place in which the fire started, almost under the front steps, and the accident which blocked the front door."

The building was a three-story brick structure of eleven rooms, nine of which were used for classrooms.

The interior was finished in wood and the flames ran entirely through it, so that tonight only the outer walls were standing.

It was thought tonight that the names of Elizabeth Nolan, 16, and Mary McCarthy, 8, might be added to the identified dead, but the identification was not positive.

TO MAKE SAFETY OF PUPILS SURE.

BOARD OF EDUCATION SHOCKED TO RIGID ACTION.

Inspection and Varied Drills Determined upon When News of Eastern Disaster is Heard—Our Schools Finely Equipped—Scholars Exit Quickly at Fire Alarms.

Shocked by the reports of the destruction by fire of the St. John's parochial school in Peabody, Mass., members of the Board of Education decided at their meeting yesterday afternoon to take steps immediately to provide against the possibility of any such disaster in Los Angeles. Although the members of the board agreed that this city's schools as constructed today are far safer than the buildings of most other cities, it was considered best to have the business supervisor conduct another inspection, while Supt. Francis arranged different forms of fire drills for the pupils.

This last measure was adopted after Mrs. Russell J. Waters had suggested that the pupils be trained to meet any emergency, pointing out that in the Massachusetts tragedy the regular form of fire drill was useless, as the main exit was closed by fire.

"I think the children should be trained to use all exits from their building," Mrs. Waters said. "The press reports of the Massachusetts fire state that because the regular exit was closed the children were at a loss how to go through with their drill. This might possibly happen in one of our schools. As our buildings have plenty of exits and fire escapes the children should be taught how to get out of any one of them. In that manner, no matter where a fire should break out, there would always be an exit through which the drilled children might pass in good order."

J. H. Bean of the board strongly advocated another inspection. "We have, undoubtedly, the safest school buildings in the country," he said "All our doors open outward and the newer buildings have doors equipped with special fire latches, that open automatically whenever the door is pushed from the inside, so that, while they are locked to outsiders, anyone inside simply has to push.

"Our stairways have been remodeled so there are no turns. So far the fire drills have been excellent. At a recent test at the Los Angeles High School the 1000 pupils were out of the building in less than two minutes. Another drill at the Sentous-street school proved that the 700 pupils there could march out in fifty-seven seconds. Our buildings are in better shape than those of any other city in the country, and yet we can't do too much. Let us by all means vary our drills and have another inspection."

Ex-Judge Bordwell, president of the board, introduced the resolution calling for immediate action along these lines. It was passed unanimously, and Supt. Francis indicated he would at once institute the new system of drills.

A Good Table and Cooking Syrup

In addition to its well-known uses as a dressing for the bread of little tots, as well as for the griddle cakes and waffles of the grown-ups, a good syrup serves many important purposes in the hands of the skilled housewife. It is one of the principal ingredients in the making of many candies and desserts, while a little dash of it has a most pleasant effect in the preparation of hundreds of other dishes.

When baking ham, if a good table syrup is substituted for brown sugar to mix with the bread crumbs and yolk of egg with which is is covered before the final browning, a finer flavor will be obtained; while brushing pastry lightly with syrup will give it that fine glaze considered so desirable.

For all of these purposes the famous brand of Karo Syrup is most strongly recommended. No less an authority than Marion Harland states: "I do not hesitate to award Karo the preference above any other table syrup used in my household."

Karo Syrup can be obtained at all modern grocers. When ordering Karo, ask for the little Karo cook book which contains hundreds of valuable recipes, many of them contributed by famous culinary experts in all parts of the country.

"FOR NEGROES OR ITALIANS."

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 28.—For the last month there has been much speculation in the residence district of Hyde Park as to who would be the next tenant of the home offered for sale "to any colored or Italian" purchaser. The owner, Mrs. Birdie Witt, wife of T. W. Witt of Pasadena, Cal., had been unable to find a purchaser for the property among the residents of the neighborhood, one of the exclusive districts of the south side. Her offer of the property to negroes or Italians came after repeated efforts to sell.

Today a telegram came from her husband telling her to donate the house to charity, saying that she had been bothered too much on account of it and declaring that he would reimburse her for it.

UNIVERSITY BONDS BRING A PREMIUM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 28.—Bids were opened today on the University of California building bond issue of $1,800,000 in the State Treasurer's office. The E. H. Rawlins Sons of San Francisco and the Kuntz Bros. of New York, who submitted a joint bid, were declared the successful bidders. Besides purchasing the bonds at par and accrued interest from July 5 last, the purchasers offered a premium of $51,552. Seven other bids were submitted.

As an evidence of the demand in which the bonds were held was the fact that every bidder offered a premium, the lowest being $29,000.

POLICE JUDGE FINES HIMSELF.

PORTLAND JURIST PLEADS GUILTY AND PAYS OVER $5 FOR SPEEDING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 28.—"You are arrested for running your automobile without lights," said Officer John H. Stevenson to Municipal Judge John H. Stevenson last night on the west approach of the steel bridge. Judge Stevenson then released himself on his own recognizance until this morning.

When he arrived at police headquarters, he swore to a complaint against himself, and his name was formally entered on the docket.

"John H. Stevenson, charged with violating the traffic ordinance," read the clerk in court. "Here," answered the judge from his bench.

"What's your plea in this case?"

"Guilty," said the judge.

"I'll fine myself $5," he added, handing the clerk a $10 piece and receiving $5 in change.

The judge said his violation of the law had been unpremeditated, but inexcusable.

CALIFORNIA BONDS IN GOOD DEMAND.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 28.—A gratifying demand for California securities was evidenced here today when $1,800,000 State university bonds were sold at a premium of $51,552. The bonds are forty-five-year serials bearing interest at 4½ per cent. They were purchased by E. H. Rollins & Sons of New York.

State Treasurer Richardson expressed himself as highly gratified with the result. "It is an indication that there is going to be a good demand for California securities this winter," he said. "There were seven other bidders, each of whom offered a fair premium. It is more remarkable as these bids are offered just at the time that the big English-French loan has been placed on the market.

"Those are bonds guaranteed by the two governments and they pay 5½ per cent. at their present market price. Think of our 4½'s selling at a premium in the face of such competition."

MRS. PAMES EXONERATED.

Woman who Chopped Peddler to Pieces in Defense of Her Honor Justified by Jury.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mary Pamies, a young bride, who confessed to the police that she killed Michael Weinstein, a crippled peddler, with an ax and then chopped his body into pieces, was exonerated by a Coroner's jury today. The jury held that the killing of Weinstein by Mrs. Pamies was justified on the ground that she was defending her honor when the attack upon the peddler was made.

Mrs. Pamies surrendered to the police October 20, stating that she had killed Weinstein two days previously. She is held in the City Prison, a charge of murder having been preferred against her by the police.

RABID COYOTE WARNING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, Oct. 28.—Rabid coyotes are in Northern California and the live stock men of that region are advised, in a warning issued today by J. C. Geiger, director of the State Hygienic Laboratory at the University of California, that the danger of an epidemic is imminent and that immediate steps should be taken for the extermination of the prairie wolves.

Dr. Geiger said that he had received many complaints of cattle having been bitten by coyotes in Modoc and Tehama counties and that cultures made by him today from a coyote killed near Cedarville, and which is known to have bitten two cows and two horses, proved that the animal was suffering from rabies.

LAUNDRY STRIKE AROUSES STOCKTON.

NEW LABOR WAR THREATENED BY UNION AGITATORS OF THE CITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STOCKTON, Oct. 28—Stockton was threatened with another labor war today when employees of both the New Method and Home Laundries went on a strike. Almost immediately afterward fifty workers formed a procession and marched through the business district.

Union leaders claim that the two laundries are not paying the wage scale agreed upon last year when the labor war was settled. The proprietors issued a statement through the Merchants,' Manufacturers', and Employers' Association denying that wages had been cut and attributing the strike to refusal on the part of the companies to enter into written agreement with their employees.

Osborn Favors Mitigation of Impost on Brandies.

Internal Revenue Official Promises His Aid.

Would Foster Big Industry, He Tells Growers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—With the declaration that the magnitude of California's wine industry had not been appreciated in Washington and the promise that he would recommend to Congress mitigation of the present impost of 35 cents a gallon on brandies necessary to the fortification of sweet and sparkling wines, W. H. Osborn, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who has been in California investigating the wine situation, left tonight for the East.

"There is still some wine made on the Hudson River," he said, "and Ohio pretends to make some wine. Also there is a vintage turned out in Virginia, but this product is as one to one thousand when compared with California's output. In the East there is no understanding either of the scope or the importance of this industry on the Coast. It should not be a matter of repression but of fostering and I believe I am safe in saying the national authorities will do everything that is right.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 31.—The "plug-ugly," the annual fight between juniors and sophomores, which has been a feature of Stanford University life since 1894, was abolished today by a decisive vote of both of the classes. CONDITIONS BETTER.

An indication of general improvement of conditions in Mexico came today in official telegrams telling that train service between Vera Cruz and Mexico City, hitherto interrupted by fighting bands, is now restored and that many conventionalist officers and troops had surrendered to the de facto government and asked amnesty.

The department was informed that Gen. Dieguez at Guaymas, the Carranza commander, has given renewed assurances regarding the protection of foreigners and their property in the Yaqui Valley and at Los Mochis. Gen. Dieguez promised that an adequate garrison would be maintained to guarantee protection. Conditions on the west coast are reported quiet.

Messages to the Mexican Embassy here said that many conventionalist soldiers who have laid down their arms are accepting amnesty and during the last few days nearly 5000 have arrived in Mexico City. Acceptance of amnesty appears to be very general throughout the southern part of the republic.

DEFENCES OF CALLES.

Gen. Calles, commanding the Carranza garrison, has built a semicircle of trenches about the town fronting southward, preparing to make his fight with his back against the international border. Several thousand additional men sent to him by Gen. Carranza will cross United States territory from Piedras Negras and Laredo by train and under guard of American troops. They will travel without arms, their weapons being collected at the border and sealed in baggage cars attached to the trains until it recrosses the line at Agua Prieta.

In making his arrangements for the impending battle Gen. Funston reported he had posted a troop of cavalry at Naco to guard the border on the western flank of Douglas, the rest of the forces ordered to the scene going to Douglas direct.

VILLA NOW AN OUTLAW.

Unofficial advices reached here today that the Villa Governor of Sonora had telegraphed a protest to the Washington government against the passage of Carranza troops across American soil. No protest has been received tonight, but officials said one would cause no surprise. Since the recognition of the Carranza party as the de facto government of Mexico, however, the Villa forces are viewed only as outlaws against that government and such a complaint would be vain.

GOV. FERGUSON PROTESTS.

Gov. Ferguson of Texas telegraphed to President Wilson today urging that he take the influence of the administration with Gen. Carranza to prevent further raids on the Texas border. The President, it was stated, will consult Secretaries Garrison and Lansing before acting.

It has been reported that Gov. Ferguson planned to call upon the President for more Federal troops to be sent to Brownsville, but no such request has been received.

H. Osborn, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who has been in California investigating the wine situation, left tonight for the East.

"There is still some wine made up on the Hudson River," he said, "and Ohio pretends to make some more. Also there is a vintage turned out in Virginia, but this product is as one to one thousand when compared with California's output. In the East there is no understanding either of the scope or the importance of this industry on the Coast. It should not be a matter of repression but of fostering and I believe I am safe in saying the national authorities will do everything that is right.

PLUG-UGLY ABOLISHED.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 28.—The "plug-ugly," the annual fight between juniors and seniors, which has been a feature of Stanford University life since 1898, was abolished today by a decisive vote of both upper classes. The seniors voted against it, 110 to 86, and the juniors, 144 to 81. One of the objections urged against its continuance was that the upper-class men used the fight to settle grudges.

FUNSTON READY FOR EMERGENCY.

Has Troops Enough to Guard American Territory.

Gov. Ferguson Asks Wilson to Stop Raids on Border.

General Mexico Conditions Showing Improvement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Maj.-Gen. Funston reported to the War Department that with the arrival at Douglas, Ariz., tomorrow morning of additional troops now en route he would be prepared to guard American territory against violation in the impending attack by Villa forces upon Agua Prieta, the Mexican town just across the border. Two batteries of field guns, two regiments of infantry and a troop of cavalry make up the reinforcements for the border patrol at Douglas.

Instructions to Gen. Funston are positive not to permit the Villa soldiers to cross into American territory for the purpose of attempting a last movement on the defenses at Agua Prieta. Artillery will be used if necessary to repel such a movement.

DEFENCES OF CALLES.

Gen. Calles, commanding the Carranza garrison, has built a semicircle of trenches about the town fronting northward, preparing to make his fight with his back against the international border. Several thousand additional men sent to him by Gen. Carranza will cross United States territory from Piedras Negras and Laredo by train and under guard of American troops. They will travel without arms, their weapons being delivered at the border and sealed in separate cars attached to the train until it recrosses the line at Agua Prieta.

In making his arrangements for the impending battle Gen. Funston reported he had posted a troop of cavalry at Naco to guard the border on the western flank of Douglas, the rest of the forces ordered to the scene going to Douglas direct.

VILLA NOW AN OUTLAW.

Unofficial advices reached here today that the Villa Governor of Sonora had telegraphed a protest to the Washington government against the passage of Carranza troops across American soil. No protest has been received tonight, but officials said one would cause no surprise. Since the recognition of the Carranza party as the de facto government of Mexico, however, the Villa forces are viewed only as outlaws against that government and such a complaint would be futile.

GOV. FERGUSON PROTESTS.

Gov. Ferguson of Texas telegraphed to President Wilson today urging that he use his influence of the administration with Gen. Carranza to prevent further raids on the Texas border. The President, it was stated, will consult Secretaries Garrison and Lansing before acting.

It has been reported that Gov. Ferguson planned to call upon the President for more Federal troops to be sent to Brownsville, but no such request has been received.

CONDITIONS BETTER.

An indication of general improvement of conditions in Mexico came today in official telegrams telling that train service between Vera Cruz and Mexico City, hitherto interrupted by bandit bands, is now restored and that many conventionalist officers and troops had surrendered to the de facto government and asked amnesty.

The department was informed that Gen. Diegusz at Guaymas, the Carranza commander, has given renewed assurances regarding the protection of foreigners and their property in the Yaqui Valley and at Los Mochis. Gen. Diegues promised that an adequate garrison would be maintained to guarantee protection. Conditions on the west coast are reported quiet.

Messages to the Mexican Embassy here said that many conventionalist soldiers who have laid down their arms are accepting amnesty and during the last few days nearly 5000 have arrived in Mexico City. Acceptance of amnesty appears to be very general throughout the southern part of the republic.

REINFORCEMENTS BY CARRANZA.

EAGLE PASS, Oct. 28.—Movement of reinforcements for the Carranza garrison of Agua Prieta, Sonora, began here tonight under permission of the United States War Department by which 5000 soldiers, with mounts and artillery, will travel through American territory from Eagle Pass to Douglas, Ariz. Twenty cars of live stock left Eagle Pass tonight and the troops will depart tomorrow. The cost of the troop movement to the de facto government will be $125,000.

All Ready.

MORE TROOPS AT DOUGLAS.

PART OF SEVENTH REGIMENT ON DUTY AT BORDER.

Arrival of These Soldiers Gives Gen. Funston 6500 Men to Guard the American Side During the Expected Attack on Agua Prieta by Villa.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 28.—The First Battalion of the Seventh United States Infantry arrived here tonight from El Paso to reinforce the United States border patrol during the pending attack on Agua Prieta, opposite here, by Villa forces invading Sonora. One section of the Twentieth Infantry was expected to arrive during the night.

A shortage of passenger cars at El Paso necessitated the return of the railroad equipment to bring the remainder of the two regiments.

Batteries C and D of the Sixth Field Artillery were to reach here before morning from Nogales. The arrival of these troops will make a total of sixteen 3-inch field pieces and approximately 6500 United States soldiers on guard in this vicinity.

Gen. T. F. Davis of the Sixth Infantry Brigade will be in command of the United States soldiers until the arrival of Maj.-Gen. Funston, who will come here shortly, according to reports from military sources.

Gen. Calles, Carranza commander at Agua Prieta, is expecting an attack by the Villa forces at any time, but reports from authoritative sources say that the invaders are exhausted from their long march into Sonora, necessitating a rest of a day or two before closing in on Agua Prieta.

The attack probably will begin Saturday night or early Sunday, many military men believe.

IMPROVING DEFENSES.

In the meantime the garrison of Gen. Calles is working day and night improving the interior defenses of the Mexican town. Additional breastworks and connecting trenches are being dug and street barricades strengthened.

The United States soldiers, too, were preparing for any emergency that may arise. Camps were being arranged and the artillery being placed in the most advantageous positions commanding the international border.

Besides the preparations at Agua Prieta to repel the Villa soldiers, hospital facilities there were being increased. Six first-aid underground stations have been prepared near the town plaza.

These stations, or dugouts, have been roofed with steel rails covered with several feet of earth, making them bombproof. They also are connected with a series of outer trenches and equipped with telephones and electric lights.

Dr. J. I. Hollingsworth, in charge of the Red Cross work, has been given permission to bring those seriously wounded to Douglas in the event of a long battle at Agua Prieta.

Gen. Benjamin Hill of the Carranza army arrived tonight with a number of his staff from Laredo. He will remain in Douglas tonight and join the Agua Prieta garrison tomorrow.

TO UNIFY SPECIE.

GALVESTON (Tex.) Oct. 28.—The Carranza government has appointed a commission to unify the issuance of notes and to regulate specie reserves. This commission also will have supervision of banks and other institutions and will have power to recommend liquidation or bankruptcy proceedings when found necessary. This information is contained in a cablegram received from Mexico City by the local Constitutionalist Consul today.

The message adds that Gen. Carranza shortly will issue a decree granting amnesty to all Mexicans, regardless of political affiliation or class, except those implicated in the death of President Madero and Vice-President Suarez, and certain bandit leaders.

The order permitting coastwise shipping to be conducted free of taxation has been extended until next February.

ANOTHER VILLA BLUFF.

NOGALES (Ariz.) Oct. 28.—Carlos Randall, Villa Governor of Sonora, protested today against the transportation of Carranza troops through the United States from Laredo, Tex., to Douglas, Ariz., according to officials here. He telegraphed his objections to the State Department at Washington.

Gov. Randall stated later that he had telegraphed Secretary Lansing that if the permit for the Carranza troops to cross the border were not revoked he feared he would "be unable to guarantee the safety of American lives and property in Sonora."

He said he doubted his ability to control the Villa soldiers and Yaqui Indians who were angered at the news.

SEIZE VILLA CARS.

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 28.—Two hundred and eight cars of the National Railways of Mexico, some loaded, intended for transfer from the United States into Villa territory at Juarez, have been held under injunction proceedings brought today in the District Court by Andreas Garcia, Consul for the Carranza government. The proceedings were directed against the El Paso Southern and the Rio Grande and El Paso railroads.

MEXICAN MINES RESUME WORK.

LAREDO (Tex.) Oct. 28.—Resumption of industrial activities in Mexico was evidenced today by the arrival of a trainload of kalsomine from the mines at Higueres, State of San Luis Potosi, at Nuevo Laredo. The train was operated by the miners' company, which expects to ship daily to American refining plants. Today's was the first train operated in more than a year.

SUMMONS SERVED ON THAW'S WIFE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 28.—After escaping once during the afternoon through a ruse by which the process server mistook her negro maid for herself, Evelyn Nesbit was finally served tonight with the summons in divorce proceedings instigated by her husband, Harry Thaw, who recently won his freedom from custody of this State for the murder of Stanford White. The service occurred at the Alhambra Theater, where Miss Nesbit and her dancing partner, Jack Clifford, are appearing this week, and was made by J. Austin Fynes, a personal representative of ex-Gov. Stone, of Pennsylvania, Thaw's attorney in the action.

Evelyn Nesbit took the summons philosophically, merely remarking:

"Well, I suppose it had to come some time, so it might as well be now as later on."

Outrage.

VILLA OFFICER KILLS AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 28.—Charles Boone of Rodey, N. M., was killed yesterday by a Villa officer at Guzman, seventy-five miles from Juarez, according to a report reaching here today, brought by Boone's partner, James Welsh, who escaped from Guzman on a locomotive.

Boone is the second American cattleman to be killed in Western Chihuahua by Villa soldiers. James Parker, a cattleman well known here, was executed near Guzman a week ago, according to reports since confirmed. The soldiers accused him of stealing cattle. He was endeavoring to round up a herd and bring it to the border for American owners.

"Boone and I were bringing a shipment of stock to the border," said James Welsh on his arrival here. "Our train was stopped at Guzman and Villa soldiers came out from the station. They saw Boone first and dragged him from the train, telling him they were going to kill him. He said to me as they were leading him off, 'It's all up with me now.' They had gone only a few steps when Col. Hernandez gave the order for Boone's murder and an officer fired at him. I saw Boone fall and struggle a couple of times. Then they said they were going to search the train for more 'gringoes.'"

Soldiers, acting, it is said, under Villa orders, are slaughtering thousands of cattle in Northern Mexico.

knew something about a letter of thanks which was forwarded to Editor Rowell of the Fresno Republican for the valuable service he rendered in the defeat of the anti-party bills. In addition to a number of editorials which helped the anti-party cause immensely Rowell was obliging enough to come to San Francisco and furnish the clouded landscape necessary to give the fullest effect to an oratorial display by Sam Shortridge in a debate on the merits of the bills.

Mr. Shortridge has been assured by many that this was the finest oratorical effort of his political career. "That was a case where the evidence was all on my side," protested Shortridge to some of his admirers yesterday. "I enjoyed that debate hugely; but not so much as I do the verdict which the people as the jury have rendered. I am proud of San Francisco; but the party bandits had been licked here before.

"That the Southern California vote was a distinct triumph for the members of the Old Guard, with the Los Angeles Times right at the front, leading the fight, I suspect that the drubbing from The Times was the bitterest blow of the whole campaign to the 'Progressive' champion, when he went south for the purpose of making a personal campaign of it. The Times made a splendid fight from the outset. California is fortunate in having a stanch Republican paper in each of its four leading cities, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and San Diego. They were the heavy artillery of the campaign, and their shells seem to have completely wrecked the fortresses of the opposition."

JORDAN ALL SMILES.

Secretary of State Jordan is flitting between San Francisco and Sacramento like a breezy, expansive smile. Jordan was a target of administration abuse in almost every campaign speech made by the members of the pay roll brigade. The splendid vote by which the administration was repudiated is an indorsement almost equal to the big vote he received at the general election last fall. Jordan ran away ahead of the Governor in the general election. He opposed most of the administration measures in the present campaign, and in every case the voters were with him and against the chief executive.

"I told them when they started those bills in the Legislature they would know they had been in a fight before they put them over," chuckled Jordan this afternoon. "It was fine shooting while they were bagging enough votes in the Legislature, but when they went out to the people they soon ran short of ammunition.

"Gov. Johnson came back to Sacramento last night looking about as happy as a fellow who had just been jilted by his best girl. He went south to take personal charge of that campaign which The Times and the joint party committee were waging there. He was well loaded with abuse, but The Times had the facts and figures on their side, and the returns show what they did to him. Waterloo was only a picnic party beside it."

Assemblyman Cary is regarded here as one of the heroes of the campaign. Cary went to the Legislature from his district with a 'Progressive' indorsement; but he broke away from the administration when he saw the way patronage was traded for votes in the Assembly. The 'Progressives' made a personal campaign to beat him in his district at the special election, but he emerged as a 2-to-1 victor. Some of his admirers are already suggesting him as available Senatorial timber.

Secretary McPike of the joint party committee was one of the hardest workers in the campaign; he became prominent as a leading Democrat almost over night. Republican members of the committee are expressing regret that they will have to go against him in the State and national election next year. McPike is a splendid organizer; for a Democrat he is a wonder.

An amusing feature of the end of the campaign is an effort on the part of certain Democrats holding Federal positions to explain that they were misquoted in interviews run by the "Progressive" papers on the eve of the election. They have not been very happy in their attempts to explain away how they held back their protests until the election was over.

SUFFRAGISTS EXCLUSIVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PEORIA (Ill.) Oct. 28.—Outlining the policies of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association in convention here, Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president, tonight declared against any alliance with either wet or dry factions in this State; urged the election of officers who would prosecute the efforts of the organization to obtain full suffrage for the women of Illinois and ridiculed attacks on the constitutionality of the present suffrage law.

Mrs. Harrison Monroe Brown's nomination during the morning session means her unopposed election to the State presidency.

M'ADOO A REPUBLICAN?

Falls in Line with Party's Idea to Keep Tariff Out of Politics in the Future.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HELENA (Mont.) Oct. 28.—Efforts of the administration at Washington to prevent certain fundamental questions, such as the tariff, from being the battledore and shuttlecock of party politics, were emphasized here today by Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo at a breakfast tendered him by State officials and prominent citizens of Montana.

"We are trying," said Mr. McAdoo, "to take certain fundamental questions out of politics so that they may not be party questions in the future as they have been in the past. Among them is the tariff.

"Politicians have gone up and down the country," he continued, "telling us that their particular party could bring prosperity. First it was the Republicans, then the Democrats. The politicians have been playing this game of seesaw to get offices, but their predictions and promises are all bunk. We have not had any real prosperity in the United States for ten years because our business outgrew the flimsy system which we have been talking about correcting for thirty years, but which we did not get to until President Wilson insisted on Congress taking up as soon as the tariff bill was out of the way."

PEDDLER KILLS JUSTICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOULDER (Colo.) Oct. 28.—Victor Hilburg, aged 50, Justice of the Peace at Louisville, was shot and killed on the streets late today by Frank Balesteri, an Italian gardener. Earlier in the day Hilburg is said to have threatened Balesteri with arrest unless he paid a peddler's license. After the shooting Balesteri jumped into his wagon and disappeared armed with a high-power rifle. Residents of Louisville fear additional shooting before Balesteri is arrested.

MURDER-SUICIDE, MUELLER THEORY.

LOS ANGELES MAN CONTESTS BROTHER'S WILL ON NEW GROUNDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—The fight over the manner in which Capt. R. W. Mueller of the Governor's staff and his wife met their death has become the chief feature of the coming will contest between Robert Mueller of Los Angeles and Carl Mueller of San Francisco. When the bill is offered for probate, Attorney Henry F. Cochems, representing the Los Angeles man, who is a son, will claim that Capt. Mueller killed his wife and himself.

He will be supported in this claim by Dist.-Atty. J. W. Kelly, the prosecutor of Green Lake county, where the Mueller home was located, and where they were slain. Kelly has been unable to get evidence sufficient to cause any arrests, and he is now convinced it was a case of murder and suicide. If this is proved, Capt. Mueller's will, leaving his property to his wife, and after her death to his mother and then his brother, will be invalid, as Mrs. Mueller would have died first. Carl Mueller has decided to maintain that it was a double murder, but he is represented here by his wife, who is remaining silent through the controversy. The property amounts to about $50,000.

TRY NEGRO CONVICT.

JOLIET (Ill.) Oct. 28.—Joseph Campbell, the negro convict accused of the murder on June 20, of Mrs. Mazie Odette Allen, wife of Edmund M. Allen, who was at that time warden of the State prison here, was placed on trial today before Judge Hooper.

Drive Catarrh Germs From Nose and Throat

Only Way to Really End Catarrh is to Destroy the Germs Causing It.

The germs of catarrh breed, thrive and multiply by the million far up in the air passages of the nose, throat and lungs of every catarrh victim. You cannot get rid of the disease until you get rid of the germs. You can't kill germs with ointments or lotions or blood purifiers.

There is just one safe, sensible and invariably reliable way to reach and destroy catarrh germs and thus stop catarrh forever. Breathe into your nose, throat and lungs the medicated, germ-killing air of Hyomei which is made from the pure, healing oil of Eucalyptus combined with powerful germicidal ingredients which are certain death to every catarrh germ they reach. The air of Hyomei breathed deeply is so penetrating it reaches into every nook, corner and crevice of your nose, throat and lungs where germs can possibly hide or breed. It's an easy treatment. You'll like to breathe Hyomei. Its odor and effect is pleasant to everyone but the mischief-making germs themselves. They don't like it, simply can't stand it and are completely driven from your body, taking Catarrh itself with them. Hyomei is a standard preparation recognized by physicians and druggists everywhere. It is so well thought of here that The Owl Drug Company and many other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it with an absolute guarantee of successful cure or money back. No catarrh sufferer therefore assumes any risk in giving it a trial. Tear this notice out of the paper now and show it to your druggist as you ask for Hyomei. Be sure to ask him for the complete Hyomei outfit as this contains an inhaling device which is very necessary to use to get the best results.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 28.—In spite of unusual efforts at secrecy, it became known this afternoon that a suit for separation was filed in the County Clerk's office by Mrs. Edith Hammersley Roosevelt against John Ellis Roosevelt, first cousin of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and lawyer at No. 44 Pine street. He is a son of Robert B. Roosevelt, at one time American Minister to the Hague.

MURDER CASES TRANSFERRED.

Seven Men Accused of Killing Maj. Lester will be Tried at Castle Rock Instead of Walsenburg.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

Announcement was made today that a stipulation had been filed providing the transfer of this case and for the transfer of all other so-called strike cases from Walsenburg to some other district still undetermined. The one case will be called in the District Court at Castle Rock November 8, when probably it will be set for trial. The defendants are Arthur Quinn, William Wooton, Arthur Wooton, Ike Savage, James O'Neill, Fred Garcia and E. Muir.

BERLIN DEFENDS SLAV OFFICER.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (via Tuckerton, N. J.)—Denial that Lieut.-Col. Miassoyedoff, an interpreter of the staff of the Russian Tenth Army, who, some time ago, was hanged as a German spy, was ever, in fact, a spy for the Germans as charged, is made by the official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. The newspaper as quoted by the Overseas News Agency refers to a new discussion regarding the case recently opened in the French and English press and asserts that Lieut.-Col. Miassoyedoff "was innocent if he really was sentenced for spying in the German service, since neither he nor those associated with him ever gave information to Germany or Austria-Hungary."

The newspaper adds that it would have been useless to make any declaration of the nature of the present one before the execution of the accused.

Arthur Le Sueur, vice-president of the People's College of Fort Scott, Kan., explained that the first step in the plan must be the affiliation of the farmers and the workingmen. After that, he said, would be municipal markets and producers' stores where the middleman's profit would be eliminated.

An elaborate Kirmesse will be staged by the German-Austrian Red Cross Relief Association December 11 and 12 at Shrine Auditorium. This affair, while it promises to be along the same lines as the one held last year will rival it in the variety and attractiveness of the entertainment afforded.

A large committee has been selected to arrange the various features of the celebration, and are fast shaping up the general plans. One of the particular attractions, as was the case last year, will be the great pageant of musical heroes and heroines of the Fatherland.

DIES BECAUSE OF FLYER'S BRAVERY.

MOODY MAN WATCHES BALLOON, ADMIRES NERVE AND TAKES POISON.

Hubert Kittle's exhibition of nerve in riding over the city in a balloon at an altitude of 5000 feet was so startling to O. M. Roth, No. 442 West Forty-seventh street, that he thought everyone should have the courage to do what he wished to do. So he indulged himself by taking his life, swallowing poison in a rooming-house at No. 611 East Fifth street.

For months Mr. Roth, who was retired, had been contemplating taking his life. But he postponed the date.

Yesterday he came downtown to do some shopping, still undetermined.

And as he was passing along the street, he glimpsed high in the heavens Hubert M. Kittle playing on the edge of a basket suspended a mile in the air. He was so impressed by the startling courage of the aeronaut, that he walked over to a drug store and bought some poison.

Then he entered the lodging-house. To the landlady he said: "That balloon fellow has surely got a lot of courage, hasn't he?"

"Yes, indeed," said the landlady.

"Well, if he can take a chance like that, I guess I can," was the cryptic remark of the lodger, as he started for his room.

And soon came noises of distress that brought investigation, and Roth was hurried to the Receiving Hospital, but he was dead when he reached there. The body was taken to the Bresee morgue.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

Geneva E. Barnes, a housewife, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday. She gives her liabilities at $3867.84 and her assets at $743.97. The principal creditor is Mrs. Maude Leberman, for the rent of the Matthias apartment-house at Eighteenth and Flower streets. G. A. Murdock, a farmer of Tulare, also filed a petition in bankruptcy. He owes $17,737.85, and his assets, amounting to $3050, he claims as exempt. His chief creditors are banks in Santa Ana, Corcoran and Tulare. He lists sixty-five shares of the California Seed Growers' Company, which he declares worthless.

SEEKING FOREIGN ORDERS.

C. B. Eyer, president of the Golden State Woolen Mills Company, has started on a business trip to Europe. He will leave New York tomorrow for London, sailing on the American liner St. Paul. The Golden State mills are working day and night shifts on a portion of a large war order placed in this country, and the present trip of Mr. Eyer is expected to result in securing other orders along this line.

AT SINAI TEMPLE.

Dr. Liknatz will address Congregation Sinai on "The Syagogue as a Social Center," this evening. T. C. Barr will sing. "A Mother's Influence" will be the subject of Dr. Liknatz's discourse at 9:30 tomorrow morning. The synagogue choir will furnish special music at both services.

BROKE OUT IN SMALL PIMPLES
Distressing Sensation. So Bad Could Hardly Endure It.
HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My family was all troubled with an itching which broke out in small pimples and caused a distressing sensation. The pimples were in a very small festered spot and itched until one could not resist scratching, and when scratched they caused a large sore eruption. The clothing irritated the eruption and they finally became so bad that we could hardly endure it.

"Then we bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In one week the itching was stopped and in less than a month we were healed." (Signed) Mrs. Chas. Rasmussen, Box 32, Downey, Idaho, Feb. 1, 1915.

Ninth of Series at Exposition Park Gallery This Afternoon — Results are Satisfactory.

The final lecture in a series given by the California Art Club will be delivered this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Miss Alma May Cook in the gallery at Exposition Park. How to Heal Skin-Diseases

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again. Sample free, Dept. 8-R. Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

TRAGEDIES OF MOSLEM WOMEN.

Feminine Orator Stirs Great Missionary Meeting.

Describes Ills of Millions of Her Sex.

Methodist Convention Opened by Bishop's Wife.

The wrongs suffered by the 100,000,000 Moslem women of the world were portrayed to a sympathetic audience of 2000 Christian women by Mrs. Lena Leonard Fisher, a logical and dramatic speaker, last evening at the international convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which opened yesterday morning in Trinity Auditorium. An aggregate of about 3000 persons attended the various sessions of the conference yesterday. About 1000 out-of-town visitors were present.

Mrs. Fisher's inspiring address came as an appropriate climax to a day devoted to the consideration of mission-ary enterprises. Bishop Frank W. Gunsaulus, who has spent twenty-six years in India, had charge of the communion service in the afternoon. Mrs. William F. McDowell, president of the society and wife of Bishop McDowell, presided at the conference sessions.

Speaking on "Islam as I Saw It in North Africa," Mrs. Fisher told of polygamy, child marriages, divorce, capital punishment and other evils endured by the women in Mohammedan lands. The speaker comes from a missionary family and was fitted by birth and training to give an honest and sympathetic review of conditions in non-Christian countries.

MRS. FISHER'S ADDRESS.

"If American women knew what I know about oriental religions they would do more to promote them in this country," Mrs. Fisher declared. "It is ignorance of conditions in the Orient that makes the religions of those countries attractive to the women of this country.

"Mohammedanism goes down before the light of Christianity, but Mohammedanism stands like a wall against Christianity. Mohammedanism numbers more converts by the thousands. It is the greatest missionary religion in the world, far exceeding Christianity in particular.

The duties required of the Mohammedans by their religion are the recitation of the creed, prayers five times daily, the giving of alms, fasting, and the pilgrimage to Mecca.

"This faith has the shortest creed of any of the religions. It is this: 'I testify that God is God and that Mohammed is His prophet.' The Moslems never tire of repeating this creed. They use it as a battle cry, women sing it to their sleepy children, it is sung at weddings and funerals.

"The Mohammedan is very faithful to pray. I wonder how many Americans would constantly pray five times a day. The giving of alms is the most neglected duty. The day of fasting, when food or drink are not touched from sun-up to sun-down, is followed by a night of revelry and excesses.

SHOW'S SIXTH DAY IS BEST.

Van Nuys Ladies Establish Criterion of Beauty.

Wonderful New Rose will be Exhibited Today.

Centerpiece of Most Lavish Display of Posies.

Bigger, brighter, fresher, and even more complete, the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show passed its sixth great day with another record crowd enjoying its beauties and novelties. Each day the show has been augmented by some additional exhibit, so that those persons who were present last night saw a much larger and finer exhibition than on the opening night, although at that time an improvement was thought impossible by the enthusiastic first-night audience.

It was "Van Nuys night," and the third floor was turned over to the fifty ladies of that city. Since the opening of the exhibition the city of Van Nuys has maintained a wonderfully-decorated bower of flowers in one section of the third floor. Every day fresh floral decorations took the place of the posies of the day before. And every flower or shrub used came from the gardens of Van Nuys, or along the boulevards intersecting that city.

Despite the criterion of beauty established during the first five days by the ladies directing this exhibit, the decorations last night far surpassed any seen before, and caused those who were present to compare the floral masterpiece developed with the horticultural exhibits at the two world's fairs, the comparison favoring the Van Nuys exhibit.

Every person who passed near the wonderfully-designed bower was presented with a Van Nuys rose. More than 5000 of these roses were distributed during the evening.

CONTESTS ATTRACT.

Although the specially-decorated Van Nuys exhibit attracted by far the greatest attention of the evening at the flower show, other exhibits came in for their share of the enthusiastic praise meted out by the large audience. Great interest was evidenced in the contests held yesterday.

Competition was keen in the amateur classes of roses and chrysanthemums. Superintendent of Parks Shearer, Alex Urquhart and A. A. Hunt, who acted as judges, were obliged to score closely on points to decide some of the awards. The following were winners:

Best twenty-four roses, first, Mrs. Frank Lewin; second, Mrs. M. E. Jones; third, Joseph Stark. Best twelve roses, first, Mrs. Gertrude Loennecker; second, Mrs. Frank Lewin; third, Mrs. A. F. Giroux.

Best three pink chrysanthemums, first, L. Frank Baum; second, Mrs. G. H. Wood; third, Mrs. W. E. Stormer. Best red, first and second, Theo-

ARREST FOLLOWS DEAL IN STOCKS.

INVESTMENT BROKER ACCUSED, GAINS FREEDOM UNDER HEAVY BONDS.

The arrest of John A. Merrill, an investment broker, followed the filing of a suit yesterday by I. N. Inskeep for the recovery of $5000 growing out of an investment in stocks. Mr. Merrill was released on $5000 bonds, his sureties, C. Q. Stanton and the latter's son, Herbert Stanton, qualifying before Judge Jackson. The arrest was made under a section of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Mr. Merrill stated that on the advice of his counsel, E. A. Miller, who is out of the city, he would decline to discuss the suit, but would make his defense at the trial. He declared the allegations of misrepresentations would be refuted. Mr. Stanton stated that Mr. Merrill had himself lost heavily in the stock and that he believed in his integrity. Mr. Merrill is the head of J. A. Merrill & Sons.

The complaint follows a contract entered into in February, 1913, by which Mr. Inskeep purchased $15,000 worth of stock of the United States Gas Producers Company for $5000. This purchase was made, Mr. Inskeep alleges, through Attorneys Fish and Alderson, after Mr. Merrill had made various representations concerning the company and its financial prospects.

These representations include, it is alleged, that the corporation owned patents for converting crude oil into gas and that by this process consumers would save 75 per cent. of the cost of operating engines; that the corporation had all the orders it could possibly fill, and that additional profits would be derived from the installation and operation of plants.

Mr. Inskeep was told, he said, that Mr. Merrill had invested from $75,000 to $100,000 in the corporation; that the latter had no debts and owned 375 acres between Mt. Washington and Highland Park. There was also an alleged agreement by which Mr. Inskeep was to be employed six months at a salary of $100 a month.

FAIR'S SECOND YEAR ASSURED.

Los Angeles will Guarantee Her Share Tomorrow.

Twenty-three Thousand is Added to the Fund.

Plan to Levy Two-cent Tax Against any Deficit.

Los Angeles will give its answer to San Diego tomorrow on the proposition to continue the Panama-California Exposition through 1916. The answer will be "Yes."

This was assured yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the San Diego Exposition Committee at the Alexandria and by liberal subscriptions, including $13,000 from the Southern California Hotel Men's Association and $10,000 from the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association.

Both of these subscriptions are divided equally between the cash and the guarantee fund. In the case of the subscription by the hotel men, it is merely the first installment on a contribution that is expected to finally total $20,000. The subscription by the Clearinghouse Association will be pro-rated among the banks, subject to their individual approval.

With the subscriptions received yesterday there is now $55,881 assured towards the two funds of $75,000 each, with many large interests yet to be heard from and the campaign still in its infancy.

A meeting of the executive committee has been called for tomorrow noon at the Chamber of Commerce. In the interim, chairmen of sub-committees are expected to shape their campaigns to such definiteness that either the $150,000 desired will have been subscribed or assured.

Under a plan of payment unfolded yesterday by Henry J. Penfold of the directorate of the Panama-California Exposition, there is no reason to believe, as Vice-President Jess of the First National Bank pointed out, that Los Angeles will be recreant to its just duty of perpetuating the exposition.

FINANCIAL PLAN.

It is that 25 per cent. of the cash fund be made available for the use of the exposition management, November 1, another 25 per cent December 1, and similar percentages January 1, and February 1, of the coming year. This money will be used to secure and install additional foreign exhibits and for redecorating the exposition buildings and replanting the grounds. As for the guarantee fund. Mr. Penfold suggested that Los Angeles obligate

FORDS ARRIVE AND GO AGAIN.

TRAVEL ON TO SAN DIEGO BUT WILL RETURN HERE NEXT WEEK.

The Ford party arrived yesterday in their private car, "Washington," and within a few minutes most of the party was on the way to San Diego, where they will attend the exposition. They will return to Los Angeles Sunday or Monday.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, their son, Edsal Ford; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bryant, the former a brother-in-law of Mr. Ford; Mr. and Mrs. Dupee T. Wilcox, the former a wholesale jeweler of Providence, R. I.; Dupee Flint, the eastern agent for the Ford cars, and H. Graves, Pacific Coast agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant did not proceed with the party to San Diego, but went to Altadena to be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Wright, who are Mrs. Bryant's parents.

RAILWAYS CLASH IN TAX DISPUTE.

JOINT USE OF LINE CAUSE OF FRICTION AIRED IN COURT ACTION.

A dispute over taxes growing out of the joint use of the railway line between Colton and Daggett will be aired in the courts through a suit filed yesterday by the Salt Lake against the Santa Fe. The Salt Lake is demanding the return of $74,900, paid under protest. Attached to the complaint is a copy of the contract entered into between President Clark of the Salt Lake and President Ripley of the Santa Fe, making public the working arrangement between the lines.

The Santa Fe leased the line to the Salt Lake for their joint use in April, 1905. The contract provides that the Salt Lake shall pay the Santa Fe $48,782.38 a year in quarterly payments. In addition the Salt Lake pays 2½ per cent. a year on the cost of all additions and betterments. This latter amount is intended to be a proportionate amount of the interest on the bonds from the proceeds of which the line was built. The Salt Lake is required to pay half of the taxes and assessments levied and its proportion of the maintenance expense up to $1200 a mile.

The Santa Fe notified the Salt Lake, the complaint states, that the latter had failed to pay its proportionate share of the taxes from 1911 to 1914. It is further stated in the notice that if the taxes were not paid within thirty days, the lease would be terminated.

The Salt Lake alleges that the sum is not owing and that the notice and demand was "an unlawful constraint and intimidation." It, however, paid the taxes under protest, and is seeking through the courts to recover the sum.

BOURBON FLUKE WON'T BE HID.

FINANCIAL PINCH CROPS OUT IN WORDS OF CLARK.

Blames it on the European War and Talks of Four Possible Remedies—Tariff on Sugar may Remain, the Speaker Hints—Panama Canal Bonds.

That the Democratic administration is hard pressed for funds to run the nation and is becoming desperate in the matter of increasing revenues, is implied in statements made yesterday by Speaker Champ Clark of the House of Representatives, the first statement along this line he has made since he came West.

At the Alexandria yesterday afternoon Speaker Clark admitted that even the pet hobby of President Wilson, the removal of tariff on sugar, may be "kicked around," and that this tariff may remain. He would not go into a general discussion of tariff and the changing attitude of the Democratic leaders on this subject.

"I couldn't within four hours begin to tell you about what should and should not be done with this problem, and I won't discuss it," said the big southern Congressman, as he emphatically waved his hand.

"On account of this frightful war in Europe there has been a deficiency in the revenue. If it were not for the war there would be no disarrangement of business conditions, and this country would have abundant income.

"The revenue might be large enough now if it were not for the fact that everybody wants this country prepared for war. You can't build battleships, submarines and aeroplanes and increase the army and navy without money. Preparedness means greater expenditures for defense than ever before.

"As long as the war goes on business cannot right itself. Deficiencies will continue, no matter what the tariff might be raised to, owing to the falling off of imports. While our exports show tremendous gains, our imports have fallen below those of many years past.

"There are four measures which the administration can adopt to in-

LEGAL WAYS TO HARNESS 'BOS.

"Commission for Regulation of Tramps" Organized.

All of Southern California Represented Thereon.

Delegates Consider Means to Relieve Unemployed.

Two meetings of importance to every section of Southern California were held in this city yesterday. They had to do with keeping the hobo problem down to a minimum and to finding employment for worthy men and women who need work.

"The Southern California Counties' Committee on Tramp Regulation" is the name given to the first meeting of yesterday, which is the third meeting to consider the hobo problem.

All of the counties of Southern California with the exception of Imperial and Santa Barbara were represented by delegations. It now appears certain that every one of the eight southern counties will join in the proposed co-operative movement to place Southern California in a cage and keep out the brake-beam tourists.

The plans evolved a week ago, providing for the placing of stockades at the gateways to this part of the State—at a point opposite Yuma, at Needles, at Barstow and at a point on the Southern Pacific coast line at the northerly part of Santa Barbara county—with rockpiles upon which the hobos shall be compelled to work after having been arrested for vagrancy—were the ones that the delegates have strongly favored. It has been proposed that the expense of maintaining these and the extra guards that would be needed to watch all trains at these gateways and at division points should be borne jointly by the eight Southern California counties on a basis pro-rated according to their assessed valuation.

LEGAL DIFFICULTIES.

There appear to be some legal difficulties in the way of this plan, and it may have to be modified. Various district attorneys sent word by delegates yesterday that the plan as originally proposed could not be carried out legally. Then it was decided to try to make the plan fit the legal requirements. The district attorneys themselves are to be called upon to devise the proper method.

At yesterday forenoon's meeting a delegation composed of Supervisor Norton, Chief of Police Snively and Mayor Ford of Riverside was selected to interview County Counsel Hill and District Attorney Woolwine on the subject. They returned to the meeting with the information that the district attorneys of all of the eight Southern California counties will be invited to meet in the Board of Supervisors' rooms next Thursday at 10 o'clock for the purpose of outlining just what procedure can be taken that will stand the test of legality.

Then at 2 o'clock of the same afternoon the Committee on Tramp Regulation will meet to receive this decision and to proceed with its work. The members expressed confidence yesterday that the general features of the cage plan for Southern California will be carried out, and that a way will be found to provide for the joint payment of the expenses, which appears to be the particular legal stumbling block.

The delegations at yesterday's meeting were:

Riverside county—Oscar Ford, Mayor of Riverside; H. H. May and Thomas Hamner.

Ventura county—T. S. Clark, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; Supervisor C. C. Perkins and Sheriff E. G. Martin.

It is expected that Imperial and Santa Barbara counties will have delegations present at the meeting next Thursday, as every part of Southern California is vitally interested in reaching a solution of the hobo problem at the earliest possible date.

ON UNEMPLOYED.

As soon as the sessions of the Committee on Tramp Regulation were closed there assembled a meeting of delegates from various Southern California cities to discuss the advisability of establishing free employment bureaus to co-operate with the municipal-State-Federal bureau of Los Angeles.

This resulted in an indorsement of the work being done by this organization, and the adoption of a resolution recommending that every incorporated city of Southern California form a free employment bureau to give the most thorough co-operation possible to the Los Angeles bureau, to the end that all may keep advised of the labor situation in each locality and that labor may be judiciously distributed.

SEE FOR THEMSELVES.

After the general situation was discussed and the necessity of co-operation in the effort to secure employment for actual residents of Southern California first, then for transients as far as possible, the gathering accepted an invitation to witness the actual workings of the Los Angeles free employment bureau.

Both the Broadway and the Franklin-street sections were visited by the entire delegation, and the workings of the bureau, with the results obtained, were fully set forth. Reports of the work accomplished will be taken home by each of the delegates.

An interesting feature that 'developed yesterday was that during the past week the Los Angeles bureau has provided work for more than 3000 persons, and that it was estimated in this week alone the bureau has saved to these fully $18,000 that would otherwise have been paid to professional employment agencies to obtain these places.

Returning to the Chamber of Commerce, where the meetings were held, the assemblage resumed its deliberations. Supt. Donoho of the Los Angeles bureau gave a talk on the plans matured for the city-State-Federal bureau, which it is hoped to have in full operation by the latter part of November or early in December, and the discussions that followed showed how it is possible for the free employment bureaus proposed for the smaller incorporated cities to work directly in line with these plans, and thus benefit every community of Southern California.

It was decided to send to the Mayor of each city the full report of the proceedings and the resolution calling upon all cities to organize the free employment bureaus. This is also to be backed by a campaign of publicity of the plans proposed, so that there may be a general interest awakened in the support of these bureaus, and a little later another general meeting will be called to further advance the entire scheme.

Chairman Ford was authorized to appoint an executive committee of five, of which Supt. Donoho is to be one member, and the next meeting will be at the call of the chairman and this committee.

RECONCILIATION AT PRISON GATE.

CHILDREN FORGIVE A FATHER WHO KILLED MOTHER; LIFE SENTENCE.

On the eve of his departure for San Quentin prison, Pat Lamay, who murdered his wife, became reconciled yesterday with three of his children and the estrangement with four others may be terminated today.

Lamay was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment by Judge Craig. For slaying his wife, Lamay was bitterly opposed by his seven children, or at least by those who were old enough to understand that he had robbed them of a mother.

Yesterday, Elizabeth, the eldest child, 20 years old; Harley, 8, and Ralph, 2, visited the County Jail on a business errand connected with some of Lamay's effects. It was while they were there that Mrs. Valeria Turner, No. 2310 Tropico avenue, was calling upon Judge Craig, shortly after he had passed sentence upon Lamay.

Mrs. Turner learned of the predicament of the seven Lamay children and suggested to Judge Craig that her home on Tropico avenue had a number of things running around it, but no children. She expressed a desire to give some of the Lamay children a home.

Mrs. Turner visited Lamay in his cell at the County Jail. His three children were about to leave and had said no farewell and had not become reconciled. Lamay was in tears. He begged his children to forgive him, but the eldest daughter led the younger ones away. It was then that Mrs. Turner assumed the role of peacemaker.

She talked to the Lamay children and to their father and finally there was a family reunion. Lamay gave a farewell hug to each of his children, threw in one for good measure to Mrs. Turner, and prepared to go to prison for the remainder of his life.

Mrs. Turner arranged to take the four youngest Lamay children and give them a home.

Elderly Lottery King Pleads Guilty to Two Conspiracy Charges and Gets a Jail Sentence.

W. H. H. Young, the elderly man who confessed he had sold lottery tickets for twenty-six years, and who pleaded guilty to two indictments in the Federal Court on a charge of using the mails in a conspiracy scheme, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Trippet to three months in the County Jail.

Young says that some years ago he won a $10,000 prize in the old Louisiana Lottery, and with the money purchased the small ranch he now owns, east of the city.

Young was booked for trial in Judge Trippet's court next Thursday with Luther and Herbert Sholes, Pearl Fawcett and Louis Fitzpatrick, who are said to be the backers of the Louisiana Lottery, that for years has been doing business out of San Francisco. Nine other defendants, whose trial comes later, are allied with the Guadalajara and the Hermosillo Lottery Companies, it is alleged, both domiciled in San Francisco.

Some time ago Mayor Rolph issued an edict against the lottery business in the Bay City, but it is understood sales of tickets of the Cosmopolitan Company are made here on an extensive scale.

LOWER COURT UPHELD.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court of Imperial county in which W. R. Miller obtained a decree of ejectment against Anton Marchus and Johanna Marchus, involving a small tract of land alleged to have been obtained by Mr. Miller from the State. An alleged conflict of surveys entered into the contention.

Have You Ever Tried Steam-Cooked Oatmeal?

The Only Method That Brings Out the Real Flavor of the Oats.

If you are one of the few people who do not eat oatmeal, the chances are that it is due to your never having tried the right kind.

Oatmeal in itself is a wonderful food, but its full possibilities were never realized until the discovery of a process of cooking it at a very high temperature under steam pressure. This not only gives the oatmeal a rich, nutty, delicious flavor, but makes it easily digestible by the most delicate stomach.

The Oatmeal produced by this exclusive process is put up for the market in specially-coated cardboard cartons under the name of H-O Oatmeal.

There is so much difference between H-O Oatmeal and the ordinary kinds as to admit of no comparison. After once cooking and tasting the H-O brand, you will never allow any other kind of oatmeal to come into your house.

H-O Oatmeal contains nearly twice as much tissue-building material as cornmeal, rice, white flour bread or soda crackers. It is good for everybody—young and old, weak and strong, alike.

Try it today and the folks will demand it regularly. At all good grocers.

Cans Canned.

ROTTEN-EGG FAMINE HITS LOS ANGELES?

THROUGH an order of the State Board of Health issued yesterday forbidding three of the large cold storage warehouse companies to release certain mysterious cans until further orders, Los Angeles is supposed to be experiencing a famine of rotten eggs. With several tons of the rotten eggs tied up, prices for this delectable commodity are soaring hourly. It was reported yesterday that certain concerns which have been drawing on this supply regularly have been forced to buy common cold storage eggs to use for baking purposes.

Complaints made to the State board to the effect that the sale of putrid eggs in this city has assumed large proportions resulted in a thorough investigation being made by Inspector Oakley and numerous samples were collected from the cold storage plants and forwarded to the State laboratories at Berkeley. The samples, in their frozen state, were found to be just plain, rotten eggs, and the several lots were "quarantined" in the local warehouses pending further orders from the State Board of Health.

According to the inspector he found in one local cold storage plant a lot of thirty-four cans of frozen eggs which weighed fifty pounds each—the cans, not the eggs. This lot has been stored since August, 1914. In another lot there were more than 200 cans of frozen eggs and in another 100 or more cans. Even in their frozen state there was no need for chemical analysis to determine that the eggs were putrid.

The final disposition of the Los Angeles supply of alleged rotten eggs will be decided by the State Board of Health early next month, and in the meantime the State inspectors here will watch the egg business with more than usual care.

In dispatches received from the north last night it is stated that the authorities have positive evidence that the cases here will be prosecuted to the limit, and that arrests may be expected within a few days.

CAN'T RECALL FIRE.

So Chinaman Who Said He Was Born in San Francisco Will be Deported.

United States Commissioner Hammack yesterday ordered the deportation of Loule Sark Goon, a Chinese who declared he is a native son. The evidence was against him. Goon said he was born in San Francisco, but he could not tell the name of his mother, and when asked if he recalled the fire and earthquake in April, 1906, when he asserted he lived in the Bay City, replied through an interpreter that there might have been a fire in some part of town on that date, but he did not recall it.

Among the effects of teh alied was found a McGuffey spelling book, indicating that he was preparing to educate himself in English, which would have been unnecessary if he had been born and raised in this country. It is believed he is one of the numerous "transit" men taken to Mexico two years ago and that he has drifted north into California.

JUDGE'S ANNIVERSARY.

Attaches in the Court of United States District Judge Bledsoe yesterday decorated his chamber with a wilderness of flowers and bloom, in commemoration of the anniversary of his first year on the Federal bench. The judge received many felicitations during the day.

Los Angeles turned Mr. Ed head yesterday morning. Wh took his hat off to her schools bombarded with flowers, whil owner was serenaded by band cheered by thousands of big an tle children.

Boys and girls, from tiny ki gartners to husky youths in the schools and the grown young w of Normal School, turned out to one of the world's greatest me was a long, exciting ovation from moment the inventor left the andria until he returned last for dinner.

So dense was the pack about hotel lobby that it was necessary police to clear a passage. Out on street all traffic stopped until the chine carrying Mr. and Mrs. Ed had sped away. The first school vi was that on Grand avenue at Ei street.

The curbs for nearly a block lined with flower-laden girls and with flags. A cloud of blossoms veloped the machine and its di guished passenger and restraint teachers vanished when Edison lightedly shook hands with one of youngsters. It precipitated a rush for the same privilege in wh men and women joined.

At Polytechnic High School

student body en masse insisted that their visitor step into school for a moment. It was the only school which the inventor entered and, although he was there but a few minutes, the youngsters managed to hustle him to the platform in the auditorium, where he expressed in a few words his pleasure at being present.

Manual Arts turned out a great gathering. Mr. Edison declared that every young American should have such a technical training as these schools provide. At Hollywood High the boys' band was lined up ready to escort the travelers for several blocks. At Los Angeles High the cheering was loudest of anywhere. A handsome floral tribute was handed the inventor by one of the girls of this school.

Great masses of flowers had accumulated on the hood of the car when it reached the Custer-avenue school, located in the nearest thing to a ghetto district Los Angeles possesses. Here the youngsters, born with the instincts of acquiring wealth, acquired huge branches of chrysanthemums, as trophies of a memorable day.

AT EXPOSITION PARK.

An interlude in the school visits was furnished at Exposition Park, where the visitors were the guests of Frank Daggett and expressed great surprise at the skeletons of the mammoth giant sloth, saber-toothed tiger and other prehistoric animals. The inventor was genuinely appreciative of the value of these, although he jokingly inquired whether the three-toed horse was a pacer or trotter.

HOW MRS. EDIS HELPED GR

"This is just like Europe. The spirit of enthusiasm, the spontaneity, the cheerfulness wherever we have gone in California marks it as different from any other part of the United States," Mrs. Edison, to whom much of the success in the life of the electrical wizard has been attributed, was the speaker.

"When we traveled through some of the European countries there were always crowds of townspeople gathered to see Mr. Edison and they were always joyfully enthusiastic in their greetings," she said. "The spirit of getting money, hunting the dollar is not pervasive in this country to permeate the show of much of such enthusiasm, I think. It has been an agreeable surprise to find the difference in California."

Mrs. Edison, attired in a neat green street dress and carrying one of the dozens of bouquets tossed into the car, became rather apprehensive when asked to define the feeling of being the wife of one of the world's greatest. "I've tried to analyze my feelings along such a line, but it has never come to more than a consciousness of pride in my husband. He's a wonderful man," and her face lighted up with a smile.

Thousands of Children Cheer Him Unceasingly.

Praises Especially Work of Technical Institutions.

Los Angeles turned Mr. Edison's mind yesterday morning. When he took his hat off to her schools it was bombarded with flowers, while its guest was serenaded by bands and cheered by thousands of big and little children.

Boys and girls, from tiny kindergartners to husky youths in the high schools and the grown young women of Normal School, turned out to greet one of the world's greatest men. It was a long, exciting ovation from the moment the inventor left the Alexandria until he returned last night for dinner.

So dense was the pack about the hotel lobby that it was necessary for police to clear a passage. Out on the street all traffic stopped until the machine carrying Mr. and Mrs. Edison had sped away. The first school visited was that on Grand avenue at Eighth street.

The curbs for nearly a block were lined with flower-laden girls and boys with flags. A cloud of blossoms enveloped the machine and its distinguished passenger and restraint of teachers vanished when Edison detestedly shook hands with one of the youngsters. It precipitated a grand rush for the same privilege in which men and women joined.

At Polytechnic High School the student body en masse insisted that the visitor step into school for a moment. It was the only school which the inventor entered and, although he was there but a few minutes, the managers managed to hustle him to the platform in the auditorium, where he expressed in a few words his pleasure at being present.

Manual Arts turned out a great throng. Mr. Edison declared that every young American should have such a technical training as these schools provide. At Hollywood High the boys' band was lined up ready to escort the travelers for several blocks. At Los Angeles High the cheering was loudest of anywhere. A handsome floral tribute was handed the inventor by one of the girls of this school.

Great masses of flowers had accumulated on the hood of the car when it reached the Custer-avenue school, located in the nearest thing to a factory district Los Angeles possesses. There the youngsters, born with the instincts of acquiring wealth, acquired huge branches of chrysanthemums, as a souvenir of a memorable day.

AT EXPOSITION PARK.

An interlude in the school visits was furnished at Exposition Park, where the visitors were the guests of Frank Wiggins and expressed great surprise at the skeletons of the mammoth ground sloth, saber-toothed tiger and other prehistoric animals. The inventor was genuinely appreciative of the value of these, although he jokingly inquired whether the three-toed sloth was a pacer or trotter.

On the way back to the hotel the machines passed the plant of the Ford company and several hundred employees blocked the road. The man of few words proved no exception here when called on to speak. "The old man," referring to Henry Ford, "will be here this afternoon. He'll talk," said Edison as the car moved off amid cheers.

Arrived at the hotel, Edison was invited to meet the district agents of the Southern California Edison Company, who were gathered at luncheon. He was introduced to S. M. Kennedy, chairman of the meeting, by James A. Lighthipe, and his speech took the form of a request: "Anybody got a cigar?" he asked and a dozen were thrust toward him. After lighting one he shook hands with all those present and then sought the privacy of his own suite for luncheon.

In the car with Mr. and Mrs. Edison were Dr. A. J. Scott of the Chamber of Commerce, John H. Francis, Superintendent of Schools; Walter Bordwell, chairman of the Board of Education, and Mr. Lighthipe, who worked with the inventor thirty-five years ago, and is now chief engineer of the Southern California Edison Company.

The second car carried William Bee, vice-president of the Edison Storage Battery Company; Miss Grace Miller, a sister of Mrs. Edison; F. D. Fagan, sales manager of the Edison Lamp Works of San Francisco; Harvey S. Firestone, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Akron; Amos Miller, vice-president of the same company, and James F. Rogan, Los Angeles agent of the Edison Storage Battery Company.

After luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Edison and Miss Miller were met by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hinds of Pasadena and taken for a drive through that beautiful suburb. Mr. Hinds used the first incandescent lamp turned out by the inventor in his publishing plant in New York City in January, 1881.

WAVES TO CHILDREN.

The spectacle of a disappointed schoolboy strolling home disconsolate because, after waiting for over an hour he had failed to see Thomas A. Edison while Mr. Edison himself drove by him in an automobile, waving his arms and trying in every way to attract the youngster's attention, was a common one in Pasadena yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Edison would not be dined and wined, but he did graciously submit to the request of the Entertainment Committee that he ride by the different schools and let the children see Estimate.

"HOW LITTLE WE KNOW," IS MASTER'S SUMMARY.

Edison, Whose Hand has Lighted the World, Marvels at the Firefly—Declares We Must Build Much War Machinery of Highest Efficiency—Warmly Praises Naval Advisory Board Venture.

THOMAS A. EDISON, the Columbus of science, asserted regretfully last night that he has explored but one corner of nature's great chamber of mysteries in a long life of work.

"How little we know," he said, with an eloquent gesture, as if impatient at the limitations of the human mind. "All we humans seem to know well is to eat and sleep, eat and sleep.

"There seems to be a veil before our eyes," he continued. "We seem to search around in the dark, and only now and then catch glimpses of a faint light of truth. Ah! there is so much to know, and we know so little."

Quietly, with emphatic gestures to enforce his slowly-spoken words, the hydrographer of unchartered shores of science, who had just returned from an automobile trip to Pasadena last evening welded together a telling case against the pretensions of the human mind.

"If we could only know one or two truths with certainty, we could work to others from them," he said. "But we grope and grope, and always seem to be working in the dark. We work and do little."

Speaking of his own case, Mr. Edison stated that he had had twenty inventions in his mind for as many years and was still trying to inject the spark of life into them.

"Machines can be made more compact and more efficient," he said on the scientist's dream of the "nth" of power. "But the loss of energy in machines is nothing compared to the waste of light from our present means of illumination.

"Why, take the Brazilian firefly. Its luminous organs are but specks, and the illumination generates no heat. I know, for I have studied that little bug for years, and have tried it with the most delicate thermometers. There is absolutely no heat. We always think of light and heat. But the firefly has the right idea. I'd give anything to know how he does it. He is a lighting medium of sun-like efficiency beside man-made lights."

ABOUT AERIAL TELEPHONE.

Though first denominating aerial telephony as of more sentimental than practical value, Mr. Edison thought over the subject a few moments, with closed eyes, then said: "It presents possibilities. I say 'Hello' over the telephone wires. We get the efficiency of two, perhaps three sound waves. Yet under the microscope we catch a thousand separate vibrations. Perhaps the air can catch more of these than the wire. Hitch up a machine to the Morse code and we might telegraph 10,000 words a minute by the aerial wires.

"But we would need machinery, the right machinery, and that is the problem of the age," he continued. "Why, even war is made by machinery these days. The next world war will be a war of machinery; one nation's engines against another's."

This assertion led up to a subject on which Mr. Edison was emphatic; not a man brooding over the infinite problems of science. This is that of national preparedness. He believes in it.

"There are dangers ahead," he said. "Events will follow fast on the termination of this war. We have nothing to fear from republics. But—"

There was a pause, a prolonged one, then Mr. Edison changed the subject.

Helpmeet.

HOW MRS. EDISON HAS HELPED GREAT CAREER.

THE CROWD of students that surged after Thomas A. Edison at one of the schools yesterday carried him bodily into a building and left standing on the stairway a big-eyed, laughing woman, alone save for one watchful friend.

"This is just like Europe. The spirit of enthusiasm, the spontaneity, the cheerfulness wherever we have been in California marks it as different from any other part of the United States," Mrs. Edison, to whom much of the success in the life of the electric wizard has been attributed, was the speaker.

"When we traveled through some of the European countries there were always crowds of townspeople gathered to see Mr. Edison and they were more joyfully enthusiastic in their welcome," she said. "The spirit of making money, hunting the dollar is more pervasive in this country to permit of the show of much of such enthusiasm, I think. It has been an agreeable surprise to find the difference in California."

Mrs. Edison, attired in a neat green linen dress and carrying one of the huge sheaves of bouquets tossed into the car, became rather apprehensive when asked to define the feeling of being the wife of one of the world's greatest men.

"I've tried to analyze my feelings along such a line, but it has always come to more than a consciousness of pride in my husband. He's a wonderful man," and her face lighted up with a smile.

"What helped your husband most in his career to greatness?" she was asked.

"Himself," she answered. "Mr. Edison had the three great qualities necessary to success, observation, inspiration and application. Besides that he has always enjoyed remarkable health and has a keen faculty of intuition. He has often said that most of his success has been due to about 2 per cent. of inspiration and 98 per cent. of perspiration."

Asked point blank what she had done toward his success, she said that it amounted to little. "Patient waiting has been one of my best performances," she said. "Many times I have held dinner for hours without Mr. Edison having arrived home. And then at about 2 o'clock in the morning he will call up from the laboratory and say he is coming in with one or two friends for a bite to eat. I learned to give him pleasures of this kind.

"Keeping the home quiet when he does want to rest has also been a duty that has been a great aid to him. There is nothing that he needs or wants that has not been provided for in his home life, unless through oversight."

During recent years, Mr. Edison has come to rely very largely on his wife as his "interpreter." His deafness makes conversation difficult and Mrs. Edison has been his constant intermediary with the world. She is active and of fine appearance. Her complexion is that of a girl and her coloring of deep tan and red denoted much time spent in the open.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Talk of peace in Europe, with the fall of the French Cabinet, put somewhat of a stop to the upward glide of stocks and bonds in this country and, as a rule, lower levels were touched in nearly all of the more important issues. However, railroads and copper stocks were not included in the weak spots, these securities being much in demand at better prices. Optimistic statements regarding the steel industry were made by men of affairs. The foreign exchange situation is much stronger.

(Abroad:) The French people, in answer to requests by the government, have deposited $200,000,000 in gold in the Bank of France to be used for war purposes.

THE DYING DREAM.

While the stage continues on its downward course, the schools are teaching the old dramas of power and purpose. One could weep for the difference between such theories and modern practice.

WISE IN HIS GENERATION.

Champ Clark and William Jennings Bryan both enjoy politics and the Democratic party. Both make many public speeches, but here the likeness ends. You see, Clark talks just as much as Bryan, but says less about it.

MERELY AN INSTRUMENT.

A crying baby called attention to a fire and saved a watershed. This was not the baby's intention; it was merely the result. That happens in many instances in this world. Great accomplishments are often achieved through very humble and unsuspecting agencies.

NO OCCASION TO FIGHT.

More troops have been sent to Funston for use at Douglas; that is, for use or for rust. If Villa and Carranza let their men fight again at Agua Prieta the battle will be the most useless and wanton slaughter of the Mexican turmoil. Douglas is only a mile away and is not in a mood to be shot while trying to escape.

WILL NOT WORK OUT.

At a congress of surgeons in Boston a physician made the statement that rheumatism comes from ailing teeth, colds that will not stay cured and trouble with the tonsils, ears and throat. This would be more convincing were it not that so many of us have bad heads and no rheumatism.

QUITE DEVOTED.

We notice that there has been a big foreign missionary meeting in the city. We trust the members of this society appreciate a cannibal's capacity for devotion. There is nobody in the world who will go further to practice what he believes than a cannibal, yet few head-hunters get credit for this.

SO THOUGHTLESS!

A Philadelphia doctor has arrived at the mature conclusion that only one person in 25,000 is capable of thinking. Some no doubt find the proportion even greater. The more bizarre and ill-formed a man's notions are, the more assured he is that the majority of the people he meets are incapable of thinking—that is, of thinking as he does.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

The newest wrinkle at the San Francisco exposition is an exhibition of children's pets. We note that the literature for this adventure advises that exhibitors must be under 16 years of age and must provide cages for all birds, fancy mice, rats, squirrels, chipmunks, frogs, snakes and lizards. This rather weird proviso would imply that the exposition directors are prepared to expect almost anything from the San Francisco youth, and they probably will not be disappointed.

NOT TOO MANY.

All women are not alike. Huh! That is a foolish sentence. No two women are alike. Some of them have ways that are a good deal the same. There are women who are always in a tangle of some sort. They rejoice in their sorrows inasmuch as their trouble attracts attention and wins sick sympathy. They welcome illness in the hope that it will make them pale and interesting. They are often grass widows, being more living than lived with. When you meet them you will save yourself time if you are looking the other way.

HATRED OF ENGLAND ABATING.

When Lissauer's poem, "A Chant of Hate," was first published it was received with unbounded enthusiasm by the German people. It was recited every night in every theater and dance hall in Berlin, the audiences going wild over it, jumping out of their seats, shouting and waving their fists in the direction of the British Isles. Now Lissauer's "Chant of Hate" is no longer heard and is not in demand. Both press and the public have tired of it, and one critic has the temerity to say that it resembles "a tale told by an idiot full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

"Up to a few weeks ago," says a newspaper correspondent of an eastern exchange, "a theatrical manager in Berlin who would have dared to produce anything that came from England or was written by an Englishman would have been badly handled. To show the change which has taken place in sentiment, the Berlin newspapers now announce with every indication of pleasure that Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" will soon have its initial performance at the Royal Operahouse in Berlin."

PANAMA—DEEDS BEFORE WORDS.

Engineers engaged in the arduous and heavy toil of clearing away the last landslide in the Panama Canal are not unnaturally indignant at adverse criticism of the mighty project leveled at them by persons who have no knowledge whatever of local conditions. The formation that caused the slide cannot be overcome by a Congressional inquiry. The slides can and will be overcome by the same undaunted energy that originally cut the mighty gash between the impending mountains.

At the present time it is neither true patriotism nor good business for any American either by word or action to do anything to break the esprit-de-corps of the splendid body of men who are coping with the gigantic task ahead of them. What they need is encouragement, not criticism. The time to inquire into the geological formation that has caused the last upheaval in the Gaillard Cut was before the work began, not after it is finished. Now the whole nation must stand behind their valiant engineers till nature has been finally conquered.

It is a task for workers, not for talkers; for brains and muscle, not for tongues and typewriters.

And our workers are showing themselves equal to the emergency. The three largest dredges in the world are in the canal now and more would be used were there room for them in the channel. In time the last obstruction will be removed. Each clearance lessens the amount of material that can slip by displacement, while the banks, as vegetation increases, become more settled and solid. We have no call for pessimism.

Every human project has to meet with some unexpected setback. Mishaps will occur in the best regulated enterprises. The Panama Canal is no exception. It will be opened again as quickly as is humanly possible—and will be kept open.

Meanwhile the government must bear a temporary loss of tolls, and the world's shipping must be put to a temporary inconvenience.

It may be true that the Nicaragua route was a cheaper and a more feasible one. Since its construction has not been attempted, this cannot be proven or disproven. It is not unlikely that unsuspected difficulties would have developed there, too, as the work progressed. In the future we may decide to duplicate the Panama Canal with another from Greytown to San Juan. But this is beside the question and is no reason for adversely criticising the Panama Canal, where the only miscalculation made was in considering it complete a little ahead of time.

PINING BY THE SAD SEA WAVES.

The poet who "pined like a slave by the sad sea waves and listened while they moaned" may do so now at any of the deserted oceanside watering places on the Atlantic Coast, but he can obtain no facilities for pining in Southern California. Here the sea waves are not sad. They laugh with glee and they do not moan; they sing sweet songs of welcome all the way from the lavender-tinted mountains north of Santa Monica to Long Beach and beyond.

Along the ocean beach for miles and miles there strolls every day "from the rising of the morn to the setting of the sun" a procession of the happiest mortals in all the land. Yonder comes a family. The father switches his cane and stretches his arms and, were it not for encountering the grins of other pedestrians, would dance a jig on the sands. The mother radiant in loveliness gives no thought to household cares. The family will dine at a cafeteria, and it won't take long to make the beds. Johnny turns somersaults in the clean, dry sands, and Sister Mary wishes that she could also flip-flap as she pushes the go-cart containing little Billy, who exultantly crows like a rooster whose wife has just laid an egg.

There stroll maidens with their crowns of glory glinting in the sunlight, and their arms around one another's waists, each wishing secretly that the encircling arm was in a coatsleeve, and behind them swagger the Chollys and Jimmys who, when it grows a little later and night stretches her ebon mantle over sea and shore, will be closer to the girls than they now are.

And the joyous waves gleam like diamonds with phosphorescent sparkles as they plash on the beach and each bather sings:—

"Now plunged in hollow rolling brine,
In emerald cradles rocked and swung,
The scepter of the sea is mine,
And mine his endless sung."

Do you long to "pine by the sad sea waves," Mr. Tourist? Well, buy a ticket for Alaska or Maine. We are out of sad sea waves in Los Angeles.

ANOTHER WAR WASTE.

We understand in a general way the fearful loss of such materials as cotton, copper, potash, lead, cottages, cathedrals and human flesh and blood that is taking place on the battle-torn continent of Europe. Few appreciate the fact that in the last year the guns and shells of fighting armies have blown into shreds and tatters the wool from the backs of over a billion sheep.

In the destruction that has taken place during the present war nothing exceeds the wholesale waste of clothing. According to conservative estimates there are about six hundred million sheep in the world and these are diminishing rather than increasing as the war progresses. If it continues for another year either the soldiers at the front or the civilians at home (including those of neutral countries) will have to do without woolen clothes. There won't be enough to supply the demands of both. The governments of the belligerents will let the civilians go cold rather than the troops on the firing line.

The British War Office estimates the life of a uniform at four or five weeks, sweaters and mufflers the same, underwear less than a month, socks less than two weeks, and overcoats not more than two months.

Under the latest regulations of the British medical army corps every soldier must be supplied with a new outfit every four weeks and the old clothing burnt as a precaution against vermin and disease. The winter outfit for a soldier, according to specifications, contains sixteen and a half pounds of carded wool. There are approximately 10,000,000 men on the various battle fronts of Europe and not enough sheep in the world to supply wool at the present rate of waste and destruction. It doesn't require any intricate figuring to discover how soon the world's supply of wool will be exhausted.

On account of the war the cotton situation has become critical; the wool situation is likely to be more critical still before the next winter is over. The world may not lose its ability to feed itself, however prolonged the hostilities, but the matter of clothing may soon be a difficult one for neutrals as well as belligerents. America will do well at present to keep her wool supplies for her own people.

A METROPOLIS WITHOUT A CLAM.

New York City is clamless. The State Department of Health has issued an order forbidding the sale of any kind of shellfish taken from New York's great clam reserve, the waters or shores of the harbor at Fort Washington, L. I.

Mr. Alfred Gunn, a New York lawyer, a namesake of his father and therefore known as "a son of A. Gunn," protested to the Department of Health against their cruel crusade against New York clams and wanted to know why their order did not extend to New Jersey clams as well. He was informed it was because the sewage of New York was discharged into New York Harbor and constituted a part of the diet of New York clams.

Then the son of A. Gunn asked the Board of Health why they did not bar New Jersey cucumbers and green corn and peas and squashes from New York market stalls, for these nutritious vegetables owed their early ripeness and their delicious flavor to the worst kind of New York sewage, which, in barges and in wagons, was supplied them during the season to an extent that made the air of Monmouth county as fetid as a polecat. Why?

But the New York Department of Health was inexorable. It decreed that until December 1 New York must remain without a clam to its name, and those who craved such food must go to Keyport, N. J., or Bridgeport, Ct., or Newport, R. I.

We give it up. So does New York.

TRUTH BY NEGATION.

To properly interpret the official reports from the various war offices one must act on the principle of reading what is not said and ignoring what is. When Vienna reports, "In East Galicia calm prevails," we may presume the Russians there have been making considerable headway. So when a London dispatch declares, "No movements of importance in the neighborhood of Liege," we must infer that the Germans have captured a few more miles of trenches.

Or if Rome announces, "We are progressing slowly against the Austrian positions," the probability is that the deadlock is tighter than ever. So when Berlin confesses, "In the Champagne district we abandoned a few yards of useless trenches," we must figure on a decided success for the French.

The war is teaching a new accomplishment of reading, not between, but behind the lines. It has become a triumph of apologetic euphemism. Julius Caesar got ahead of the press censor in his famous message, "Veni, vidi, vici." And Julius was only telling the truth. There was nothing to eliminate and nothing to read backward. A general of the Julius Caesar stamp had no use for apologetic euphemism. So far the war in Europe has not developed any such general.

IN THE WORLD; NOT OF IT.

One of the things to be thankful for is that one sees and hears so much that he does not become. It does not pay to be aloof, yet it is a mistake to become confused. To be in it all, yet remain yourself, will save you from unkindness to others while preserving your own peace.

Dropped.

"POWER TRUSTS."

Whatever arguments may be advanced in favor of "conserving"—that is to say, withdrawing from present use—oil lands and coal lands and timber lands does not apply to power sites on navigable or unnavigable streams. With these the truest conservation consists of the largest appropriation and the most constant use. Unmined coal, unpumped oil and uncut trees are not wasted. They may be mined or pumped or cut by our children or our grandchildren. But the current of the river that flows past a power site, if left unused, is lost forever.

Why "conserve" the dynamic force that the Colorado River carries on its breast from the mountains to the sea? Is it for fear that power trusts would monopolize the current? Suppose they should, what would they do with the power they appropriated? They could not pile it up in a cold-storage warehouse or box it and ship it. They would be compelled to sell it for use and to sell it at lower prices than power generated by the consumption of fuel, and its use would necessarily give employment to labor and add to the wealth of the land.

GROUPS ABOUT THE CROSS.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY RT. REV. CHARLES D. WILLIAM,
Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Michigan.

THE trial is ended. Sentence is pronounced. Christ is crucified. As we gaze upon the crowd that surrounds that cross lines of cleavage reveal themselves. The multitude separates into groups.

Three such groups stand or sit about the cross. They represent three different attitudes of mind toward Him who hangs there crucified—antipathy, apathy, sympathy.

The principal figures in the first group are the chief priests and elders, together with the Scribes and Pharisees, the leaders of religion.

Just at the foot of the cross, in their appointed place, as the death-watch, sits a small company of Roman soldiers, the Governor's guard. They have had their part to play in this whole tragedy and, throughout, that part has been animated by the single, consistent spirit of apathy.

Away out on the edge of the crowd at first, but creeping closer as the multitude melts away before the grewsome darkness and terrifying earthquake until they stand at the very foot of the cross, is the little company of women who followed Jesus from Galilee and "ministered to Him of their substance;" with them is Mary, the Blessed Mother, and with them also stands John, the beloved disciple—the only man there—he who alone of all the disciples has kept courage enough to remain and see the end. Such was the third group at the foot of the cross, the group that represents sympathy.

Suppose each of us asks himself the question "In which group should I have been had I been at Calvary?" Perhaps it is easy enough to answer that question now as we look back on that scene bathed in the light of nineteen Christian centuries. You have no doubt where you would have stood; it is so easy now to tell who were in the right. The past is more or less clear and plain.

But how is it now, now in this bewildering, perplexing present with its perpetual tangle of variant motives, its confused chaos of interests?

Here, for instance, is some earnest and honest effort to right social wrongs, to correct economic injustices, to establish equity between man and man, or class and class, to bring in the reign of peace and righteousness and brotherly love in some realm, political or industrial, to uplift the downtrodden and give the disinherited their rights. Perhaps it is a crusade against child labor; or the over-working and underpay of women and girls. Perhaps it is a labor movement to secure for the toilers just conditions, a fair share in the wealth they help to create and tolerable conditions, such a struggle as is going on in Colorado today. Perhaps it is the spirit that inspires Socialism or the single-tax movement. It may take any one of a thousand forms.

Here is Christ's cause, for it is inspired by Christ's mind and spirit. But that cause is without prestige and influence. It does not wear the regulation uniform. It has not on its side the men of weight and influence. The leaders of business are against it. The leaders of the church are afraid of it. The leaders of culture and learning, the college professors, are indifferent to it. It is backed only by the humble and lowly—perhaps only by hare-brained reformers, fanatics and visionaries, as we esteem them. It is ridiculed, persecuted, even crucified. This is the passion of today; these are the Golgothas of our civilization.

Now what is your attitude toward that cause of Christ in the time of its passion? Do you set yourself against it in hostile array—because, forsooth, the rest of your world, your clique or set in society, business or the church does? Do you perhaps oppose it violently because it touches your "vested rights" or "invested wrongs"? You would get smaller rents from your wretched tenements if housing conditions were made tolerable—yes, perhaps if hosses of ill-fame were abolished. You would get smaller dividends if child labor were abolished or the workers got their just share of the profits. Your leisure and luxury, your class distinctions and privileges are endangered by these movements for social righteousness and economic justice. Therefore you take your stand with the chief priests and elders to persecute, crucify and then execrate the Christ.

Or—you simply "care for none of these things." You are a practical, hard-headed, common-sense man or woman. You take no stock in the dreams of the visionaries or the utopias of the reformers. Provided only your lot in life is comfortable, your trade is profitable and your amusements amuse; provided your dividends are regular and your circle in society agreeable; provided, that is, you are getting what you want out of the game of life, the great strife may go as it will. You have no interest or concern in it. You stand in the group of apathy.

Or yours may be the attitude of sympathy. Is your sympathy with the cause of righteousness a sentiment or a principle? Does it exhaust itself in emotions and evaporate into words, or does it enable you to stand stoutly for the truth and fight valiantly for the right in your small corner of the great battlefield, cost what it may of popularity, comfort, profit, ease, even life? Are you ready to take up your cross that you may follow Him into the fields of His service and His warfare?

Only so can you make good your claim of belonging to that group of sympathy that stood closest to the foot of the cross.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

HATRED.

I hate a lot of men, I wist; I'd camp upon their frames, but when I try to make a list, I can't recall their names. I should resent the evil flings from this or that old scout, but there are far more pleasant things that I can think about. Old Weatherwax has done me ill, here in my native town, and every day he tries to kill my twenty-cent renown; I've heard the evil things he's said, and yet I don't repine; and if I tried to punch his head, he'd surely land on mine. Vain is the effort to defend one's fame from such attacks; I'd rather gossip with a friend than scrap with Weatherwax. I do not care what people say, words leave no smarts or stings; and every passing, sunny day is full of pleasant things. Why should I miss the sight of birds, as to the South they go, to stand around and bandy words with some long-winded foe? Why should I harbor thoughts of hate, when there are authors near, with healthy stories to relate, and pomes that soothe and cheer? Why should I hold a vengeful mind, when it is best to laugh, when I can sit around and grind chunes from my phonograph?

NATION-BUILDING.

Let other bards sing of the flowers
Or battlefields and lonely bowers,
Or fleecy clouds and noon-day hours
And other ancient, worn-out themes;
But let me sing with words of gum
The purpose of the great new mart,
Oh, let me sing the songs of fire
Which thrill our men with pure desire

One language, and one aim we seek
One land, one ideal and one creed;
The several races here must blend
And make one race that will defend
This land against the foreign host
From north to south, from coast to coast
And love this nation like the man
Who is a true American.

We only welcome patriots here!
Let others leave this hemisphere!
Here in this land of liberty
Our hearts should beat in loyal glee;
Our country's love should be a fact
That's proven by our every act;
We seek to build the noblest State
And merit well a happy fate.

AMATEUR PLUMBER BURNED.

Takes Candle to Find Gas Leak; Ambulance and Fire Apparatus Both Summoned.

Mr. Yamaga startled many persons downtown and went to the Receiving Hospital yesterday, as a result of his unusual way of finding a gas leak. The proprietor of the hotel at 224½ East First street told Yamaga there was a gas leak in his room and Yamaga went in search of it. The room was dark, and the novice took a candle to accurately locate the trouble. When he found it he flared into it, his back and shoulders being ignited to a crisp. He was taken to the hospital while all the downtown companies turned out to stifle the flames. The damage was negligible.

Regular Inspection.

Hubert M. Kittle, policeman an[d] motorcyclist, peeked over a pi[n] and yesterday and gazed down u[p] on the regular semiannual inspectio[n] of the police department, held o[n] Fourth Hill street in front of the L[os] Angeles High School. Mr. Kittle was not peeking in a balloon, coursing along star trails, and although Weather Forecaster Carpenter may protest, at 2:30 p.m. a pink cloud at an elevation of more than 5000 feet did loiter across the sky, and came directly under the balloon in which Mr. Kittle was riding.

To be peeked out over one side of the cloud and beheld 400 policemen marshaled in the blue of the winter months, with sticks and guns and handcuffs all agleam, and without a speck of dust in the squad, executing drills and presenting their implements of business to Police Chief Sntively. Also Mr. Kittle saw the Chief of Police in riding boots, natty afalet and footgear of shining leather and different proportions, the first time a chief has ever worn such footwear on an inspection. And attached to the boots were small spurs, for the chief was mounted.

This was visible to Mr. Kittle because he was equipped with a pair of binoculars, intensified in their lenses to reveal each person in the crowd so he could identify him personally. He was in the air as a matter of experiment.

He was selected to sail the upper air on inspection day to determine the possibility of the use of a balloon in identifying persons on earth, and assessing flights of fugitives. Some one it might be of advantage, the police believe, to have a balloonist in the department to make an ascension when some daring criminal is making his escape, to note the course of his flight.

The ascension was made in Monrovia, because of better gas obtained there. In the basket with Mr. Kittle was J. M. O'Connell of the United States Aeronautical Reserve. While sailing over the city, they were at an altitude of more than a mile, almost invisible against the blue background.

They directed the balloon at will, sailing back and forth over the city, seeking the air lanes taking them to the desired location. The binoculars they carried brought persons on the earth into vivid outline, making it possible to identify the individuals. A wireless telephone is to be part of the aeronaut's equipment.

The inspection was unusually successful, starting exactly at schedule time under the arrangement of Lieut. Kittle, who was marshal of the parade. The five squads were in charge of Lieut. Adams, Lieut. Johnson, Sergt. McClary and Policeman Gassen.

From lower Broadway, where the parade began, with the police band in the fore, the policemen marched past the City Hall, where Mayor Sebastian, members of the City Council and Police Commission, and a number of visiting Chiefs of Police were stationed.

They continued to the parade ground in front of the High School, where the regular maneuvers were held. From a point of size, the inspection was not exceptional, and Chief Snively refused to release any men from duty to appear for it.

NEW LESSON ON HOME PRODUCTS.

EFFORT OF COMING WEEK WILL REACH INTO SCHOOLS; MUCH INTEREST.

Children of all the schools of the city and county will be given an extra lesson today designed to interest them in the importance of supporting the industries of their home city. The lessons will tell the pupils of Home Products Week, which will begin next Monday, and extend them an invitation from the Chamber of Commerce to visit the new industries exhibit that will be open all day Saturday, November 6, in the chamber rooms for their benefit.

Industrial Commissioner Kinney of the chamber yesterday expressed keen appreciation of the enthusiasm manifested on all sides over the coming event. Many of the larger manufacturers are preparing elaborate displays for the downtown store windows. The building in which the Motor Way Automobile and Flower Show is now held will be converted into a home products display.

During the week cafes, restaurants and hotels will serve special menus made up of goods grown and produced in Los Angeles. There will be a home products luncheon at the Hotel Alexandria on Thursday that promises to be the most elaborate affair of the kind ever held in the city. November 5 is home industries night at the theater. A reception will be tendered to the proprietors of all establishments that have begun business during the past year.

The railroads have announced special rates for the week from all the surrounding district.

The judges, after careful consideration and deliberation, unanimously awarded a first prize to the fine specimen of elkhorn fern exhibited by Mrs. E. A. Christy.

Today will be "flower day" at the big show. The entire building, from top to bottom, will be decorated with posies. Every automobile on exhibit will be decked with roses, carnations or other flowers, and every nook and cranny will have at least a fern.

NEWEST ROSE.

The feature of the day will be the exhibition, for the first time at any flower show, of a new seedling rose, as yet unnamed, propagated by Fred H. Howard of Howard & Smith, at the nurseries in Montebello. This wonderful flower, obtained by hybridizing, is the result of many years' work on the part of Mr. Howard, and was finally developed after the originator had experimented with 10,000 different combinations of roses in the endeavor to get this greatest introduction in roses of recent years.

The flower is a beautiful, luminous coral pink, with bright gold shading at the base of its petals. It is perfect in form and outline, with a fragrance of delicate tea odor. The bush is of a vigorous growth and throws perfect blooms with ordinary garden culture. It will be on public exhibit all during the day, and should prove of exceeding interest to all who attend the show.

Other features will continue as usual, with added vigor. Today promises to be marked by the largest attendance so far, and the exhibitors will see to it that each guest is as pleased as those who have already attended.

QUEEN SIBYL AT BALL.

With Her Court, Wins Applause in Artistic Setting—Programme of Music and Dancing.

Queen Sibyl Mather and seven members of her court were guests of honor at the opening ball of the season at the Stratford Apartment-Hotel, No. 1735 West Sixth street, last night. There were more than 100 guests. The ballroom was tastefully decorated in a symphony of gold, French gray and old ivory, with hundreds of large yellow chrysanthemums and asparagus plumosa. The lawn was also decorated and festoons of Japanese lanterns arched the driveway.

In addition to an elaborate programme of dances, solos by George B. Gookins and Mrs. W. V. Goodfellow added to the entertainment of the guests. Miss Helen Von Pelt and her dancing partner, Mr. Wilson, gave an exhibition of modern artistic dancing that was a feature. During the evening refreshments were served. The dance was the first of a series to be given at frequent intervals by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Woodbury, proprietors of the hotel.

Queen Sibyl was led to her throne following the grand march and received her crown at the hands of the host. Surrounded by her court and dressed in white chiffon over satin with a corsage of crimson roses, the guest of honor presented a picture which drew prolonged applause. Members of the queen's court are Mrs. Margaret Betterley of Long Beach, Miss Maude Edwards, Mrs. E. F. Woodbury, Miss Leta Nash, Mrs. Sarah Melton-Coons, Mrs. W. H. Condon and Miss Martha Deitrich.

BAZAAR WELL ATTENDED.

More than a Thousand Persons are at the Opening of the Purple Event, at the Opening of the Purple Event in Foresters' Hall.

More than 1000 persons were said to have attended the opening of the I.O.O.F. Purple Cross bazaar yesterday at the Foresters' headquarters, No. 246 South Hill street. The doors were opened at noon, and within a few minutes the rooms were crowded. An elaborate system of decorations with ferns, palms and wild flowers occasioned much favorable comment.

An interesting vaudeville programme was provided during the afternoon and evening. The festivities will continue today and tomorrow. A chicken dinner is served noon and night, and various forms of entertainment are provided. Probably the most patronized booth yesterday was the roulette wheel. Among the other booths are fortune teller's, a country store, oriental tea garden, lottery, candy, home-cooked foods, ice cream and soft drinks, grab bag and the Purple Cross Inn. The proceeds from the fair are devoted to the relief of members of the organization and to the maintenance of the general, emergency and hospital funds.

HASTE TO SHOW LOYALTY URGED UPON MOTORISTS.

KEEPING in line with enthusiastic action for the continuing of the exposition at San Diego another year, officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California yesterday redoubled their activity, whereby it is hoped to secure for the necessary funds at least $1 from every motorist in the Southland.

It is pointed out that the State highway between this city and San Diego will be completed by November 25, offering a route which it is believed will make Southern California the motoring paradise of the world. But, the officials point out, the added attraction of the exposition throughout next year will make this doubly sure—will be a powerful magnet to draw hither the country's automobile enthusiasts.

Branch offices of the Automobile Club at Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield, Santa Ana, Long Beach and San Diego are busy receiving subscriptions for the funds. Secretary Mitchell announced that all subscriptions must be at the club headquarters, No. 1344 South Figueroa street, by noon tomorrow. So the need of quickness is emphasized.

To let the world know a finely-paved road connects Los Angeles with the exposition, the club is planning for a great automobile parade November 25 between the cities, to be participated in by all Southern California motorists who can be there. It is hoped to have not less than 1000 machines in line.

Fred L. Baker, president of the Auto Club, sent out another urgent letter to motor car owners yesterday. In it he points out the need of instant action, and urges that every motorist see that his dollar is on the way to headquarters today.

EXPERT BUNCOER, POLICE BELIEVE.

EXPERT CONFIDENCE MAN OF MIDDLE WEST IN JAIL HERE?

Frank B. Shank, believed to be one of the expert confidence men who have made a fortune off credulous farmers of the Middle West in the fake race horse betting game, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Carroll and Boyd on suspicion of being a bunco man. He is known under the aliases C. H. Wilson and L. B. Maxwell.

An effort is being made to connect him with the swindle of Ira Wolfe, the farmer from Elmcreek, Neb., who invested $5000 in a race, and then went home to get $15,000 more to make his fortune, a greater one than the manufacturers of war materials could ever hope to make.

It happened the bunco men were after other prey that night and did not believe Mr. Wolfe would return so aprily with his pelf. So he told a policeman of his good fortune in having a chance to invest his savings so well. That was in San Diego and the police arrested Mr. Wolfe, thinking him either insane or drunk to talk so. In the morning they learned he was sincere, and descriptions of the man in possession of his $5000 were taken. It is believed Shank answers the description of one man.

"DEAF AND DUMB" TALKER.

Beggar's Sham Deceives the Public, But Col. Bloch Reads His Quivering Lips.

Joseph Moyer may be able to work the gullible public for donations when he presents typewritten appeals for help because "I am deaf and dumb as the result of a long sickness," but he will have to study the ways of the mute more thoroughly if he expects to deceive Col. Emil Bloch, honorary lieutenant of police.

Moyer approached a man at No. 1057 Park View street early last night, presented his "credentials" and became impatient when the citizen refused to dig up. He acted so suspiciously that the citizen telephoned to the police, and Lieut. Bloch answered the call. He took the young man to the Central Station and turned him over to several detectives for an investigation. They gave it up as a bad job because the prisoner could not talk or write.

"I believe that fellow is shamming," the lieutenant declared, and took him into a private room. "Now look here, I can tell by the quiver of your upper lip that you are accustomed to talking," said the lieutenant. "You know if a man is mute his lips don't move. There are other reasons, too, that convince me you are not on the level."

"I'll take my hat off to you," the prisoner said. "Anybody who can tell that a man can talk just because he saw his upper lip quiver is too wise for me, so I might as well tell the truth."

Moyer was locked up on a charge of begging.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

THE rose room of the Alexandria was yesterday the scene of one of the smartest social functions of the entire week, Mrs. William Cline of Howell Terrace entertaining at an afternoon at cards, followed by an elaborate collation, in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Joseph Wilbur Clark, a visitor from San Francisco who has been much entertained during her fortnight's visit in the Southland. Stately yellow chrysanthemums were massed artistically as a background for the handsomely gowned ladies. Dresden tones predominating at the tea tables, accentuated by pretty name cards and scores. Honors for auction fell to Mrs. Ira Sidney Chapman, Mrs. Arthur G. Tibbitts, Mrs. W. T. Miner, Mrs. Leon Bogy and Mrs. Dorothy Thayer, while the ingenious "draw" favor was won by Mrs. Turner Elmer Weatherholt. In the game of five hundred, Mrs. William Hamilton Cline made high score. The prizes were unusually pretty. Mrs. Cline received in an imported creation of black jet over green, with hat to match, and her sister looked regal in a model of black sequins and charmeuse. The assisting ladies numbered Mrs. John Caspare Cline, Mrs. M. A. C. Griffith, Miss Margaret Dent, Miss Esther Dent, Mrs. William Henry Cline, Mrs. William Tremaine Wyatt, Mrs. George H. Christening Tonight.

Sixty guests will be entertained tonight at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnold of No. 42 Witmer street, following the christening of their nine-months-old babe, Raelia Herbertia. For the service, at which Dr. Baker P. Lee will officiate, Bernice and William Arnold, brother and sister of the infant, are to stretch the white ribbons which will form an aisle to the improvised altar, which is to be fashioned of palms, ferns and white flowers, crowned with white Lawsons. Altar sticks and the prayer rug will also be of pure white. Later, at table, the place cards are to consist of dainty Raelia Herbertia's photograph. De Nubila's orchestra is to play "Oh Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star," from "Tannhauser," during the christening, and water from the River Jordan will be used. For dinner the guests will be seated at tables of four covers, centered in golden baskets of baby pink rosebuds. Acceptances include Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Back from Chicago.

Mrs. Robert I. Howe has just returned from Chicago and the East, where she went early in September. Mrs. Howe stopped in Salt Lake and in San Francisco for the exposition en route home. Her friends are extending her a genuine welcome at the Hanlwald.

Miss Peycke Back.

Following an extensive trip through the East, Miss Frieda Peycke has returned to her Los Angeles home. This young composer-musician went to New York primarily to study under David Bispham, where she applied herself two months. Later she toured the East and gave two programmes on Long Island, being a house guest there of J. H. Barrs, wealthy resident of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer of Pasadena was entertained by the Barrs at the same time, and there were many things planned for the Californians. Miss Peycke stopped in Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and Omaha en route home.

Birthday Luncheon.

The home of Mrs. Haymer W. Porter, No. 168 South St. Andrews place, was yesterday the scene of a pretty luncheon, a courtesy extended in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Lurah D. Hicks of South Pasadena. Yellow dominated the effective decorations, with chrysanthemums and lights subdued beneath yellow shades.

Her Visit Ended.

Miss Minna Moeller, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. J. Bovee, of Forty-first street, has returned to her home in Harrisburg, Pa.

Prenuptial Events.

A pretty event of recent date was the party given by Miss Lulu Woodhull of Hollywood, attended by thirty-five guests, in compliment to the hostess's sister, Miss Anne Woodhull, who is soon to become the bride of Earl Francis Murphy. The color scheme was yellow and green, and music and games furnished pleasant diversion.

Mr. Murphy and his bride-elect are very popular in Hollywood cricles, both having graduated in the '13 class at Hollywood High School. He is with the National Bank of Hollywood. Miss Woodhull has been extended some pretty social events since the announcement of her betrothal.

Halloween Party.

An old-fashioned Halloween party, en costume, is to be enjoyed by members of St. Catherine's school at No. 626 West Adams street, tomorrow afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 5. Among the characters to be taken are: Nancy Bilicke, soldier; Marie Haggarty, Gypsy; Dorothy Bowen, Yamayama; Margaret Gray, bride; Virginia Martin, poppy; Winifred Martin, rose; Marian Wood, Yama-yama; Katherine McGarry, French count; Margaret McGarry, Gypsy. All the children are to wear special fancy dress, and the event is being pleasurably anticipated.

Dinner Dance.

Another addition to the long list of Halloween festivities will be the dinner dance to be given Saturday evening at "the house in the garden," Cumnock School. The new students who live in the dormitory will be the guests of the old students. In addition to the dancing, all the usual Halloween games and festivities will be enjoyed.

Dansant at the Clark.

The opening of the tearoom at the Hotel Clark Wednesday afternoon was the signal for many parties. These tea dansants are to be given frequently throughout the winter season, and the initial event brought out, among numerous devotees of Terpsichore, the following folk: Mrs. Margaret E. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Whittemore, Miss June Whittemore, Miss Leigh Whittemore, Mr. and Mrs. Max Wiesoreck, Miss Rosel Wiesoreck, Mrs. Winpenny, Dr. and Mrs. Willis P. Hutchason, Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Jarman, Miss Margaret Jarman (the well-known Italian grand opera singer,) Dr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barraclaugh, Mrs. Thayer, Miss Edna Cooper, Col. William H. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brush, Miss Constance Balfour, Signor A. Alberti (well-known baritone,) W. W. Orcutt, Miss Wilson, Mrs. Sidney Rixon, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Lasck, Mrs. Miller, Archibald Chamlee and Aubrey Burns.

George Ross Jenkins, who came recently with his mother from their New York and Philadelphia homes to tour California and view the expositions, and became so impressed with Los Angeles and its genial hospitality that the family has taken a home on Rampart boulevard, was among the guests.

Marriage Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Allen of No. 127 South Normandie avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ida May Allen, to Ben Harper of Pasadena on October 21, the ceremony having been solemnized at Grace Cathedral, San Francisco. No cards.

Festive Affair.

Students in the college of fine arts, University of Southern California, will hold a Halloween party Saturday evening at the home of Miss Evelyn Mondon, on Thirty-eighth street. The programme includes all the usual mystic rites and ceremonies.

Enjoying the East.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Haskin of Los Angeles are in New York at the Hotel Astor for a visit of several weeks, after which they will go to Chicago and other places of interest in the East and will return to their home some time in February.

Generous Assistance.

Many interesting features are planned for the garden party and musicale which will be given for the benefit of the German-Austrian Red Cross Relief Association this afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. Irving Ingraham, No. 2000 West Adams street. The garden party will be held in the afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock with many prominent society women in the receiving line and assisting in the serving of refreshments. In the evening there will be a musical programme by the following: Mme. Helen Thorner, soprano; Miss Margaret Goetz, contralto; Miss Gertrude Cohen, pianiste; Reinhold Oeschler, tenor; Rudolph Kopp, viola; Gertrude Grosscup Perkins, Alexander Karnbach and Will Garroway, accompanists.

WRITING EXPERTS DIFFER.

Letters Bone of Contention in Case of Monterey Attorney Charged With Conspiracy.

The defense of J. Sherman Woolf, indicted with Julio Liparoldi and others on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Chinese exclusion law, has reached the stage when the testimony of experts is relied upon to clear the young Monterey attorney.

The testimony against Woolf, as brought out by the government, consists largely of certain letters alleged to have been written by Woolf to Joe Brune, who is now serving a year in the County Jail. Milton Carlson, the local expert, has testified that the letters were written by Woolf and signed by him, and the defense is now engaged in trying to break down that evidence.

Yesterday Arthur G. Metz, former president of the First National Bank of Monterey, testified that in his opinion the letters were not written by Woolf, and Chauncey McGovern and Baldwin Fale, handwriting experts from San Francisco, gave evidence along the same line.

The appearance of the two San Francisco men drew interest from the fact that experts charge big fees and Woolf last Saturday made an affidavit before Judge Farrington that he was financially "broke." The court, on the showing, allowed Woolf to subpoena five witnesses in his behalf at government expense, and United States Marshal Walton paid out about $300, accordingly.

The United States District Attorney declares Woolf is being cared for by the Hop Sing Tong and has other resources.

STAGE BRILLIANT BALL.

Movie Folk Entertain with Big Dance at Shrine Auditorium in Honor of Stage People.

One of the pleasantest and most brilliant events of the theatrical season was the ball given at Shrine Auditorium last night by the motion picture folk in honor of stage people. The auditorium was brilliantly decorated, and hundreds of film fans mingled with the motion picture and stage stars on the ballroom floor.

TOGETHER LET US GO

Downtown to Inspect Olive Gray and Other Exquisite Tints; also Things Chic and Charming.

Now is the time to buy:

The first cauliflower, which is tender and delicious. Either creamed or cooked au gratin, prepared by the same recipe as au gratin potatoes; this is a welcome dish for variety after we have tired of the summer vegetables.

Egg plant is also fine just now. Sliced thin and dipped in bread crumbs, then sauted in deep fat and served with a cheese dressing, this vegetable is excellent.

The Christmas gifts for filling out the lists which it is a pleasure to do now but which will become burdensome if we wait until later.

Practical Suggestion.

With the craze for the old-fashioned silk quilts if one will have in some convenient place a box or basket containing pieces cut from the wornout silk blouse or gown, one may have, before realizing it, enough to make several slumber robes or silk comforts. It will take but a few moments of odd time to rip up a square or two. Half the pleasure in the old-time bed coverings of this sort, was in recalling the "dress that Eliza wore to Betty's party," and the "cloak made for Patty's wedding journey," they say.

Named All Over.

How would you like to find your name written upon one or two of the finest cars in the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show? That is what I discovered there. "Olive Gray" was painted upon every part of two of the prettiest cars there! No one had told me that these cars were to be presented to me, but of course they are—else why that unmistakable "Olive Gray" right where everyone can see it? I have often been asked as to the exact tint represented by olive gray, and have sometimes been rather at a loss to define it, but I recognized it instantly upon those cars. I shall allow the cars to remain in the exhibit until it closes. No, perhaps I do not need two so nearly alike, but—don't you see—I can lend you girls one while I am using the other!

An Inner Gift Shop.

In that big store on lower Broadway, there is the most delightful gift shop which is indeed a complete shop in itself. There are a number of rooms, each fitted to exhibit to best advantage the line of beautiful things shown there. For example, in the rooms of marbles there is a tasteful grouping of fountains, statuary and busts in Carrara and in a niche fitted with windows of stained glass, soft lights diffuse their loveliness over the artistic creations therein shown. In another room, fine pictures are so disposed upon the walls as to show to best advantage. There is a room devoted to the odd and funny novelties in wood and plaster such as door stops, book ends, etc., which are for wee ones, and that big curled-up cat in pussy-yellow looks as though she would never move, no matter how much you wanted to open or shut the door. Another novelty is the basket work combined with that odd woodenery, such as poll parrots and other birds. There are baskets for gathering flowers and perched beside the handles are birds in gayest colorings which look as though they had alighted while your head was turned. Then there are the flower trellises, and vine sticks topped with birds of brilliant plumage and all sorts of queeries in the way of cubic wooden animals for twine holders, paper weights, etc. These odd animalities are to laugh at but also to love. One does not tire of them. I know for I have a funny ruminating East Indian man who has for years been smoking his pipe while peacefully gazing at a wee wooden hen. She has not hatched yet, nor has he expressed the thought which seems forever to be forming in his queer wooden mind—but I like them both as well as the day I first beheld them.

Their Party.

Just too clever are the invitations sent out by those charming girls who inhabit an exclusive apartment-house in the Westlake district. "We want you to come because we like you" is the way some of the invitations begin. Each invitation is written for the especial person invited—no all-alike printed affairs are they—and they bear clever hand-painted Halloween things such as arching black cats, old witches on broom sticks, and other awfuls. The seals upon the envelopes are also black cattish or witchery. The affair is to be a "lure of the mask" and it is hinted that many of the make-ups will be most original.

Better Hats for Less.

Another one of those hat sales which have set all Broadway talking. This time the values are better, the materials finer, the modes even more smart than in any of those sales heretofore pulled off. Black, of course, predominates, both in the millinery and in the firm name. It is "Lucky Friday" when one of these events takes place.

What One will Wear.

Maybe not to this party but to another Halloween one, a girl intends going as the "Black Hat." She will represent one of the season's modes—the tall "stovepipe." Heavy cardboard has been stove-polished or shoe-shined, and this is the crown of the hat extending to about her hips, where the narrow brim is fitted with a flaring veil, forming the dress skirt. This has the effect, you see, of one of those Lucilish hoops. There are eyelets and breath holes in the crown of the hat and her arms protrude as "mushroom" ornaments or "chin chin" pins at each side of the hat crown. Her feet? Well, I suppose they will play at being the features below the hat.

Study Your Complexion.

"It is a mistake," said the couturier, "to decide early in life that you can wear certain colors and cannot wear others and then to stick to this decision, for likely as not, your complexion has changed although you were unaware of the transformation. Every woman should make a constant study of herself," he continued, "and from time to time should try some new color scheme in gowning. Especially should the woman approaching middle age make the effort to renew her youth by the use of colors which are especially becoming." I believe he is right. There is Evelyn for instance. When in her teens she never wore anything but sky blue and lavender. I recall that she tried a lovely yellow evening gown, once, just because she liked the color, and after a single trial had the thing dyed, because it was so unbecoming that every one asked if she was ill. Recently she had made a gown combining yellow, orange and gold in a wondrous way, and truly it is the most alluring gown she has. Her complexion has changed and her hair is just a trifle darker and hence she is enabled to carry off colors which a few years ago absolutely "killed" her beauty. Every woman should give thoughtful attention to such matters, for I believe it every woman's duty to look her best at all times.

For His Shave.

The woman who searches frantically for a gift for HIM at the last Christmas moment, will find something really useful in that shaving mirror which is illuminated from above by an electric lamp placed within a reflecting box. Every man who has ever shaved knows what a boon it is to have a direct light upon his mirror, during this apparently trying process. Did you ever try to talk to your brother while he was shaving? Of course you have—no woman could resist the temptation. I wonder why it makes 'em cross to shave? Or is it the talking which makes them cross? Evelyn says Jack nearly takes her head off when she asks him the most innocent of questions while his lip is lathered. Too bad men haven't nice dispositions like ours.

Miss Muffet's?

I like to peep into the studio of the Decorative Novelty Girls just to see what pretty or funny things they are doing. Just now everything is for Halloween. The oddest thing there—after the cunning little black owl candle sticks and the pumpkin-head vanity sticks—is the biggest spider I ever saw. Truly he is half as long as a man is tall and oh, so spidery. Miss Muffet would have left her tuffet forty miles away in her fright had that spider sat down beside her. Of course I know he's paper and harmless, but can't you play that way, just for fun at Halloween?

Milady's Modes.

Some absolutely simple costumes of serges are cut in one piece, with a stitched-on girdle, which is very broad.

One sees the close waist, the drop shoulder, the flare, the extreme shortness and the puffed sleeve all in one gown.

Heels and hair must be worn high in order to make woman tall enough to gracefully wear the very wide skirts.

OUR DAY TO BE FAIR'S BIGGEST.

SAN FRANCISCAN IS HERE TO HELP WITH PLANS FOR CELEBRATION.

Saturday, November 20, will be Los Angeles Day at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco and the Bay City and the exposition management will begin to stir immediately with a view to making this one of the greatest special days at the fair.

This was the announcement of Maj. Fred R. Reed, special commissioner for the exposition, after a conference with Mayor Sebastian yesterday.

"We are going to have the biggest day of the exposition so far next Tuesday, which is a State holiday as well as San Francisco Day at the exposition," said Maj. Reed. "If we realize our expectations we will have an attendance of 250,000 Tuesday, and then we shall go about our plans for making Los Angeles Day even bigger and better. The people of San Francisco realize that Los Angeles has worked hard and effectively for the success of the exposition and we want to show that appreciation by turning over the entire publicity department of the exposition to the work of making Los Angeles Day the biggest event of the year."

Maj. Reed will remain in Los Angeles until November 18, assisting in completing the arrangements for Los Angeles Day, and a large committee of representative business men will be named to perfect the details of the event.

GIRL TAKES POISON.

Louise Henderson had a quarrel with her sweetheart early last night, and, hurrying to her room at No. 106½ South Broadway, swallowed several poison tablets. She was discovered by the landlady, who had her sent to the Receiving Hospital, where the stomach pump was used, and the young woman soon pronounced out of danger.

COMPOSERS' EVENING.

The creative section of the Matinee Musical Club will hold its first regular meeting this evening at the Little Theater on Figueroa street near Pico. A very pleasing programme is promised, featuring compositions by Theodore Gordohn, Axel Raoul Wachtmeister, Waldo F. Chase, Roy Lamont Smith and John David Beall.

him. Consequently the school grounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon were the places of the greatest animation.

But Mr. Edison failed to arrive until nearly 5 o'clock. By the time he was driven through the Crown City most of the school children were on their way home and many of them gave him only a casual glance as he passed them on the street.

Mr. Edison, aware of the fact that a hero out of place is often no hero at all, lost no opportunity of raising his hat, bowing, waving his hands and even standing in the car to relieve the disappointment of the children. Some of them recognized him from pictures they had seen, though he came unheralded, and their applause was soon noticed by others, so that at some points there were veritable stampedes of the younger generation.

At the Pasadena High School and at the Throop College of Technology the students had better waiting qualities and most of them were massed upon the steps to pay their homage to the wizard. He bowed to them very cordially and seemed much delighted.

On entering Pasadena Mr. Edison was taken through the office of the Carnegie Solar Observatory at Santa Barbara street and Lake avenue, where Mr. and Mrs. Edison were accorded a brief reception in the observatory library by Dr. and Mrs. George E. Hale. Mr. Edison was shown through the laboratories and evinced great interest.

Returning to Los Angeles for dinner, the distinguished visitors decided that their well-filled day should be concluded in their suite rather than at the theater or at countless receptions or dinners for which invitations had been sent.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS STRUCK BY AUTOS.

RUN DOWN ON THE STREET AND THEIR SKULLS ARE FRACTURED.

Two little girls on the street in different parts of the city were run down by automobiles early last night, and both are in the Receiving Hospital, with little hope of recovery. They are Juanita Gallardo, 5 years old, No. 1400 Santee street, and Nancy Lamadie, 7, No. 979 North Broadway.

The Gallardo child was playing hide-and-seek with several other little ones, and started over Santa Fe avenue at Ninth street to secrete herself behind a signboard when a machine, driven by Vincent Logan, a grocery clerk of Sawtelle, struck her down. She sustained a basal fracture of the skull and severe cuts and bruises about the face and body.

Nancy Lamadie was run down a short distance from her home while she was crossing the street. The driver of the machine, Arthur Somerville, of No. 4183 Brighton avenue, took her to the hospital. He said the accident was unavoidable, and was allowed to go upon his own recognizance. The child's skull was fractured.

DRUNK, SAYS DOCTOR.

E. X. Willard of No. 432 South Boyle avenue and J. A. McMeany, No. 1827 North Normandie avenue, were arrested at Fifth and Main streets early last night by a special deputy constable, who charged the former with being drunk and the other with driving an automobile while intoxicated. The men protested against being locked up, declaring they were sober. They were taken before Assistant Police Surgeon Hiller at the Receiving Hospital and he pronounced both of them drunk.

Music and dancing this afternoon and evening, at the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show, Boston Store Building, opposite City Hall.

"How Little We Know."

But the gesture that terminated the pause was eloquent of a grave peril to the peace of the United States.

HOW TO PREPARE.

"I don't believe in militarism," he said. "I'm against it. I detest the thought of it. But we must prepare; not for a war of aims, but of machinery.

"I would have machines assembled and greased up to fire shells. I would not have machines to make one shell by standardized machine. There is no reason why one shoulder do it. I would have munition factories would have everything ready, so we could switch on the power in a moment, and industrial plants be grinding out engines of destruction just as they were doing something else the day before.

"Somebody once said that we were a nation of machinists. Then we will be a nation of war-making machines. If we make machines best! I have great faith in the young men of our country. They are quick, adaptive. There is more need of training to make machines than training in maneuvers, though we should have a trained body of officers who know the machines, if you will to put it that way.

"We should foresee war's possibilities and if possible make it a commercial adventure for another nation to provoke a war with us."

Speaking of the work of the Naval Advisory Board, of which he is a member, Mr. Edison warmly praised the venture, stating that during the war Sam will have 54,000 trained engineers and mechanics, working for the country free of charge, through the extension of the scope of the work.

"We should have a naval aeronautical laboratory, and will," he said, "if the coming war is coming to be a war of mechanical and scientific preparation.

Speaking of the more practical phases of improvements in warfare, the inventor apparatus, Mr. Edison stated that the most needed thing is additional big guns, which have a fifteen-inch bore, a laborious process, rather than the two hundredth discharge. He stated that the periscope must be perfected and that there is a great need for lighter engines for both the aeroplane and the submarine.

NEED OF CONCRETE.

"If we anticipate a war, it is well to see more concrete buildings," he said. "They are not battered in the way that structures of other materials there is usually more left from. We should always remember that the usages of peace are paramount."

Putting a possible European war and a half years on the present European conflict, Mr. Edison said he could be prepared in that length of time for any eventuality that Congress acts.

"And the way to make ready for war is to talk preparedness, and then to get it into the newspapers," he said.

After a short talk with Mrs. Hinda, No. 695 Prospect avenue, Pasadena, whose guest he had been, the automobile trip during the afternoon, Mr. Edison retired and will leave today for San Diego.

The Edison party will remain in Sunday in San Diego, and will leave for the East, by way of the Grand Canyon. Mr. Hinda is the son-in-law of Mr. Edison and is the head of the printing plant on West Fifth street, New York that the first out of the incandescent light was made in the Edison laboratory.

"Perhaps you will return to Southern California to live?" Mr. Edison was asked last night.

"Well, I might not, but I think most of the time is spent in California," he said. "But Southern California is a good place to live in, and Pasadena—it is beautiful."

But the gesture that terminated the pause was eloquent of a dimly seen peril to the peace of the United States.

HOW TO PREPARE.

"I don't believe in militarism," he said. "I'm against it. I don't like the thought of it. But we must prepare; not for a war of men, but of machinery.

"I would have machines all assembled and greased up to make shells. I would not have several machines to make one shell, but a standardized machine. There is no reason why one shouldn't do it all. I would have munition factories. I would have everything ready, so that we could switch on the power at a moment, and industrial plants would be grinding out engines of destruction just as they were doing something else the day before.

"Somebody once said that we are a nation of machinists. Then why not be a nation of war-making machinists if we make machines best? I have great faith in the young men of the country. They are quick, adaptable. There is more need of training them to make machines than training them in maneuvers, though we should also have a trained body of officers; men who know the machines, if you will to put it that way.

"We should foresee war's probability and if possible make it a dangerous adventure for another nation to provoke a war with us."

Speaking of the work of the Naval Advisory Board, of which he is chairman, Mr. Edison warmly praised the venture, stating that shortly the Navy will have 56,000 trained scientists and mechanics, working for him, free of charge, through the enlargement of the scope of the work.

"We should have a naval research laboratory, and will," he said. "Fighting war is coming to be a matter of mechanical and scientific problems."

Speaking of the more patent phases of improvements in war-making apparatus, Mr. Edison stated that the needed thing is additional life for the ten-inch guns, which have to be bored, a laborious process, after about the two hundredth discharge. He also stated that the periscope must be perfected and that there is a crying need for lighter engines for both the aeroplane and the submarine.

NEED OF CONCRETE.

"If we anticipate a war, I'd like to see more concrete buildings," he said. "They are not battered to pieces. The structures of other material, there is usually more to refer from. We should always remember that the usages of peace are usually paramount."

Putting a possible limitation of time and a half years on the present European conflict, Mr. Edison stated that we could be prepared in that length of time for any eventuality, provided Congress acts.

"And the way to make Congress act is to talk preparedness, and continue to get it into the newspapers," he said.

After a short talk with Jesse L. Hinds, No. 695 Prospect Square, Pasadena, whose guest he had been during the automobile trip during the forenoon, Mr. Edison retired early. He will leave today by automobile for San Diego.

The Edison party will remain in San Diego, this will be the last for the East, by way of the Grand Canyon. Mr. Hinds is an old friend of Mr. Edison and it was in his color printing plant on Water street in New York that the first test of the incandescent light was made in 1881.

"Perhaps you will return to Southern California to live?" Mr. Edison was asked last night.

"Well, I might, but you see, I live most of the time in a laboratory," he said. "But Southern California is fine and Pasadena—it is beautiful, beautiful."

REPEAT AUTO SHOW NEXT YEAR THE DEMAND.

POPULAR SENTIMENT OF MOTORING PUBLIC AND DEALERS DEMANDS ANOTHER BROADWAY AUTO AND FLOWER SHOW.

POPULAR enthusiasm of the motoring public of Southern California and the automobile dealers of the motorist's paradise, is clamoring insistently for a repetition of the great Broadway Automobile and Flower Show next season under the same auspices.

The Broadway salon has so far outstripped anything of its kind ever attempted in this section of the West that it is only natural that the prominent dealers are anxious to have an encore. Never before in the history of the automobile industry in the West has a show attracted such wide attention among the automobile owners and prospective buyers. This is another reason for the call for a "repeat" on the show from the dealers and a desire to see another real BIG show in Los Angeles on the part of the motorists.

Never before have the dealers concentrated on one big show as they have this year. This concentration is largely responsible for the unprecedented success of the show, which has eclipsed even the most sanguine expectations of the exhibitors. With the strong support of the Motor Car Dealers' Association and practically every dealer in Los Angeles represented in the show, the committee in charge of the grand salon has accomplished a wonderful success.

The Broadway Automobile and Flower Show has stirred the eastern factory officials to such an extent that they are now demanding that the Los Angeles show be staged again next year under the same management, but that it become a national affair. With the support of the factories, the city of Los Angeles will go on the National Automobile Show circuit.

Once on the circuit with the other large motor car centers of America, Los Angeles will boast of a show in the same class with the wonderful Madison Square Garden exhibit held annually in New York City.

Expert's View.

MUCH BARKING AT DOG SHOW.

Is Strictly Boston Terrier Specialty.

Kerner is Luther Burbank of Canines.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The Pacific Coast Terrier Club opened its second annual specialty show at 411 South Hill street yesterday to the accompaniment of much free and untrammeled barking.

When it comes to a show the average dog barks to beat the band. Dogs which have not been known to open their mouths for a year except to take nourishment immediately stand up on their hind legs and begin to howl when placed on exhibition. It may be that being in the public eye agitates them, or again, they may think that they are to be judged by their voices. If the latter were so, the show would have to be declared a dead heat, for there certainly is not an inferior barker or a dog with a failing voice in the entire assemblage.

The only reason that they didn't raise the roof off the house yesterday is that the precaution had been taken to nail it down.

This is what is known as a specialty show, because it specializes in Boston terriers. No other brand of dog is permitted. There are no large, lumpy dogs like St. Bernards, or Great Danes, while there is a total absence of the Dachshund, or sausage dog, the Pekingese, the chowchow dog, the chop suey dog, and the chile concarne dog. If any of these came nosing around the management certainly would tie the can to them.

No, sir, this is strictly a Boston terrier function. There are nothing to be seen there except terriers, the same as there are nothing but casabas in a field of casabas. True, they may differ slightly in size and shape, but that is nature's way. Irish potatoes are not all exactly alike, and yet no one will have the hardihood to say that they are not potatoes. Some of the potatoes may be sound, and others may have the dry rot, and yet they are all members of the great potato family. This, of course, is purely a figure of speech, none of the terriers, as far as could be seen, is suffering from dry rot, hydrophobia, ennui, gout or other mild ailments. They were a mighty sanitary looking set of dogs, and apparently sound in both mind and body.

As stated, some of the terriers differed slightly in contour, height, depth, breadth, diameter and circumference, and yet there are certain unmistakable points of resemblance which show them to be of the same race. For instance, they are blunt at both ends. Nature in one of her playful moods hammered in the face of the Boston terrier, and while there is some nose to be seen protruding from the general level of the face, it isn't a nose that one would feel justified in bragging about. Therefore it was necessary for man to improve on the work of nature. In order to make the rear of the terrier harmonize with its face, the artistic hand of the veterinary shopped off its tail, leaving it of about the same length and bluntness as his nose. Thus, the Boston terrier finds himself a much better balanced dog than in the beginning. No difference from what direction he is viewed, he is equally handsome. When he starts to wag his tail his nose seems to wag at the same time, leaving the visitor in some doubt as to which end he really intended to wag.

LIKE BURBANK.

The dogs are being judged by W. M. Kerner, who has made a lifelong study of the traits and habits and general organism of terriers. No dog can hope to fool him. He has been at it too long. Mr. Kerner is one of the best two-handed judges of terriers in the business. While Luther Burbank has been devoting his life to fruits and vegetables, Mr. Kerner has devoted his to terriers. He may be said to be the Luther Burbank of the realm of terriers.

However, their spheres of activity are so widely separated that there is no professional jealousy between them. Each freely recognises the great work which the other is doing, and they do not knock each other behind their backs. When Mr. Burbank endeavored to remove the smell from the onion, Mr. Kerner did not belittle the attempt. Instead he went to work trying to invent a Boston terrier with no bark inside of it. That is the way it should be. There should be no petty jealousies in the realm of science.

Furthermore, it would be poor policy for Mr. Burbank to knock the dog business. One of these days he may need a good, dependable, self-starting bulldog to stand guard over his watermelon patch. People are not always to be trusted when there are large, juicy watermelons lying around loose in the moonlight. Human nature is a good deal the same the world over. The agricultural business and bulldog industry are closely related, and in a measure dependent on each other.

Half a hundred dogs are being shown from various angles. They seem much superior to the canine roughnecks who roam the alleys in the dead of night. While the Boston terrier is not deeply spiritual, he generally leads an upright life when chained to a post, and there appears to be few if any moral delinquents among the dogs and bitches being displayed at the show. Most of them come from the very best families.

It is a four-point show. This will be satisfying news to the general public, who were not exactly sure how many points would be involved in the enterprises. Judging of the puppies started yesterday afternoon. Most people have simply regarded a pup as a pup, but they were wrong. There are two kinds. Terrier pups are grouped the same as college students. There are junior pups and senior pups. However, there the similarity ends, the show not being conducted on a co-educational basis. The dogs are placed in one class and the bitches in another. The junior pups in this show range from six to nine months, and the seniors from nine to twelve. Pups below six months are not wanted. This show is neither a kindergarten nor a nursery. Only pups who are able to stand on their own legs are eligible to compete.

However, these little ones will have their inning tomorrow, when the club will top off the exhibition with a puppy match. This will be for puppies under six months. They will all be accompanied by their parents, and the brood bitches and stud dogs will be judged at the same time. This really makes it a family affair.

Del Rey Rexona, owned by Mrs. Martin Smith, president of the club, hopes to become a champion during the week. Del won at the Pasadena show, and also at San Mateo. He needs only two more points to get into the championship class. Del says that he will defend his title against all comers, and will not stall around for a year or two like a lot of our champions, trying to pick up some easy money.

Yankee Doodle King, owned by Mrs. E. C. King, was adjudged the best male dog in the show last night after heated competition. Yankee Doodle is strictly an unhyphenated American product, and carries his honors modestly. Tomorrow night he will be pitted against the best lady dog in the show for the highest honors. The ladies will be judged today, starting at 10 a.m. Second place among the gentlemen went to Rockdale Jack, owned and fed by Mrs. H. C. Albertson. Should Yankee Doodle die suddenly or something else happen to him, it will be up to Jack to compete with the leading lady dog of the show for high honors tonight. He would be sort of a pinch-hitter, so to speak. That is the idea of having a reserve of second-choice dogs of each gender. Other winners were:

ON NATIONAL SHOW CIRCUIT.

Factories to Get Behind Auto Exhibits.

Early Spring is Picked as Best Time.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

Los Angeles will be on the regular National Automobile Show circuit next year.

This was almost definitely assured yesterday, when members of the Motor Car Dealers' Association, under whose auspices the great Broadway Automobile and Flower Show is being held, informally discussed next year's exhibit.

In all probability a member of the executive board will go East within the next two weeks to confer with officials there.

With the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show this year Los Angeles took its rightful place among the big exhibition cities of the world. All previous affairs drifted into insignificance when compared to the salon now running. They were mere bush league, local events.

T. J. Toner, zone manager of the Toner Motor Sales Corporation, was the first to state definitely that Los Angeles should take rank with New York and Chicago, should supersede Boston, Philadelphia and a half-dozen other eastern cities as a show center.

Mr. Toner took one look at the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show on Wednesday night. "This is too wonderful to confine to purely local auspices," he said. "By all means make Los Angeles a part of the national show circuit. Let the factories bear the expense of the exhibits."

Members of the Motor Car Dealers' Association were not slow to grasp Mr. Toner's meaning. "We are proving every day and night this week that we can do things up right. We have the people, the money, the prestige—everything that is necessary to conduct a real motor salon. Now let the factories bear the brunt of the expense." That was the sentiment on all sides.

MEETINGS.

Yesterday this sentiment crystallized to the extent of several informal meetings, at which influential dealers spoke their views. It was generally conceded that Los Angeles would be part of the big show circuit next year. The hopes of the local gasoline contingent is that this city will be given precedence over all but New York and Chicago.

If the plans to make the Los Angeles show national in character go through according to present plans, show time will come in either January or February. The big show in Gotham is held the first week of the new year. Chicago follows immediately after, with only the lapse of a necessary week in which the displays are shipped from New York to the Windy City.

Following these come the shows in Boston, Philadelphia and the lesser ones at Minneapolis, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Kansas City, Atlanta and other cities.

IN THE SPRING.

The idea is to have the Los Angeles show just before spring, instead of in the fall, as at present. It would entail too much expense and effort in every direction to have the show here immediately after the Chicago exhibit, for it would mean shipping a lot of cars clear across the country, and then right back again. The feasible plan will be to wait until all the larger eastern shows are off the boards and then let Los Angeles show even the "Big Two"—New York and Chicago—that the motor car dealers here and the Los Angeles public can equal anything in the way of an automobile salon ever staged for gasoline devotees.

F. C. Chandler, president of the Chandler Motor Car Company of Cleveland O., who was in the city for the opening of the great show and spent two days here as the guest of Earl V. Armstrong, president of the local company, also expressed a great MANUAL PLAYS FOOTBALL WITH POLY ELEVEN TODAY.

TWO green teams will line up at Washington Park this afternoon determined to lick the stuffing out of each other. Behind this resolve will be years of bitter rivalry together with aspirations to the football title of the city.

The Manual Arts and Polytechnic go looks like an easy time for the Toilers. Thus far the Polytechnic team has been woefully weak. Last Saturday Santa Ana walked over it by a huge score with little or no trouble.

Coach Haslett of Poly has been molding this material over again during the week, but it does not seem probable that there could be great improvement in so short a time.

SHIFTY.

Bland has been shifted from half to end and, according to Haslett, is good for long, dodging runs. Davis will get a try at the quarter job as well as Haney and will be used at full during part of the game.

Haslett decided after the Santa Ana game that he would not resort to open football during the rest of the season. The great number of fumbles made gave him cold feet regarding the forward pass and he says that this afternoon he will use only old style, steady, plunging football.

Manual Arts has but one player experienced in American ball—Claron Galloway, who is expected to star at quarter. However, Coach Fitsch's men have been more consistent and heady in their early games and have shown great offense. McMillan at center is said to be a great little scrapper and able to bowl over anyone that is placed in front of him. He has even been mentioned for the All-Southern team.

FORWARD PASS.

It seems probable that with Lamport engineering the team that the forward pass will be greatly relied upon.

Great preparations have been made by the student bodies of both schools. New yells have been manufactured, megaphones ordered and assistant yell leaders trained. There will be plenty of pep even if the quality of the play is not up to par.

NEW USE FOR EASTLAND.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The Eastland, which tipped over in the Chicago River July 24 with a loss of 812 lives, may be used as a government naval training ship, it was announced last night.

Tomorrow.

BOOT MIGHT DECIDE GAME.

Oxy and Whittier Have Two Classy Kickers.

Duel May Develop Between Captains.

Tigers Work Out in Dummy Scrimmage.

The question of boot, boot, who's got the best boot, may be of burning import tomorrow on the old Occidental campus, when the Tigers take on the Whittier Quakers in their annual fracas, upon which so much depends this year.

The teams on paper are so evenly matched that the three points secured by drop or place kick may decide the issue.

And both elevens are provided with young gentlemen quite capable of whanging the ball over the bar from anywhere inside the forty-yard mark.

TWO CAPTAINS.

Capt. Bogue of Whittier uses the place kick method of accomplishing his results, while Capt. McClung of Occidental makes a specialty of dropping them over without the assistance of anyone.

Of the two the edge, if any, lies with McClung because of his ability to boot the ball farther. Each man has slipped over four goals from the field in the regularly scheduled games this season.

Yesterday was one of comparative peace and quiet out at Occidental, the team rambling through dummy scrimmage and trying out a lot of plays. Daniels and Wells were at end, Shipke and Deems at tackle, Hollinger and Holmes at guard, Wieman at center, Lenz at quarter, Brandstetner at full and McClung and Batz at halves.

SID FOSTER.

Sid Foster was out in a suit following the practice around and learning the signals. He will be out in a suit tomorrow, but will not play unless everybody else on the squad gets killed. He is a court of last resort and might possibly be shoved in for psychological effect.

The only changes in the Occidental line-up worthy of note are the displacement of Smith at half by Batz and Warren at center by Wieman. Both of the displaced are parties who will get their chance to prove their worth on Saturday, though they will not start the game.

GRIDIRON FIGURES.

BY JOE PUNT.

In compiling these figures the teams were divided into two groups, one composed of the college teams and the other elevens playing institutions of college rank. The Class B was made up of the teams in the city high school league.

The only games counted in the scoring were those regularly scheduled with teams of equal rank, several outside contests in which the universities of California and Arizona and St. Mary's College competed being counted in.

As far as the individual points are concerned they are not supposed to give a line on the relative values of players and most of the scores made by Messrs. Bogue, McClung, Livernash, et al., would not be made if the other ten men on their respective teams were not doing their share.

PELKY FLOORED TWELVE TIMES IN FIFTH ROUND.

OSHKOSH (Wis.) Oct. 28.—After Arthur Pelkey had been knocked down twelve times in the fifth round of his bout with Fred Fulton here on Thursday night, the bell rang. If it hadn't been for the bell there is no telling how many times Fulton would have had to send Pelkey to the mat before he would be compelled to quit.

It was a cheesy affair up to the fourth round, but after that the big fellows really began to box and slug and then there was something doing. Pelkey did not seem to take kindly to the affair from the first. He did the cleanest hitting in the early rounds, but was on the defensive nearly all the time, and was kept busy dodging the wild swings of Mike Collins's champion.

In the fifth round Pelkey hopped out of his corner fresh as a daisy, only to run into a stiff right to the jaw that tumbled him over on the mat. He seemed surprised, but not hurt, and heeding the advice of his seconds, stayed down for the count of nine. Fulton was waiting for him when he rose to his feet and hooked another right into the same portion of Pelkey's visage. Arthur dropped again, but he was up in a second and tore after Fulton. Fred sidestepped him, sank a right into Pelkey's breadbasket, and Pelkey doubled up.

He took a long count again, also on the advice of his seconds, but Fulton was waiting for him as soon as he got off his knees, and a slight push from Fulton's mitt sent the ex-white champion over once more.

The crowd that packed Sam Howard's Oshkosh arena, many of whom had come down in a special train to see Fulton perform, were beside themselves with glee, and yelled for Fulton to put him away. As soon as knocked down Luther McCarthy's conqueror was up like a rubber ball. Fulton never gave him a chance to get set when Pelkey did rise to his feet, a right to the jaw dropping him again. When he dropped for the tenth time, Pelkey's second tossed a towel into the ring. Wisconsin boxing rules do not allow this, and Referee Stout went right on counting. Two more times Pelkey went down before a member of the boxing commission ordered the fight stopped.

GOLFERS ORDERED TO OWN BAGS AT GRIFFITH PARK.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

AFTER this golfers must own their own bag of clubs if they want to play on the Griffith Park course. So popular are the municipal links on every day of the week that, to avoid congestion, the park department reluctantly came to the conclusion that the one-bag-one-family type of golf match would have to be excluded.

A week ago numerous golfers who frequent the city course became perturbed about the condition of the seventeenth green and expended much energy in getting a monster petition signed, imploring its improvement. The reply, signed by H. W. Keller, was prompt and courteous, and includes this soothing clause:

"The park department is glad to receive suggestions at all times looking to the improvement, and it will not be necessary to accompany your requests with petitions."

That is something like a park department. There is joy at Griffith Park. Likewise the department has let itself in for a busy time, for nine golfers out of ten have a distinct weakness for "suggestions." There never was a course yet that entirely suited all the players. The green committees of the various country clubs could a tale unfold. There is always just one tree too many, one bunker too near or too far, one tee in a valley that ought to be on a hill, or one on a hill that ought to be in a valley! The greens are always too fast or too slow, and there is always, always a patch of rough grass that ought to be mown forthwith.

Still, there is nothing like courage in a park department. And H. W. Keller is recognized as a tactful personage.

Play in the bronze statue competition will take place on all the courses tomorrow, Saturday, the 30th. Handicap match play against par, handicaps allotted on the Calkins system.

KID WILLIAMS KNOCKED DOWN TWICE BY MOORE.

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Oct. 28.—Pal Moore, local bantamweight from practically out of the unknown as a championship contender, gained a visible shade over Kid Williams of Baltimore, the bantamweight champion in an eight-round fight here tonight.

A compilation of rounds showed that Moore had the second, fourth and fifth, the champion the first, sixth and seventh and the third and eighth were even.

Two clean knock-downs scored by Moore, one in the fourth and another in the fifth round, the only knock-downs of the fight, entitled the local boy to a decision had Referee Billy Haack been equipped with the power of voice. It was a no-decision fight, but there was hardly a spectator familiar with the Queensberry pastime who did not see a victory for Moore.

Williams fought a vicious fight and Moore returned the fight just as viciously. Williams, although sent down twice from right crosses to the jaw, was up before Referee Haack could start counting on him.

The local boy outboxed Williams whenever they played at open fighting. In the clinches Williams was master, but his advantage was not sufficient to even matters for Moore's advantage in boxing and the two knock-downs scored by Pal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The San Francisco club, winners of the Pacific Coast League championship, won the first game of a seven-game post-season series today by defeating Oscar Vitt's all-stars, 8 to 7.

The all-stars included a number of major league players and the Seals drove Joe Oeschger of the Philadelphia Nationals out of the box in two innings, and stole seven bases off Eddie Burns, who caught every game for the Philadelphia Nationals in the recent world series. Score:

All-Stars, 7; hits, 14; errors, 2.

MIXED DOUBLES TITLE SETTLED.

SUNDAY, JR., BREAKS LEG.

WARSAW (Ind.) Oct. 28.—Carrying the ball across for a touchdown that won the game for his team, Billy Sunday, Jr., son of Evangelist and Mrs. Billy Sunday of Winona Lake, this afternoon suffered a broken leg. Young Sunday was a member of the Winona school team and was performing to the utmost satisfaction of his illustrious sire, who was dancing and shouting with glee on the side lines.

"It's all right Billy; you won the game," was the encouragement that came from the evangelist as he helped to carry the lad to his home near by. Young Sunday is 15 years old. The accident will prevent his mother from accompanying Evangelist Sunday to Syracuse on Friday.

YALE SMOTHERS COLGATE PLAYS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Oct. 28.—Yale's preparation for the Colgate game practically closed today when a short scrimmage duel was ordered for the varsity eleven. It was compelled to face the ineligibles for a fifteen-minute playing period on the defenses. The ineligibles had been drilled in the Colgate tandem line attack and forward passes shown by Colgate this fall. None of the Colgate plays gained ground. On the offense the varsity in four minutes' scrimmaging drove from midfield for the only touchdown of the afternoon. Scovil worked his way around the end for twenty yards, and Capt. Wilson took the ball over through center. Waite did the punting, and the improvement he has shown under the tutelage of Dr. Bull the last week points to him as Yale's selection for the final games.

TENNIS TOURNEY NEAR SEMIFINALS.

Hull defeated Tripp, 1-6, 6-2, 12-10 in the Los Angeles High School tennis tournament yesterday. Kirkpatrick also retired J. Wigmore to the tune of 6-2, 6-2. Both of the winners are now sure of a berth in the semifinals.

WINTER BALL IN IMPERIAL.

Season to be Two Months and Half Long.

Officers are Elected at Called Meeting.

Salary Limit is Fixed for Each Club.

IMPERIAL, Oct. 28.—Winter baseball for the valley was definitely assured tonight when representatives from Brawley, Imperial, El Centro and Calexico met here and organized the Imperial Valley League for 1915. A season of two and a half months was decided upon, the opening game to be played about the middle of November.

Peter P. Hovley of Brawley, was re-elected president of the league, despite his contrary desires. John T. Beekler of Calexico, was elected vice-president, and Joseph F. Seymour of El Centro, secretary. These men with R. C. Jekyl of Brawley and Fred Jacobs of Imperial will constitute the board of directors.

SALARY LIMIT.

Van McCarrell of El Centro, Paul Black of Imperial, R. C. Jekyl of Brawley, and Mr. Beekler were appointed a committee to arrange the schedule. A salary limit of $825 a month was decided upon. Each team will deposit $125 to be forfeited should the team fail to fill out the season.

While the league meeting was in session the representatives were in long distance communication with the Calexico club, which was holding a meeting. They reported that the Calexico City Council had voted to subscribe $250 to the guarantee fund to come out of the publicity fund.

The matter of umpires was discussed at the league meeting. Billy Phyle will undoubtedly return to the valley this season, with another to be selected.

EL CENTRO.

A good start has been made in building up the four teams. El Centro's line-up is practically complete. Manager Seymour gave a free hand to "Rube" Gardner to round up a bunch to accompany him to the valley. Walter Alexander of the New York Americans is coming back to do the backstop work and is bringing a teammate in Vance, a pitcher. The Angels will be asked to contribute Phil Koerner and McMullen. The Beavers will probably supply a quota in Bates and Ward, while Rube will bring from the Oaks, Pitcher Prough, and from Vernon and Salt Lake, Johnson and Ryan, to keep him company in the outfield.

BRAWLEY.

At Brawley Manager Nagle has the nucleus of a ball crew. Gus Gleichmann is back and says he will be able to play; Baeder, who pitched Buffalo into first place in the International League will return and will have for a fellow moundsman, Delhi, of the Kansas City nine. Bliss of the Western League will backstop, and for the outfield Beals Becker of the Phillies will probably return and be flanked by Ellis of the Angels and Daniels of Louisville, also a member of last year's nine.

At Calexico Manager Bill Stanton is getting under way. He stepped into the breach caused by the resignation of the first board of directors and is now getting his lines out. At Imperial Managen Paul Black is rounding out his team, but keeping mum. He left tonight for Los Angeles to complete the team.

CALEXICO.

FREE HAT FOR SOME FOOTBALLER.

ED KNOX OFFERS LID TO PLAYER GETTING MOST POINTS.

Ed Knox, the gent who has been supplying several generations of baseball players with free hats, has now entered the football field. He offers a first-class lid to the Occidental player scoring the greatest number of points against Whittier in tomorrow's game. So if you see Tubby Wieman forget to pass the ball to quarter and charge madly toward the Quaker goal with it remember that he has visions of a new derby.

MANUAL ARTS MEN IN TOURNAMENT.

Play in the Manual Arts tennis tournament has reached the semifinals stage. The results to date follow:

Nihart beat Brisacher, 6-3, 6-2; M. Reinke beat Wallace, 6-2, 6-2; R. Reinke beat Lyon, 6-2, 6-2; Ligda beat Callahan, 5-7, 7-5, 7-5; Snodgrass beat Deffebach, 6-3, 6-2; Winne beat McLoughlin, 6-1, 6-2; Sirmin beat McGuire, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Chicago has been chosen as the home of a new section of the Society of Automobile Engineers.

Oxy Shortstop Considering McCredie's Offer.

Coast Magnates Slashing Stars' Salaries.

Berger Feels that He has been Injured.

Walter McCredie, determined to try out his theory of building up a team of young players around a few veterans, yesterday approached Harry Kirkpatrick, the former Occidental star, with an offer to play with the Beavers next season. Three times before this, it is said, Kirkpatrick has received tentative offers from the Beaver management.

Kirkpatrick while playing with Occidental was rated as one of the best college shortstops developed in Southern California in recent years. He is a graduate manager at the institution. He had not considered making baseball a profession, but he has received so many offers from McCredie and others that he may not be able to resist the lure of the game and the money that goes with it.

...h Salaries.

...e cutting and slashing in the salaries of the Vernon players for next season, and the probability that other clubs will do likewise, has resulted in some weeping and wailing. Berger and Purtell continue in a holdout stand. It has been announced that they also will suffer an operation in the region of his 1916 contract. However, this would seem to be immaterial, as it was learned several weeks ago that a trade was on foot which would take him to Oakland in exchange for Roxy Middleton or some other athlete. This will leave Dick Egan to fight out the salary question with the Oakland powers.

...ne to Come.

...Cuts of greater or less degree were certain to come. Retrenchment should have started a year ago. With this ridiculously done just as good baseball could have been served, and the players would not have been hit so hard in their 1916 contracts. The players would have been just as well off in the long run, for it is they who eventually pay the freight. Top-heavy salary rolls for a year or two mean lean ones later. In the last analysis, patronage governs everything in baseball. Minor league baseball is very poor financially, and if ever it needed the application of sound business principles, it is now.

The Oakland club, it is said, pulled a couple of deals that knocked a big hole in its season's returns. The Oaks paid $15500 for Marcan and $2500 to get a clear title to Prough who came to the club as the property of the White Sox. Players of equal caliber probably could have been secured for a third or half of that amount.

...ger's Case.

...e charge attributed to the Vernon officials that Berger laid down this season is causing Joe considerable worry. Coming on top of the big cut, it is almost more than he can stand. The two, however, the charge of being a lizzard hurts the most.

...hen I saw this statement I could not believe that it had ever been made," said Berger. "If the statement was made it certainly was putting it a little too strong. I have been playing ball a good many years now, and this is the first time that it ever has been suggested that I did not give my club the best that was in me. If I have ever been guilty of it has not been through lack of effort. Los Angeles fans know me pretty well by this time, and I am so sure in my own conscience that I cannot think that the charge would be considered if left to the fans.

"I am placed in a bad light, and without cause. A ball player is in a position defenseless, and placed at a great disadvantage in a matter of this kind. I know he is human, and being human I want my friends—both here and in the East—to know that the charge is absolutely without foundation. Joe Berger will grow old, and in time he will fall, as all others have failed before him, but it can never be said truthfully of him that he quit.

"As far as the salary matter was concerned, I voluntarily suggested a cut of $525 for next season, but refused when the club wanted to lop off $1500.

"It is true that I have received offers from the Federals—two of which I received yesterday. I am not considering them. Last spring I could have gone to them and received big money. Instead I am driven out of it. Neither will I attempt to arrange a deal with any other Coast League club. Any deal which I might try to make would have to be satisfactory to the Vernon club. It is almost impossible for a player to negotiate a deal for him-

The charge attributed to the Vernon officials that Berger laid down on them is causing Joe considerable worry. Coming on top of the big cut, almost more than he can stand. The charge, however, the charge of being yellow hurts the most. When I saw this statement I could hardly believe that it had ever been made," said Berger. "If the statement was made it certainly was putting it rather strong. I have been playing ball a good many years now, and this is the first time that it ever has been charged that I did not give my club all that was in me. If I have ever done it has not been through lack of effort. Los Angeles fans know me well enough by this time, and I am so sure of my own conscience that I think that the charge would be unjust if left to the fans.

"I am placed in a bad light, and without cause. A ball player is in a peculiar business, and placed at a great disadvantage in a matter of this kind. He is human, and being human, like my friends-both here and in Vernon-to know that the charge is made without foundation. Joe Cantillon will grow old, and in time he will die, as all others have failed before him, but it can never be said of him that he quit.

Berger, it is said, drew big money last season, the Tigers being compelled to assume his Chicago contract.

Purtell's Contract.

Billy Purtell's case also seems to be somewhat acute. Billy's contract with Detroit called for $400 a month, and Vernon assumed this. It was proposed to chop $100 a month off this for 1916, whereupon Purtell refused to grasp the pen and sign his name.

Jack's Suspicion.

Jack Ryan of the Angels has a horrible suspicion that he too is about to have his princely salary reduced. The Feds wanted Jack pretty severely last spring and on the strength of this, as well as his right-handed ability, he drew down a fat contract. Jack says he not only will refuse to stand for a cut, but will ask for a raise. Jack is no piker. He expects to meet Powers this afternoon, and this conference may result in a showdown.

desire to see Los Angeles placed on the national show map. It would be a great assistance to the Los Angeles dealers if the factories would support a show here in the greatest motor car field in the United States. According to the Chandler president, there is no reason why Los Angeles should not be recognized as a national show center next season.

F. Z. Kelp, western representative for the Chandler factory, is anxious to see Los Angeles become the ninth city on the show circuit and he said that he will not leave a stone unturned this winter in an effort to work up enthusiasm among other factory officials.

John H. A. Campbell, special representative of the Paige factory, has made the statement to officials of the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show and to Clarence and Stanley Smith, the local Paige distributors, that the Paige factory will positively exhibit in Los Angeles next season if the show is handled by the same organization that was behind it this year.

C. A. Pfeffer, vice-president of the Chalmers factory organization, is also quoted as being strongly in favor of putting Los Angeles on the national show map.

W. M. Bieling, Premier factory representative, is also lined up for the Los Angeles show next year if it is run under the same auspices and he has promised that his factory will assist the local dealers in their exhibit.

Norman de Vaux of the Chevrolet Motor Company of California arrived in the city yesterday and after seeing the Broadway show, expressed a desire to see the factory represented in the next show held under the Motor Car Dealers' Association in this city.

This expression was backed up by a wire from the president of the Chevrolet factory later in the day to R. C. Durant, local Chevrolet manager, congratulating him on the success of the Broadway show and stating that the factory would send out an exhibit from Flint, Mich., for the Broadway show next year.

Harold L. Arnold, Hudson and Dodge distributor, said that it made little difference to him whether or not the factories exhibited here. "I will have an exhibit in the show next year," said Mr. Arnold, "and every year, for that matter. The Broadway show is the greatest success ever scored in the Pacific Coast and as a dealer I will enter my own cars again next season."

An electric sign with the word "welcome" greets the tourists as they come into the eastern side of Omaha, Neb., over the Missouri River bridge. It runs the full width of the bride and is eight feet high. On the west side of the sign, for the benefit of tourists going west, it reads, 'Good-by, come again."

DECISION FIGHTS LIKELY IN GOTHAM.

GOV. WHITMAN SAYS HE WILL NOT OBJECT IF FAVORED BY COMMISSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—If the New York State Boxing Commission desires to permit referees' decisions in pugilistic contests Gov. Whitman will not object, he said tonight. Fred A. Wenck, chairman of the commission, said recently that the commission would not pass finally on the question of decisions, for which there is much agitation, until two more members of the commission had been appointed by the Governor and his views on decisions obtained. The Governor said he would make the additional appointments within a few days.

MANUAL BEATS U.S.C. PREP TEAM.

Manager Cliff Henderson of the U. S. C. Preps put his team through their first game of the season yesterday afternoon when they were met and defeated by the Manual Arts squad in the Manual gymnasium by a 33 to 28 score.

Both coaches made numerous changes in the line-up of the squads so as to give all the boys a tryout.

COLE 8

The Standardized Car

Cutting Maintenance Costs

Inaccessibility of vital parts increases that item.

1916 Cole 8 construction is such that we know it will require but a minimum of repair. The carefully planned design offers the most accessible construction. When occasion demands the necessary work can be done easily and quickly. No cramped locations; no intricate, mechanical complexities. The 1916 Cole 8, among its other features, is distinctly get-at-able.

FALSTAFF

"The choicest product of the brewer's art"

enjoys that delicious flavor because the whole three quarters of a century of Lemp brewing experience has culminated in this superb beer.

The flavor is uniform, because it is controlled by the malt; and the malt used in its production is all made by Lemp methods in the Lemp brewery.

Beer is a food. Bread and beer are made of the same materials; cereals, yeast and water. Bread is solid; beer is liquid—both are highly nourishing. Physicians prescribe beer to produce energy, build tissue and strengthen nerves.

AT THE STAGE DOOR

By GRACE KINGSLEY

A combination has been formed between the Paramount Company and Klaw & Erlanger, whereby a $2,000,000 corporation is to control "suitable theaters for showing the Paramount programme," according to an announcement made from the Jesse L. Lasky offices yesterday.

On further inquiry as to what these "suitable theaters" might be, it developed that the K. & E. houses in certain cities were considered "suitable." The Los Angeles houses showing Paramount pictures will not, however, be affected.

Just how this will explain the bookings of eastern stage attractions in the West remains to be seen, though. It may be a very serious factor, however.

Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, Al Zukor, Samuel Goldfish and W. W. Hopkinson constitute the executive board. The Lasky representative stated that the reason for the forming of the corporation was in order to give the Paramount pictures more houses in which to exhibit.

Wardles of Ida.

There are those who claim that Eddie Leonard wrote his famous song, "Ida, Sweet as Apple Cider," after gazing upon the little actress, Ida St. Leon, whom he saw in a circus back East where she was appearing with her parents as a slip of a girl. If Eddie could gaze on the delightful little actress in one of her clever characterizations at the Burbank now the chances are he would write a song with even more "tang" to it, entitled, mayhap, "Ida, Honey Bunch, You're the Maraschino in My Champagne Punch."

Dare of Two-a-Day.

So Suffers Art.

Not a single big leaguer of the baseball folk, it is said, has gone into vaudeville this year. Dear me, the theatrical business and artistic circles do feel it

Anita Coming Back.

Anita King, the Paramount girl, and one of the pluckiest young women in America, who recently made the trip across the country to New York in an automobile alone, will arrive in Los Angeles next Saturday afternoon via the Santa Fe. Dozens of Miss King's friends will greet her, and there will be a parade through town in her honor.

Saturday night will be Anita King night at the Auto and Flower Show, and a dinner will be given in her honor Sunday night at the Alexandria. Monday evening Miss King will speak at the Woodley Theater on her trip.

Tripped in Mazy.

Sincere Row.

When Geraldine Farrar and Jeanie McPherson, who have the little hair-pulling passage in "Carmen," being shown at Tally's this week, discussed the fight before it came off, they decided to have a real hair-pulling match, no "prop" fight. And the picture shows it. Wallace Reid and Billie Elmer determined to emulate the young women and the picture also shows they succeeded.

Will see herself tonight.

Clara Williams, who is adding to the illumination on the Superba's screen this week, with a vivid characterization of the part of the adventuress in the Ince feature, "The Man From Oregon," will be present in person tonight. Inceville night, at the theater.

Poor Jim.

James Corrigan rises to remark that he will give a thousand dollars to anybody who will furnish him with a role that does not call for him to be a mean, aggressive thing in every act. He longs to reform and play a kind old man part where he can sit in a rocker and smoke and hand out purses of money to the poor.

New Noise on Rialto.

The National Film Corporation studios and laboratories are to move from their present quarters to the Quality Studio, at the corner of Gower and Sunset boulevard, in Hollywood. The Quality Company is to leave for New York next week.

Welcome Rhea.

Mysterious Movies.

De Wolf Hopper, brilliant comedian, arrived at the Fine Arts Film Studio yesterday from location, weather-beaten and travel stained. Taking his trusty pipe from between his lips, Mr. Hopper announced:

"I'm suffering my death throes right now, or shall be in a moment. Yet I shan't be shot for two weeks. Truly the movies work in a mysterious way their wonders to perform.

Who Spoke.

Brownie Dupont, the latest example of the genus "perfect woman" to be discovered, will appear at the Orpheum next week. Brownie will wear only a union suit and rays of light. If that stereopticon ever busts—well Brownie will lose a big part of her wardrobe, that's all!

Carter to Elocute.

How'd He Know.

A tall, bewhiskered stranger, probably from Watts, swooped down on the Burbank box office about 8 p.m. Tuesday night and in a gentle voice—Billie Collin heard it back on the stage—asked Treasurer Ervast if "Nearly Married" had any dorggone thing to do with them there war brides?"

To Deum.

Things to be thankful for November 25:

Manager Will Wyatt's play is still in the making.

Eddie Lowe wears no wrist watch.

Ida St. Leon isn't going to leave the Burbank.

The season for sport shirts has gone out.

Winifred Bryson didn't desert to pictures.

The Orpheum bill for next week promises to be free of Ford jokes.

The rainy season is coming on, when the motion picture actor may draw his pay and not work.

Jane Stays.

Jane Gray postponed her departure for New York in order to finish some retakes in "A Mother of Seven," the film which she is doing for the Griffith Triangle. Miss Gray is under contract with A. H. Woods to play the lead in a new production entitled "The Guilty Man."

Due Among Us.

Lenore Ulrich will appear on the Coast shortly, having just signed a contract with Manager Oliver Morosco calling for both picture and stage work. There is a rumor that the Shuberts expected to keep Miss Ulrich, but that after her little talk with Mr. Morosco they hadn't a chance in the world.

Miss Ulrich is to create the leading role in Maude Fulton's new play, "The Brat," shortly to be put on at the Burbank.

More War Notes.

Take it from Anna Held, who has been nursing in the French hospitals and who is in New York at present, the French writers are sharpening up their pencils, on war play thoughts intent.

LEFTY WILLIAMS COMES CLOSE TO CACK'S MARKS.

LEFTY WILLIAMS of Salt Lake came close to breaking two league records hung up by Cack Henley, when in 1910 he was pitching for San Francisco. With his thirty-two wins for the season, Williams fell only two shy of the Henley record of thirty-four wins, which has stood as the modern league record if one does not care to go back to the early days of the Coast League, when in 1904 Pitcher Newton of Los Angeles figured in thirty-nine wins for the season. But Williams came closer to Henley's record of the largest number of innings pitched. In 1910 Henley worked a total of 450 innings for the season, and this year Williams with 431 2-3 innings of work came close to equaling this record than any Coast League pitcher has ever come.

HARDEST WORKED.

Second to Williams as the hardest worked pitcher in the league was Dutch Klawitter of Oakland, who was the only other pitcher to pass the 400-inning mark. Klawitter worked a total of 402 innings. Ryan of Los Angeles was third on the list with 376 innings; then came Prough of Oakland, 358 1-3 innings, and Love of Los Angeles, with 355 innings.

More runs were scored against Williams than against any other pitcher, opponents crossing the rubber 167 times while he was pitching. Klawitter was a close second with opponents piling up 166 runs, and Prough was third, with 163 runs scored against him.

SLIM LOVE.

But when it came to averaging up the runs for which each pitcher was responsible per nine innings Love of Los Angeles was the class of the pitchers who might be termed "regulars" for the season. Love was responsible for an average of only 1.92 runs per nine innings. Second among the regulars came Piercy of Vernon, responsible for an average of 2.18 runs per nine innings. Baum, responsible for an average of 2.55 runs per nine innings, was the best bet of the pennant-winning Seals, closely followed by Fanning, at 2.56. Lush, at 2.58, and Coveleskie at 2.64, were Portland's best bets. Lefty Williams, responsible for an average of 2.70 runs per nine innings, was Salt Lake's most effective pitcher. Burns, the Los Angeles discard, headed the Oakland pitchers with a nine-inning run responsibility of 2.85, with Pruiett close on his heels at 2.87. Coveleskie was the only Portland pitcher who was responsible for an average of less than three runs per nine innings, his record showing him responsible for 2.64 runs per nine innings.

HIT SPIDER.

More hits were made against Spider Baum of San Francisco than against any other pitcher, opponents piling up a total of 397 hits. Williams of Salt Lake was next with 393 hits; Klawitter was next in line with 382 hits for opponents, and then came Prough with 371.

As in run responsibility, so also in keeping opponents to low batting averages, Love of Los Angeles was the class of the league, the aggregate batting average of all opponents who faced him during the season being only .220. Fanning was the best San Francisco pitcher in holding opponents to low batting averages, his record showing an average of .240 for opponents. Piercy led the Vernon pitchers, holding opponents to .242. Lush of Portland held opponents to .245. Lefty Williams headed the Salt Lake pitchers, holding opponents to a .254 batting clip, and Klawitter held opponents to .261 for the best showing for an Oakland pitcher.

WHITE AUTOS TO PLAY SAN PEDRO.

WILL NOT MEET PACIFIC ELECTRICS IN BASEBALL GAME.

The White Autos, champion amateur ball players of the United States, dropped into Los Angeles yesterday for a short stay. While here they will play only one game, and that against the San Pedro ball club. Because of a squabble between those controlling Washington Park and the promoters of the event there will be no game between the Pacific Electrics and the visitors.

1916 OLDSMOBILE
The Quality Light Car

There is no change in the running of your Oldsmobile going up the steepest grades. Gasoline is supplied to the carburetor unfailingly at all times.

The Stewart Vacuum gasoline system in Oldsmobile 43 insures even running under all conditions. It draws gasoline from the rear tank to a small tank under the hood, where the gasoline falls in an even, positive flow to the carburetor. No gasoline is forced wastefully through the carburetor to cause an over-rich mixture, sluggishness and carbonization.

BIG BUSINESS AT LONG BEACH

Building Projects Progress with Rapidity.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Oct. 28.—There are important industrial develop-ments in the harbor section today and addi-tional activity in the residence sec-tion, embracing the following items: Negotiations are under way by which Salt Lake is expected to donate land for a submarine base for the navy; more than $60,000 worth of machinery was ordered for the plant of the American Products Company; excavation for the big Porterfield Cliffwellers' Inn, was begun. Although local officials of the road refused to affirm or deny the project, E. Hatch, banker and director of the California Shipbuilding Company, and other big business men here are working on a plan whereby the railroad will donate to the Federal government a piece of land lying along its right-of-way extending to the inside channel to the Los Angeles Harbor for a base for submarines. The road has been very liberal in its donations of its low-lying lands for public use.

POTASH PLANT.

George H. Simmonds, hardware merchant of St. Louis, who purchased the potash making plant of the American Potash Company while on a vacation here recently, means business. He ordered a vast amount of machinery from Chicago for delivery by November 10, when it will immediately be installed in the plant. It will make potash from kelp.

Building is brisk in this city. The most large building to be begun is the Cliffwellers' Inn, a six-story apartment-house to be erected on the bluff at the foot of American avenue by W. L. Porterfield and associates. Ground was broken for the hotel today when a large crew of men and teams began delving for the foundations. Work on the structure, which will be one of the finest of the kind on the Coast, is to be rushed. More than $95,000 worth of buildings of other kinds were begun this month.

WOMAN BITES OFFICER!

An elderly Amazon whom Officer Hall arrested on the charge of begging in the vicinity of Atlantic avenue and Seaman street almost placed that policeman in the hospital, so viciously did she attack him. He bears a badly bitten hand and lacerations on the face and arms caused from bites and scratches, besides a bruised head. The resident telephoned that the woman wanted money, getting abusive when clothes and food were offered her. When the officer appeared she immediately attacked him and it was but minutes before she was subdued. She refused to give her name, residence or to plead when brought before Police Judge Hawkins. Wages were boosted by City Commissioners today in several instances. Harbor Commissioner Cates decided to raise the salary of the bandmaster, Frank C. Foster. Then Mayor Lisenby took his turn and agreed to raise the salaries of E. K. Kallgren, F. M. Graves, R. A. Lynn and A. L. Lovett in his department.

PACKING-HOUSES AT UPLAND BURN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UPLAND, ONTARIO, Oct. 28.—The G. A. Gibson packing-house, over near the railroad line, was totally destroyed by fire tonight, and a half-dozen other packing-houses and business buildings were threatened. Some caught fire, but the flames were quenched.

The loss on Hanson's place is about $40,000, including a car and a half of fruit. The Mountain View packing-house and the building of the Growers' Supply Company were badly damaged.

ADMIRAL MANNEY FUNERAL.

Procession of Marines Escorts Body to Burial Place—Daughters of Confederacy Honored.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 28.—Rear-Admiral H. N. Manney, U.S.N., retired, died here at his home Monday, and was buried here today. The funeral was under the auspices of the local post and the body was escorted by a detachment of the United States marine corps and a squadron of the First Cavalry from the Panama-California Exposition camp.

At the time of his death Rear-Admiral Manney was a member of the Board of Council of the city. His death was said to be the largest ever held in San Diego. It was attended by many army and navy men of high rank on the Pacific Coast.

Returning to their homes after the convention held in San Francisco, members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy today were guests of honor at the Panama-California Exposition, where Daughters of the Confederacy Day was celebrated. In the party were several national officers of the organization.

During the grounds over the Cabrillo, the visitors and a host of other members from various California cities were welcomed by President G. A. Davidson. The members of the order entertained the visitors at luncheon and later were tendered a reception in the California Building by San Diego society women. Among the prominent women in the party were Mrs. F. G. Bonfoner, the newly elected president-general; Mrs. Daisy McL. Stevenson, the retired president-general, and Mrs. Thomas G. Latham, recently made honorary president of the national organization.

BODY IS MIRED IN WATER HOLE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
GLENDALE, Oct. 28.—Mired in the bulrushes of a swimming hole in the Los Angeles River just east of Tropico is the body of an unidentified man which was seen shortly before dark tonight by a hobo.

The Glendale police, when notified by the breathless tramp, who had run all the way to the station, went to the place but were unable to recover the body tonight without special equipment, so Chief Herald ordered his men to wait until morning.

The body, from olfactory evidence, has been in the pool for some time. The police have no clew to the identity of the man and believe the body is that of a Japanese, many of whom work in the truck patches near by. The office records show no one to be missing who might have drowned in the pool.

PAGEANT OF PROGRESS AT POMONA'S BIRTHDAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
POMONA, Oct. 28.—Twelve thousand persons saw the parade of the Pageant of Progress this morning. The parade was between three and four miles long, and there were more than 200 public and private floats entered.

The civic features of the pageant were unusually attractive. From the Ontario-Upland float white homing pigeons were turned loose. They flew eastward toward home. Ontario entered a Chamber of Commerce float, in which the directors rode.

Claremont was represented by its fire department, an auto load of college faculty members, two autos filled with football boys, and an auto in which the City Council rode.

Chino entered an automobile train of eight trailers behind a big auto truck. Each trailer was laden with fruits or agricultural products of the Chino district. The American Beet Sugar Company was admirably represented in the Chino division.

The Pomona Chamber of Commerce had a float which represented the productivity of the valley. In the shell at the rear of the float sat Mrs. Howard C. Kegley, representing Pomona, the goddess of fruit. She was attended by the Misses Doris Barnes, Esther Estep and Helen Maddux. From the lap of the goddess hung a huge golden cornucopia pouring out assorted ripe fruits at the feet of the maids.

In the afternoon there was a programme of sports, including Smith motor wheel, motorcycle and automobile races. Ten members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club gave an exhibition of strength and prowess late in the afternoon. The evening was taken up with the parade of horribles, a series of fifteen floats gotten up by lodges, and other social organizations to burlesque local social and civic affairs. The celebration closed with a big street dance on a corn-mealed pavement at Second and Thomas streets.

Aside from the fact that a stumbling horse threw Miss Mayme Faris of Ontario to the pavement shortly after the parade and fractured her right ankle, no mishaps marred the day. The weather was ideal and the fortieth birthday anniversary of the city was celebrated in wondrous style.

The big white cotton-balled float of a retail store, representing three-weeks' work and picked by many as the best entry for the parade, caught fire from a cigarette in the hands of an employee less than an hour before the parade and was charred to a light brown finish. Men had stood guard over it all night in an alley behind the store to see that no harm came to it. The ruined float was in the parade nevertheless.

Los Angeles Harbor.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Oct. 28.—News of a disastrous fire at sea that came near destroying the steamer La Habra was brought today by members of the crew when the steamer arrived from Tocopilla, Chili, on her first visit at this port since the accident.

The La Habra was on her way from Balboa to London with a cargo of oil when the fire occured. Half way across the Atlantic a fuse in the engine room was blown out and the gasoline stores were ignited.

The fire spread over the ship rapidly and soon the whole crew was involved in what seemed a hopeless job fighting the flames. Six members, believing the steamer was doomed, disregarded teh orders of Capt. Peter Buggie and deserted in a lifeboat. They were never seen again and as the fire ocurred last February it is believed that they perished at sea.

The fire gained such headway that all the remaining lifeboats were burned and for forty-eight hours the remaining members of the crew fought the flames desperately before the fire was finally subdued. With the engines out of commission and the crew nearly exhausted the steamer drifted for days before being picked up by a passing freighter and towed to the Canary Islands.

Here repairs were completed and the steamer proceeded to London. Capt. Buggie was presented with a gold medal for his bravery by the King of Norway whose flag the La Habra flies. Before leaving England Capt. Buggie secured a prize even more valuable which he brought back to this Coast with him. It is his beautiful bride, whom he married last July at North Shields, Eng.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
MONROVIA, Oct. 28.—Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, famous pastor of Temple Auditorium, was the feature of this afternoon's programme in the last day's session of the Los Angeles Baptist Association, which closes its annual three-day session here today. Dr. Brougher, choosing a characteristic subject, spoke on "Going Some" to an audience that filled the Baptist Church. Before his address he delivered a short talk to the students of the High School, and was enthusiastically received. Tonight the Young People's Associations of the county meet for their annual convention. Their business session is expected to be the climax, in attendance and interest, of the meeting.

IMPERIAL BONDS SOLD.

EL CENTRO, Oct. 28.—Demonstrating the good credit of the two cities, $150,000 in bonds issued by El Centro and Imperial to build a joint outfall sewer were sold today at private sale to Torrance, Marshall Company of Los Angeles, the First National Bank here acting as agent.

They brought par, accrued interest and a premium of $250.

"NO MAN'S LAND" PAYS NO BILLS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
BLYTHE JUNCTION (Cal.) Oct. 28.—Who shall pay the bills in "No Man's Land?" This is the problem that Riverside and San Bernardino county officials are vainly trying to solve.

"No Man's Land" is an unsurveyed strip of desert territory adjacent to Blythe Junction along the boundary line of the two counties. The railroad map says it is in Riverside county, and the postal guide calls it San Bernardino county land, and in the absence of more accurate information the citizens of this place are deprived of their right to vote, establish schools or pay taxes.

The present dispute is over the payment of certain bills incurred recently when a Mexican settlement was placed under quarantine order for smallpox.

County Health Officer A. L. Brown of Riverside county ordered the quarantine, but when the bills were presented for caretaker, groceries and supplies, Riverside officials passed them over to San Bernardino on the grounds that the latter county had always collected the fines when Blythe Junction had been subject to one of its periodic raids for bootlegging and gambling.

San Bernardino says Riverside county officials ordered the quarantine, so let them pay the bills.

LEGS CUT OFF UNDER TRAIN.

BARSTOW, Oct. 28.—C. J. Coon, age 21, whose parents live at No. 1634 First Avenue West, Seattle, Wash., had both legs cut off by a Salt Lake special freight at Bryman station, eighteen miles east of Barstow, at noon today.

He was beating his way, and was put off at Bryman, and on attempting to board the train while in motion fell under the wheels, with the result he will be a cripple for life if he recovers.

He was brought back to Barstow on the Salt Lake passenger train and given emergency treatment by Dr. Mason, and then sent into San Bernardino to the County Hospital. He was accompanied by his partner, John Madden, who also lives in Seattle.

Ten carloads of silk went through on fast express time en route from Japan to New York. Evidently the ladies of New York are not affected by the European war.

GIVES HIMSELF UP.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
REDLANDS, Oct. 28.—Madelano Markes, a fugitive from justice for almost two years, could not escape the voice of conscience, though he kept on the move all that time, through Mexico, Baja California, and California. He was wanted here for attempting to kill Ysidro Diaz with a knife in June of 1914. He returned to Redlands today and gave himself up to Constable Joe Rivera, who held the warrant. Because Diaz got well and Markes has evidently suffered, Justice P. G. McIver fined him only $15 and gave him a suspended jail sentence of sixty days.

CAPITALIST DIES AT PASADENA.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO ST. LOUIS CLUBMAN.

Eats Lunch Monday at Overland and Sickness Comes Unexpectedly. Rare Plants and Blooms Exhibited at Pasadena Show—Lamanda Park People Have Narrow Escape.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
PASADENA, Oct. 28.—Frederick W. Paramore, retired capitalist and prominent clubman, died suddenly at his home, No. 344 Belfontaine street, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Paramore came to Pasadena four years ago from St. Louis, where he had been prominent in business and social circles. He was a member of the exclusive Overland Club and was there for lunch only last Monday, seemingly in the best of health, so that his death came unexpectedly to his family and friends.

Mr. Paramore was 59 years old and leaves a wife and daughter, Miss Helen Paramore. Funeral services will be held at the residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FINE FLOWER SHOW.

Magnificent chrysanthemums, dahlias, ferns, begonias and numerous other plants arranged around a central piece, a big moss-covered fountain and lily pond, are sharing honors as prize takers in the annual flower show, which opened here yesterday.

The show is being held under a mammoth tent on the grass-covered lawn in Central Park. Among some of the chrysanthemums are specimens of souvenir scalarandis that show more than 1000 blossoms each. The bushes measure eight feet across and are valued at $1000. They are exhibited by Mrs. H. C. French and Louis Fried.

Although the show opened in the morning, the crowd was late in arriving, but by 4 o'clock a large number of flower lovers were there. A band played all during the afternoon and evening.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Williams of Lamanda Park had a narrow escape from death, when late last night their automobile turned turtle on Colorado street at Michigan avenue. With them were Mrs. Leah Williams and Roy Williams, mother and brother of H. P. Williams. They occupied the back seat.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams were slightly injured and the others were scratched and badly shaken. None, however, is seriously injured.

PUTS A DAMPER ON HOBO PLANS.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SAYS MONEY IS NOT AVAILABLE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
RIVERSIDE, Oct. 28.—A ruling that is expected to put a damper on the plans being discussed by the authorities of the counties of Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange for protection against the annual influx of unemployed, has been filed with the Board of Supervisors by Dist.-Atty. Lyman Evans.

"There is no legal way for the county to expend any funds for such purpose," declares Mr. Evans. "No one can be lawfully arrested in the State unless he has committed a crime, and then only by the peace officers of the county in which the crime is committed. Many of this class eventually fall under our vagrancy or begging laws, but until they do, or commit some crime, no public funds can be expended in controlling them.

"Our greatest crimes are committed by persons who travel in Pullmans. If we could apply an X-ray to all who enter the State by train we would find the greatest criminals in the parlor cars."

CITY ELECTION.

With twenty-three candidates in the field for eleven city officers to be filed at the election to be held on November 16, the municipal campaign, from now on, promises to be one of the liveliest in years.

The last nominating petition was filed last night. Mayor Oscar Ford, who is a candiate for re-election, will be opposed by H. P. Zimmerman, Councilman, and by B. B. Bush.

The Clerk, Auditor and Treasurer are canddates for re-electon, the treasurer's place is sought by three candidates beside, the incumbent, one of them being a woman, while two are out for the office of Auditor.

Councilmen from the first, second and fifth wards are candidates for re-election and each is opposed by one candidate. The remaining candidates are for the Board of Education.

DEATH BY SUICIDE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
VENICE, Oct. 28.—A certificate of death by suicide was signed today by Coroner Hartwell in the case of Sakatoma Yakimo, a Japanese porter in the Gude shoe store, Los Angeles, whose body was found early this morning on a hog ranch near Playa del Rey. First theories as to Yakimo's death were that he had been murdered, inasmuch as he had been shot in the neck and over the heart, as well as in another place. Constable Barton went to the scene of the killing early this morning and placed under detention two Japanese he found there. Certain evidences pointed toward murder, one being that both punctures by bullets were liable to result in a fatality. Upon orders from Sheriff Cline this morning the two Japanese were released. Another peculiar fact is that no trace of blood was found where the man is supposed to have shot himself.

WHITTIER WANTS GAS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
WHITTIER, Oct. 28.—Whittier will have natural gas soon. Announcements made here today indicate that President Bain of the Southern Counties Gas Company will make good his prediction made months ago that Whittier would have natural gas within ten months from that date. With millions of feet of the best natural gas going to waste here for years Whittier citizens have asked why it should not be piped here for commercial use.

It is understood that the Southern Counties Gas Company has recently marketed a sufficient amount of its bonds to finance the pipe line from the Coyote Hills fields to this city and that pipe-laying will begin soon.

The recent bringing in by the Standard Oil Company of their now famous No. 17 in the Murphy Coyote lease with an initial production of 58,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily has stimulated the desire of Whittier and vicinity to have a supply piped here for use.

MORE WALNUT LARCENY.

A trio of Los Angeles fruit peddlers pleaded guilty before Justice A. B. Taylor to the theft of thirty pounds of walnuts from the grove of Mrs. H. W. R. Strong, just west of the city limits. While gathering some pomegranates that they had purchased their eyes fell on the tempting nuts. A group of neighbors discovered the theft and soon overtook the trio, found the nuts, and brought the culprits here. They gave their names as Vito San Pedro, Pete Zarilla and Mike Duffy.

FAVOR ELECTION OF ANGELENO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SAN DIEGO, Oct. 28.—Resolutions were prepared today which will be presented tomorrow to the San Diego County Federation of Women's Clubs, which is in session here, indorsing the candidacy of Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles for the office of president of the General Federation in 1916.

At the eighteenth annual convention today the following officers were elected by the county federation: President, Mrs. Frederick Van Buskirk; vice-president, Miss Helen Clark; recording secretary, Mrs. Richard Croakey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. L. Simpson; treasurer, Miss Pauline Battin; auditor, Mrs. Charles Darling.

In an address on social and industrial conditions Mrs. F. A. King denounced the condition of the San Diego County Detention Home as a disgrace to the county and urged that the clubwomen investigate the management. She also stated that it was deplorable that no effort is being made in San Diego to enforce the child labor laws.

Resolutions were prepared today in appreciation of the work of the woman's official board of the exposition and of the woman's auxiliary of the Seven Southern Counties Committee during the exposition year.

DEMANDS DAMAGES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 28.—Facing a charge of assault with intent to kill, which will be heard in the Justice Court here on November 2, Thomas Murphy of Ludlow is now called upon to prepare a defense for a $20,000 damage suit filed by "Mother" Preston, also of Ludlow, who declares that she was permanently injured as the outcome of an alleged attack made upon her by Murphy when trouble arose over claims to mining property near Ludlow.

TRUAX BOUND OVER.

CALEXICO, Oct. 28.—W. O. Truax, alleged head of the arson trust, was bound over to the Superior Court for trial today by Justice Hoffman. His bond was fixed at $5000, which had not been furnished tonight. Arthur Barnaman, brother-in-law of Charles Burright, corroborated the testimony of Burright relative to Truax's preparations for burning the Bassett residence here in December, 1913. The defense did not introduce any evidence.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Dividends--

Happy is the man who at the end of a few years finds he has a nice fat dividend on the moneys he had paid out for rent—A DEED to his home.

Stocks and investments may depreciate in times of stress but real estate in Los Angeles will always be a safe investment and net you bigger returns than a bundle of worthless paper rent receipts.

Every week we are selling cosy bungalow homes to men who cannot pay more than the average rent. In a few years they will own a DEED to their homes and be independent.

Where will you be? Will your family still be absolutely dependent on a salary that misfortune may cut off any month?

Start a REAL HOME today — the same rent money that you NOW give to the landlord will do it—investigate.

PEACE RUMORS START DECLINE.

THE WHOLE LIST IS PUT ON A LOWER BASIS.

From the Opening One Loss Followed Another, Feeble Rallies Being of no Avail Until Closing Hour When Some of More Prominent Issues Make Small Recoveries.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Foreign affairs asserted some of their former prominence today, the fall of the French Cabinet being attended by further vague peace rumors and consequent severe declines in many of the so-called war stocks. Refusal of the British government to extend the time for submitting proofs of American purchases of German goods offered another phase of the complicated conditions across the water.

There was a succession of "dips" or declines after their opening, each being succeeded by feeble rallies. The most effective selling movement was in the early afternoon, prices then being at their lowest. In the final hour, however, there came a broad and sweeping demand for various railroad shares and coppers which helped materially to lift specialties from their minimums.

Eries led the late rise, the common advancing almost 4 points to 43¾, its highest price of recent years, Canadian Pacific, leading and some minor issues, notably Kansas City Southern, rose 2 to over 3 points on buying of a confident character. Incidentally Anaconda Copper added to its previous high record, gaining 1½ to 79¾. The closing, while irregular, was extremely active with an undercurrent of strength. Total sales amounted to 1,290,000 shares.

Among the extreme losses of the day, which were appreciably shaded at the end, were Studebaker, 21½ to 1.58; Bethlehem Steel preferred, 12 to 1.68; Baldwin Locomotive, 8¾ to 1.23½; Maxwell common, 8 to 1.20 and the second preferred, 5 to 57; Willys Overland, 10 to 240; General Motors, 11 to 3.55, and United States Industrial Alcohol, 8 to 1.10. In addition Crucible Steel, Lackawanna Steel, American Locomotive, Continental Can and a few others of the same volatile group were lower by 3 to 5 points.

United States Steel furnished ammunition for the short interest during the greater part of the session, but was rushed forward in the usual fashion in the final dealings, making up most of its loss of 1¾. Optimistic statements concerning the steel industry were again forthcoming from high quarters. No sales of Bethlehem Steel common were reported until the end when the first quotation of 525 showed a decline of 34 points from the preceding day's close. From that figure the stock mounted steadily in leaps of 5 to 10 points, making up all its loss.

Foreign exchange was distinctly better, selling making up much of the early week's decline, with improvement in francs and lires.

Bonds were far less active than stocks, foreign offerings showing a smdked diminution. Total sales par value aggregated $4,890,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Oil Issues Active—Stronger Tone in Union and Associated—Ontman Mining Securities Upward.

A marked revival of interest in the oil list was evidenced at the meeting of the Stock Exchange yesterday. Union was a heavy trader at better prices, a total of 80 shares changing hands at 60.50. Associated was also active at 47.50 with frequent calls for Amalgamated and West Coast. Los Angeles Investment was very weak on a listless market and the stock sold off at 41¼.

Among the mining issues attention continued to be centered in Ivanhoe and Fessenden, both securities commanding slightly higher prices on a firmer market. Nine thousand shares of Big Jim sold for 39¾, a gain of almost a point over night. United Eastern reached new high levels when 200 shares brought 4.47½ a share. There was some irregular trading in the other offerings, Lucky Boy selling firm with Gold Range showing improvement at 12½. One thousand shares of Consolidated Mines were transferred at unchanged quotations and a like amount of California Hills brought 1¾. Tom Reed assumed an improved aspect when 200 shares changed ownership on an off board sale at 2.41½.

The Amalgamated Oil Company will pay a regular monthly dividend of $1 a share on November 24 to all stockholders of record five days previous to that date.

EUROPE BUYS WINTER WHEAT.

SHORT DEMAND GIVES MARKET A STRONG TONE.

Show an Early Decline, Prices Rebound and Close Nearly a Cent Higher—Corn and Oats are Affected by Good Weather and Quit Irregular.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Something of a revival of export in domestic winter wheat carried the wheat market upward today after an early decline. The close was firm, ⅝@¾ to ⅝@⅞ net higher, with December at 1.00¼@1⅛ off to ¼ up, oats unchanged to ¼ higher and provisions with gains ranging from 7½ to 65.

The spring of winter wheat today on export account had a decided bullish effect, as the European demand of late has been exclusively for the spring wheat and almost altogether confined to shipments from Canada.

Changes in the French cabinet were the chief cause of the early advance in wheat.

Cloudy weather gave an advantage to the bears in corn. Assertions, though, that a little export business was being transacted afterward to rally the market somewhat. Oats held within a narrow range. The effect of the easy tone in corn was offset by reports of a good demand for oats at the seaboard.

Buying ascribed mainly to packers brought about a sharp upturn in provisions. Some speculators invested on advices that European developments would favor a larger trade.

PORT NOTES.

On her first visit to this port since the terrific fire which nearly destroyed the vessel in the Atlantic several months ago, the oil steamer La Rabra arrived here today from Tocopilla. On her last voyage to London a fuse in the engine-room was blown out and ignited gasoline on board. The flames quickly spread and six of the crew deserted in a lifeboat and were never heard from again. After fighting for forty-eight hours the flames were finally conquered after all remaining life boats had been burned and the engines disabled. The steamer was picked up and towed to the Canary Islands, where repairs were made. Capt. Boggis was presented with a gold medal by the King of Norway for bravery displayed in the fight against the flames.

Lumber carriers arriving today were the Northland from Puget Sound, Temple E. Dorr from Gray's Harbor, National City from Newport Landing, Noyo from Mendocino and Raymond from Willapa. Departures in ballast were the Marshfield for Alison, National City for San Francisco. The Washington sailed for San Diego with balance of cargo.

The steamer President arrived from San Diego today and proceeded to San Francisco and Puget Sound, nine hours behind her schedule, on account of time lost on the last north-bound trip through engine trouble.

The steamer Yale sailed for San Francisco on her regular schedule today, repairs to her turbine having been made to enable her to take passengers.

RESERVE FUND IS TOO SMALL.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED BY CITY AUDITOR.

Request of Council Finance Committee for More Information Affecting Claims of Firemen for Opening More Houses, Brings New Financial Report.

City Auditor Myers put a quietus yesterday on the proposal to use the city reserve fund to pay the extra salaries incidental to opening six more fire houses. He filed with the Council a statement of the city's finances at the present time. The report, which was requested by the Council Finance Committee, deals especially with the reserve fund and its uses. Auditor Myers says:

I find that at the beginning of the present fiscal year there was a balance in this fund of $1,195,434.61, that during the period since July 1, 1915, there has been added amounts totaling $106,360, made up of items previously used but returned to the fund, which, added to the balance at the beginning of the year, would aggregate $1,301,794.61.

During that period, and up to the close of the books on this date, there has been transferred to the several appropriation funds from the reserve, $1,300,907.45, which leaves a balance in that fund, this date, of $887.16. The last transfer was made necessary in order that there shall be in each of the appropriation funds amounts sufficient to meet the demands accruing November 1, 1915, and immediately thereafter.

Without this reserve fund in an amount approximating $1,200,000 to start the fiscal year with, the ability of the city to meet the payment of all its demands in cash would have been doubtful. Any sum materially less than that would result in some of the claims against the city being held up for want of funds at this season of the year, or necessitate the City Treasurer to register the demands not paid for want of funds, thus rendering them subject to discount, as was the case prior to the time when the reserve fund had not been built up to an amount sufficient to carry the treasury through the lean period.

The policy of maintaining such a fund with an adequate balance has met with the approval of the numerous City Councils, Finance Committees and administrative officers of the city since its inception. It is in accordance with good business practices. Representatives of many other cities commend the plan and recognize in it the solution of a vexing problem, viz.: the ability of a municipality to operate on a cash basis the year around. In some States, cities have the power to negotiate loans for this purpose, but not so with Los Angeles, as our charter does not permit it.

Reviewing the revenue receipts applicable to use for administrative purposes, since the beginning of the fiscal year two (2) days short of four (4) months, there has been collected from all sources, $949,086.71. This added to the reserve aggregates $2,144,-521.32. The total appropriations for the year were $5,700,000. One twelfth (1-12th) expended each month is $475,000, that is required in cash monthly. Four (4) months have expired, which has called for four-twelfths (4-12ths) of the appropriations, or $1,900,000. This leaves $244,-521.32 to begin the month of November on, about one-half (½) of the amount that will be required for the full month.

Toward the close of November demands must be prepared for payment of principal and interest on the Normal site and Temple Block on December 1, 1915, amounting to $201,875. A period of more than four (4) months elapsed with the receipts running less than one-half (½) of the expenditures. However, about the middle of December tax receipts will build up the funds, but recourse to the use of the reserve must recur similarly annually.

ACTING ON SIDE.

WOULD BAR PATROLMEN.

Protests against allowing members of the police force to become movie actors while off duty were filed with the Council yesterday by J. J. Clayton of No. 202 West Avenue 52. Mr. Clayton says some of the policemen who are on night duty work all day at the movie studios and consequently they are unfit to render efficient service to the department. Incidentally, he says, there are many men who need the work at the studios more than the patrolmen need it.

Chief Snively said the members of the force will not be permitted to serve for the movies as a regular thing while they are in police service but there is no objection to their acting occasionally if they so desire.

Water for Vacant Lots.

Dr. A. D. Houghton, G. W. Foreman and Marco Hellman were appointed a committee yesterday to confer with the Public Service Board to arrange for a special water rate for cultivating vacant lots under the auspices of the Lot Beautiful Committee. A tentative agreement has been reached that the lot cultivators shall have the rate of 748 gallons for 2 cents, the same rate now given San Fernando ranchmen who have a supply available at all times. The committee will seek, however, to get the 1.2 cent rate which is made for ranchmen who irrigate only at stated intervals. The committee will also seek to arrange with the water department for connecting up the vacant lots with the mains, and ways and means for financing this work will be discussed.

Public Records Opened.

Mrs. E. M. Waddell, former secretary of the Humane Animal Commission, who was discharged last week after a hearing involving two of the inspectors, has as yet been unable to learn what testimony was presented against her, but it is understood that under protest, the Humane Animal Commission has agreed to permit the former secretary and Inspectors Wilson and Fowler to see the transcript of the evidence presented with the charges against Fowler, which resulted in the discharge of all three. The Civil Service Commission expected to set the dates for hearing their applications for reinstatement yesterday, but no meeting was held.

Many Factions Heard.

Seventeen factions, more or less, were represented yesterday when residents of the Rose Hill district appared before the Public Utilities Board for a hearing on the plans of the Council for the elimination of the dangerous grade crossing where the Pacific Electric crosses Mission boulevard. Several plans were discussed, including elevation and depression of the tracks and a change in the boulevard, running it around north of the tracks. The Utilities Board took the matter under advisement for two weeks and adjourned to held its next meeting this afternoon.

Spare the Trees.

The Board of Public Works adopted a rule yesterday requiring all utility companies to procure permits before trimming trees for the extension of wires in the recently annexed territory of the city. Conforming with instructions from the City Council, the City Engineer was ordered yesterday to change the street flushing schedule so that the two sides of a street shall be flushed on alternate nights. This rule is designed to do away with the danger to automobile traffic caused by wet pavements.

City Hall Bits.

Councilman Topham's comprehensive report on viaducts and subways, proposing elimination of grade crossings in the industrial district, the removal of the Southern Pacific tracks from Alameda street and a union station near the Plaza, was received by the Council yesterday and referred to the special viaducts committee of which Mr. Topham is chairman.

The Fire Commission will reopen the case of E. W. Welty for hearing today and testimony will be taken at Fire house No. 14, Thirty-fourth and Central, beginning at 10 a.m. Mr. Welty was discharged by Chief Eley several months ago for alleged insubordination when he refused to make certain statements before the Fire Commission until after he had consulted an attorney.

The appointment of Louis M. Cole as a member of the Civil Service Commission to succeed Blake B. Gregory, resigned, was approved by the Council yesterday.

Because of Steamer Trip to San Francisco, Judge Holds Nurse has Common-law Spouse—Soundly Scores Husband Who Seeks Annulment and Carries Historic Name.

Judge Jackson held yesterday that Ida Hale is the common law wife of Nathan Hale, because it was shown he took her to San Francisco on the steamship Queen, which, it was also shown, steamed beyond the three-mile limit. She was known on shipboard as his wife. This maritime feature did not at first develop when Judge Jackson started hearing the evidence in Mr. Hale's suit for annulment. The facts were that he had married Mrs. Hale in Reno, shortly after he had obtained an interlocutory decree from Marion R. Graves in Richmond, Cal. At that time, he said, his name was Nathan Hale Graves, but he lopped off "Graves" because he is a professional nurse and his patients objected to its significance.

He married Miss Marion R. Downs at Astoria, Or., in 1898. The interlocutory decree was granted in 1904. After marrying Ida Hale at Reno the couple returned to California, which made the union illegal, but they lived as man and wife, three children being born. When the domestic sea became troubled Mr. Hale filed suit for annulment, setting up his former marriage, which had not been dissolved at the time of his second marriage.

Mrs. Hale resisted the suit for the protection of her children. She testified that eight years after she wed Mr. Hale he began to treat her with cruelty and she believed he wanted a separation. But her children and their good name were dear to her. When she told of the trip on the Queen, Judge Jackson sent for a steamship expert, and his evidence in connection with that of Gen. F. C. Prescott and a newspaper reporter made it clear that the Queen's course to San Francisco was outside of the three-mile limit.

Judge Jackson sternly told Mr. Hale that he should change his name again, as the name he now bears was that of a good man and should not be disgraced.

"I have no regard for any man who says that a woman pursued him; I have no regard for him or his word. Mr. Hale was 31 and the woman he married was 21, and yet he says she seduced him."

The court made it plain to Mr. Hale that if he had not found a common law marriage existed, he would have handed him over to the Sheriff to answer a charge of bigamy.

"Remember these are your children, and the court has recognized this woman as your wife."

The decree of annulment was denied Mr. Hale and the wife was given the custody of the children. Mr. Hale was ordered to pay $50 a month for the support of the children.

BREAKS PROBATION.

STRANGE YOUTH IN AGAIN.

"When the devil was sick, the devil a monk would be;
When the devil was well, the devil a monk was he."

Charles Forbes aptly fits this old adage. When the Juvenile Court authorities finally laid him by the heels, he pleaded for another chance. A prominent prohibitionist pledged Judge Dehy he would make a man of Forbes. The court released the pleasant-faced, well-dressed youth, and after a week in a cafeteria, the prohibitionist took him to his home and believed he had interested him in the cause of the waterwagon.

But young Forbes felt the call of the road, and he responded. He was again laid by the heels, but this time his arrest was due to a more serious fact. Previously he helped himself to gasoline when his cut-down racer needed more fuel. Then he would step on the accelerator and he was off. His meteoric flights on the county highways played the deuce with the nerves of motorcycle officers.

Forbes's boast is that once he outran two motorcycle cops and even beat their telephone call sent to headquarters to head him off. He hit up a speed of seventy-five miles an hour from Venice to the city. His release to the prohibitionist cut off his racer, cigarettes, late hours and other forms of amusement. It was believed he had turned over a new leaf. But recently he and a companion were found in an auto carrying the wrong number. They were arrested, after a battle, by Policeman Hickok and Officer Powell of the Southern California Auto Club. In the melee Mr. Powell received a fracture of the leg. Charges of petty larceny, resisting an officer and driving a machine with the wrong license number were lodged against Forbes, and he is booked straight for Ione.

Judge Reeve will handle his case, and it is probable that Forbes will want to be a monk. But the call of the road is in his blood; he has been found wanting. Who is he? This the court has never ascertained. The youth won't tell. And he is such a pleasant-faced, soft-spoken person except when he is aroused, and then his eyes glint.

ALIMONY UNPAID.

DENTIST GOES TO JAIL.

Dr. Francis M. Parker, dentist, bowed his head to the ukase of the court yesterday and became the guest of the Sheriff at the County Jail. There was a little matter of unpaid alimony, and because he did not square the account Judge Monroe committed him until it is paid. This he set about trying to accomplish through friends on the outside.

The commitment is the climax of the divorce suit filed by Dr. Parker against Mrs. Willie O. Parker in Orange county in 1911. The case was transferred to this county and an interlocutory decree granted. November 25, 1912. The final decree was not signed until August 5 last. In response to a question from Judge Monroe, Dr. Parker said he had married again.

GETS DIVORCE.

BUT LOSES HIS PICTURE.

"You will have to leave this photograph here," said Judge Monroe to Mrs. Mabel C. Wentworth yesterday as Attorney Rosenkrans offered in her divorce suit a cabinet photograph of her husband. "If a woman's husband misconducts himself, I don't suppose she would care to keep his picture?"

"I am not crazy about it," replied Mrs. Wentworth.

The court took the photograph from the folder and handed the latter back to Mrs. Wentworth. The decree was granted.

The Bank and Commercial Credit

Credit is the privilege of receiving or using certain property, money or other medium of exchange. Thus the bank check is an instrument of credit, being evidence of the payee's right to receive the face value thereof from the bank.

There are many other instruments of credit, all of which are simply in one form or another promises to pay the amounts mentioned therein. Among these are bank notes, paper currency, individual notes, bonds, bank accounts and other evidences of indebtedness. All of these come into use as a result of exchange transactions in which credit has taken the place of cash.

Practically all commercial operations thus involve the use of credit in one form or another; and the institution of banking has been evolved to handle this great mass of credit continually being transferred from one ownership to another.

Thus banks hold a place second to none in the importance of their relation to all commercial activity. They are at the center of a vast, complex system which in providing adequate credit facilities, supply the very lifeblood of modern business.

extent of the Moslem world. It extends to the three continents of Europe, Asia and Africa. Eleven per cent. of Russia is Mohammedan. There are 18,000 to 30,000 Mohammedans in China.

WOMEN SUFFER MOST.

"The evils of the religion fall most heavily upon the women of this faith, of whom there are 100,000,000. The teachings concerning women in the Koran are unspeakable and unprintable in the English language. Much is said about women in a chapter entitled 'The Cow.'

"In the first place, Mohammedanism teaches polygamy, and that is a dark blot on all non-Christian religions. The Koran teaches that a man can have four wives and as many concubines as he can support. Mohammed himself had twelve wives. Polygamy makes home life desperate. You can imagine the condition of women and children under such a religion.

"The Koran teaches that there are three circumstances when it is permissible to lie, and one of them is when talking to a woman. The religion teaches that it is perfectly all right to lie to women at all times.

"You have no idea of the horrors of child marriage. In old Algiers I saw a child of 11 years married to a man of 60. Twenty-five per cent. of the women of India die annually from the evils of child marriages. In those lands women die of old age at 40.

"In Mohammedan countries divorce is easier than it is even in America. A Moslem may divorce his wife merely by saying, 'I divorce you.' When he speaks she must go and leave behind her children and her home life. Ninety-five per cent. of Mohammedan marriages end in divorce. I knew of a girl of 16 who had been married and divorced twenty times.

"Wife beating is the favorite pastime of Mohammedan men. The victims are not permitted to cry aloud, but must endure their suffering in silence. These are conditions that need our attention, and may God help us to help the women of Mohammedan lands."

SEEKS DIVORCE; ENTERS JAIL.

Young Woman Cashes Bogus Checks to Secure Money for Court Action—Finds It Easy.

Anna Ericson's desire to secure a divorce landed her in the City Jail last night. She declared the lawyer would not take her case unless she made a substantial cash deposit and she decided to get it by means of passing worthless checks. Before she was apprehended by private detectives she had "floated" a dozen of the fictitious pieces of paper and got all the money she needed.

The woman, who is young and attractive, came here recently from San Diego, where she says she was deserted by her husband. She says the latter is now in Mississippi and she is left on her own resources.

"There is a nice young man who wants to marry me," she said at the Central Police Station, "and I rather like him, but I know I can never be married until I am divorced. Someone told me it would be easy to get money by writing checks and showed me how to do it. I passed the first one last week and had no trouble. It was so easy I kept it up."

The checks were honored by several department stores. Mrs. Ericson was arrested near the home of her mother at Pasadena avenue and Avenue Twenty.

HEALTH RETURNING.

FOUR HIGHWAYMEN SPREAD TERROR.

ROB PEDESTRIANS IN WILSHIRE DISTRICT; CHIEF SENDS POLICE SQUAD.

Four masked highwaymen, each carrying a revolver, spread terror in the Wilshire residence district early last night. They held up and robbed two citizens and so frightened some other men and women that frantic appeals were telephoned to the police for aid. As a result Assistant Chief Home detailed a special squad of officers to patrol that section.

While H. M. Davis, a capitalist of Chicago, who is passing the winter here and living at No. 1342 Ingraham street, was on his way home shortly before 10 o'clock the bandits confronted him at Albany street. All covered him with their guns and one began to search his pockets. They took a gold watch, but before they found his purse, became frightened and fled.

Mr. Davis, who is 60 years old, told the police he did not realize what the men wanted for a moment and when they told him to make no outcry, he paid no attention to the order. He screamed at the top of his voice and kept hallooing for help even after they had struck him on the head with revolvers and knocked him into the gutter. He had a large sum of money in an inside pocket.

At about 9 o'clock men answering the same description as given by Mr. Davis held up William Stanton of No. 1220 South Bonnie Brae street. They attacked him at Tenth street and Burlington avenue, taking from him a watch and $2.

Assistant Chief Home believes the four bandits have organized to rob pedestrians in the fashionable districts and will keep a special squad of patrolmen working in those sections until the men are caught.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Oct. 28.—J. D. Williams, a second-hand dealer residing at No. 223 Sixteenth street, San Pedro, is in a critical condition at the San Pedro Hospital as the result of an attempt to commit suicide this afternoon. Williams had been drinking and had trouble with his wife, who runs a boarding-house. He went out into the yard and shot himself with a .22-caliber rifle. The bullet entered the skull near the base of the brain at the right side. An operation was performed, but the surgeons were unable to find the bullet.

crease national funds. The first of these would be the increase of the income tax. A similar increase in the war revenue tax is suggested. A third measure would be the restoration of the tariff on sugar until after the war and when conditions have become somewhat to normal.

"A fourth measure would be the issuance of the Panama Canal bonds. When work on the canal was started Congress issued an order for the $40,000,000 of bonds to pay for the expenses of building the canal. Very much of the needed cash was taken out of the current revenues of the nation, with the result that there are still $240,000,000 bonds which might be issued legitimately and fairly."

Details of any of these proposals Speaker Clark would not discuss. "I have said as much as can be put in print and more than I have offered to say for month on these issues. They will be taken up at the proper time and place for ultimate action."

The Congressman appeared in Santa Monica last night on a triple program. The only difference between the lyceum and the Chautauqua lies in the fact that the latter indicates summer lectures, and the former lectures at other seasons of the year.

"I've had enough engagements and when my contract ends next month I'm done with lecturing. Whenever I can I accept an invitation to speak but always do so, but a set and prescribed programme of talks is not in my line," said Speaker Clark, who will leave this morning for Visalia, then go to Iowa and will complete his tour in Florida.

STEALS SHEET MUSIC.

G. W. Stonehill, an electrician, lives at No. 845 South Maple avenue, was arrested early last night by the proprietor of a South Main-street music store, who told the police he caught the young man stealing sheet music. When officers arrested him they found a dozen pieces of the latest music in the prisoner's pocket. Stonehill told the police he plays a mandolin and stole the music because he did not have enough money to buy it. The proprietor of the store charges the young hill with stealing at least 100 pieces during the past few weeks.
